BURGLAR AND GIRL CHAT IN ROOM AN HOUR

Startled Intruder, Halted by Gay Greeting, Sits at Foot of Her Bed, Tells History and Stays for Long Visit

Baby Sleeps in Same Room; Miss of 16 Plays for Time; Robber Gets Bathrobe for Her; Shakes Hands, Leaves

"Good evening," was the cheery greeting of Miss Juliana Tarilton, plucky 16-year-old Oakland girl, as she saw a burglar enter her room last night when she was alone in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Denman, 1022 Sierra street, Berkeley.

"Good evening, miss," answered the startled intruder as he politely doffed his cap. And then he sat down and made himself at home. For almost an hour and a half the burglar and the girl conversed, the latter playing against time in the hope that members of the household would return and apprehend the intruder. In the same room slept a baby, the infant son of the Denmans, the only other person present at the strange conversation.

BURGLAR TAKES SEAT AT FOOT OF GIRL'S BED

From his perch at the foot of the girl's bed the burglar revealed his life history, telling of four years of unhappy married life and a subsequent divorce. Once the girl made a move as if to turn on the light and summon help.

"I only wanted to get my bathrobe and slippers," answered Miss Tarilton.

"Pardon me, allow me to help you," answered the man in a softer tone of voice. And obligingly he switched on the light. Just as obligingly he turned his back while his pretty hostess slipped into the desired garments.

MOTHER'S HEART WOULD BREAK, HE DECLARES

"If my mother knew of this and what I was doing it would break her heart," the burglar told the girl as they resumed their chat in the semi-darkness.

"Why, then, are you doing it?" queried Miss Tarilton.

"It's a woman who caused it all," vehemently answered the man. "For four years of married life I went through hell. Then I was divorced. Can you wonder I have turned burglar?"

SHAKES HANDS WHEN HE LEAVES THE HOUSE

"It's time I was on my way, anyhow," said the man. "Good-bye, miss. It's been a very pleasant evening." He held out his hand in farewell. The girl took it. Then he was gone, making his exit in the same manner in which he came, through the window of Miss Tarilton's bedroom.

Miss Tarilton hastened at once to a telephone to call the police, but when officers arrived on the scene no trace could be found of the strange visitor. Search of the Denman home revealed that the man had taken a gold watch belonging to Denman and a little more than five dollars in money. He molested nothing in Miss Tarilton's room. The back door key to the Denman home was also missing.

ONLY THOUGHT WAS FOR BABY, SAYS GIRL

"My only thought was for the baby for whom I was caring while his parents were away," said Miss Tarilton this morning, in telling of her unique experience. "The man must have been in the house a half hour or so before I saw him, which was shortly before 8 o'clock. At first I was so startled that I could hardly move. Then I was determined to prevent him from doing as much harm as I could.

"So I called to him. He jumped in surprise. He then sat down at the head of my bed. It was then I attempted to switch on the light and he said he would 'plug' me. After I had had a good glimpse at him I realized he was a dope fiend and I thought it was best to humor him along, thinking that surely the folks would return home soon or that he would hasten his departure.

HOLDS HAND ON HIS HIP POCKET IN HOUSE

"I had no opportunity to summon help. He must have read my thoughts, for he held his hand on his hip pocket as if fingering a revolver. A large part of his conversation was unintelligible to me. He almost wept when he spoke of his mother, and he grew vehement when he mentioned his wife's name.

"Finally at about half past nine, after almost an hour and a half in the house, he rose to go; then I warned him he would waken the baby. He held out his hand to me as he said good-bye and I took it. As fast as I could get to the telephone I summoned the police. But he had vanished."

Miss Tarilton declares that she was not in the least frightened at any time during the strange visit.

"He seemed perfectly harmless and

Red Cross Issues New Appeal For Volunteer Nurses

Victims of Influenza Are in Need of Immediate Help

Bureau Able to Answer But Third of Calls For Aid

Whole Families Are Ill; Proper Care Impossible

The Red Cross nursing bureau of Oakland Chapter is sending out today an appeal to the women of Oakland to step once again into the front line trenches and help stem the tide of the influenza onslaught upon helpless families.

Dr. Margaret Wythe, who is making assignments, is being assisted in the office by volunteers—six or eight women, most of them school teachers. These women receive the calls for nurses and send out just as many as they can obtain. Not five minutes passes without a call. Someone in a family, frantic with fear, calling for someone to help take care of the sick or to help keep the house in a decent condition.

The business in the office is growing daily—not because the influenza situation is increasing approximately, but because since Thursday, when the Red Cross nursing bureau began its thorough investigations, many cases have been brought to light that ought to have had help days ago. If help had been given then, these cases would not be so serious now. The more quickly help arrives, the more quickly the patient recovers, and the Red Cross, realizing this, is sending out today a special appeal to the women, pleading with them to hear the cry of the stricken ones.

RED CROSS TO PAY NURSES

There is a scarcity of graduate nurses; any who are ready for duty are urged to report at once. Practical nurses, or women willing to take care of the house, are urged to offer their service. These services will be paid for by the Red Cross whenever the family is not able to do so. Dr. Wythe states that more calls come from families willing and able to pay than from the very poor.

Merritt Hospital has supplied six nurses—undergraduates, who are well qualified to take care of the cases and to teach others what to do. These young women work eight hours every day, but they can give but a short time to each family, as they are used by the bureau as visiting nurses.

Miss Bertha Wright of the Baby Hospital is today districting the city, and one visiting nurse will be assigned to each district. This will give the volunteers the benefit of supervision, the visiting nurse calling each day to give help and encouragement to the nurse on the case.

This plan it is hoped will relieve the situation, for many women, loathe to depend entirely upon their own judgment, will be glad to go when they know that they can have the assistance of a trained nurse every day.

LESS THAN THIRD OF CALLS ANSWERED

Since last Thursday 262 calls for help have been received. Less than one-third of these calls could be answered because volunteers are not coming forward, "not even fairly well," said Dr. Wythe.

This morning a call came from a family in which the mother and five children were sick—the visiting nurse was sent out for two hours; she found the family not dangerously ill, but too ill for anyone to be out of bed; the house was unkempt and the family absolutely without food. Food was sent out as soon as the nurse could make her report, but a trained nurse has not time to clean a house—her time is too valuable. Untrained women can render good service by volunteering for just such work.

Another family this morning was reported ill—a father and three children—no one to look after them except a small boy.

Five helpers were sent out this morning before 10 o'clock — but twenty calls came in. Physicians who can give any of their time are asked to report to the office.

Graduate nurses already on cases need some one to relieve them for a few hours occasionally. Today a call came in from a nurse who had been with a family several persons to be taken care of—for two days and two nights without a moment for a breath of fresh air. Even the strongest of these young women need assistance.

Five men are out nursing for the Red Cross. One is taking care of a family where five children are ill. He offered his services to the bureau and refused to take pay.

The Red Cross food bureau is supplying food for all families who need it from any reason whatsoever, whether their need comes from poverty or from the inability of the family to prepare it on account of sickness. A kitchen was established this morning at the First Congregational Church — where school teacher volunteers are going to prepare cooked food. As soon as the district nurse reports a needy case, the food is immediately sent out. In this work the Red Cross Motor Corps is assisting.

DRIVERS NEEDED TO DELIVER FOOD

Captain Catherine White of the Red Cross motor service, called her drivers together today to reorganize them. She is calling for extra drivers who will give a few hours a day to carrying the food to families. The cars are needed between 10 and 12 and between 2 and 4 o'clock each day. All the drivers are asked to do is to deliver the eggnog, the custard, the soup or the rice to certain addresses. Motor drivers willing to assist should report to Mrs. William Thornton White, or to Miss L. Houghton, head of the food bureau, 605 City Hall. Even the Red Cross Shop truck is being utilized.

The teachers who are doing the cooking at the Red Cross kitchen are the teachers who are not strong enough to go out nursing.

There is one Oakland woman, who with a friend is cooking the food to keep six families from starvation.

The Red Cross does not ask for donations of cooked food. It finds from experience that it is better to have it cooked in one kitchen.

The work of the city health department dovetails with that of the Red Cross. Each is cooperating with the other so well and so harmoniously that if volunteers come forward, as they are expected to do, after they understand the situation, Oakland will be able to clear up the influenza situation with despatch.

Dying Families in Need of Help; Red Cross Task Huge

Making a plea to aid the Red Cross in the present epidemic, Rev. F. J. Van Horn, said, at the First Congregational Church yesterday morning:

"You do not have to go to Armenia or France to do Red Cross work. There is a great Red Cross work going on right here in Oakland that needs the support of every man, woman and child in this city. You can all help, and if you want to know how, go to the headquarters at the Oakland city hall and you will be given something to do for the cause of humanity right in your own city.

One family was found by the Oakland Red Cross, the mother dead, the father in bed with a high fever and a girl of eight with a fever, trying to minister to the living. There was another family of six, every one with a high fever, some of them almost dead. Neither case had either doctor or nurse.

The Oakland Red Cross is doing a great work right at our own doors and needs your help. Even if you can only give a couple of hours a day it will help."

MILLIONAIRE'S WIFE FIRED TO SAVE GIRL

For Two Months Two Women Barricaded House Against Lebaudy, Who, Wife Says, Must Have Been Insane

By WILLIAM BASKERVILLE,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

WESTBURY, L. I., Jan. 13.—Mrs. Marie Augustine Lebaudy today, through her attorney, Harry W. Moore, told her own story of the shooting of her husband, Jacques Lebaudy, eccentric millionaire, to save her 15-year-old daughter from a fate worse than death and of the series of incidents which led her to act.

She revealed that Lebaudy, widely known as "Emperor of the Sahara," had threatened several times to kill her and charged that he twice attempted to stab her with a hunting knife before the tragedy last Saturday afternoon.

"I heard a noise downstairs, a fearful noise," sobbed Mrs. Lebaudy, according to her counsel. "I knew he had come after those terrible threats—oh, it is horrible, horrible. I threw on a dressing gown and hurried downstairs. In the pocket of my dressing gown there was a revolver, given to me by a friend who feared for my life, and when I had almost reached the first landing I saw him coming up the stairs. He was using terrible language and his eyes blazed and he dashed toward me and seized me by the arm. At the same time he drew the weapon from his own pocket. Fearing for Jacqueline and my own life, I fired. He fell downstairs. Oh, my God, I don't know what happened after that.

HAVE LIVED IN BARRICADED HOME.

"Three months ago," she explained, "Frances, the cook, overheard him say, 'I am the sultan and this is my harem.' Just after that he threatened our little daughter, his own child. For the past two weeks his actions have been menacing, and we have been living practically barricaded.

"He was insane—he must have been.

"There was never any civil or church ceremony between us, but I am his common law wife and have been introduced as his wife in Europe and America. He was the most generous man in the world at times and then suddenly, without provocation, he would become very stingy and deny us the necessities of life. I endured him for the sake of our daughter. I confided my terror to a woman friend, who gave me a pistol to protect myself with. I am justified in what I have done because I did it to save my baby girl from worse than death and to save my own life. If he had killed me I shudder to think what might have happened."

PEACE TABLE SEEKS PLANS TO END WARS

Basic Idea Is Now Agreed on and Problem Is to Choose Machinery by Which Power of League Can Be Effected

First Actual Session Is Being Held Today; Question of Secret or Open Meetings to Be Decided Among First

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

LONDON, Jan. 13.—At today's session of the allied military advisers in Paris, presided over by Marshal Foch, the suggestion was made that the allies occupy some of the German ports, according to an Exchange Telegraph despatch from Paris.

The occupation would be undertaken as a guarantee for the carrying out by Germany of the armistice conditions and as punishment for Germany's dilatory methods in complying with some of the armistice terms.

PARIS, Jan. 13.—The first actual session of the Peace Congress is being held today, although it is officially designated as one of the series of conversations for laying the groundwork for the structure which will later be presented to the formal assembly.

It is also expected to make a start toward a decision on the question whether the sessions will be open or secret.

Nothing has developed to alter the statement that the American delegates are primarily concerned with the creation of a league of nations and the making of a just peace. Territorial ambitions, local quarrels and rivalry for economic advantages among the European delegates are secondary in the minds of the Americans.

PREVENTION OF WAR PRIMARY OBJECT

President Wilson and his advisers are working on the theory that Great Britain, France, Italy and the rest of the world want some new machinery which will prevent war. Upon such determination they are fundamentally agreed. The business of conversations which begin today is to find a common ground upon which all can unite for such a purpose.

Premier Clemenceau, Premier Lloyd George and Premier Orlando are pledged to support President Wilson's basic ideas in this regard. Public opinion in France, Great Britain and Italy is solidly behind the scheme.

Peace delegates are agreed that the league is an absolute necessity, if future wars are to be prevented, and that it must be given preference over all other business at the peace conferences. There is still some disagreement regarding details, but these were expected to be smoothed out quickly in the conferences of the associated powers which were resumed today.

FRENCH WOULD EXACT MORE FROM GERMANS

Wilson's plan as a whole is unsatisfactory to the French because they believe it does not provide sufficient economic penalties for Germany. They say his proposed probationary inclusion of Germany would permit that country to start up its undamaged industries in competition with the French and Belgians, whose industrial plants were wrecked by the Germans themselves.

Senator Bourgeois, who will head the French section of the inter-allied commission to draw up plans for the league—if the conference appoints such a body—made plain in a recent interview that he agrees with Clemenceau on this point. He favors excluding the Central Powers until they fulfill the provisions they must sign at the peace conference.

Clemenceau is understood to favor a league composed of the victorious nations. Opposition to this plan centers on the belief that such a league would force an alliance of the vanquished powers and that it would result in another war.

Delegates to the first session of the supreme inter-allied council at the foreign office of Sunday afternoon failed to reach any agreement on the procedure of the peace conference, it was learned today from an authoritative source.

The initial session was understood to be unsatisfactory from an American point of view. The spectre of "secret diplomacy" has already been dragged forth by the comment upon the first session.

FRENCH PROGRAM ON DELEGATES NOT FAVORED

PARIS, Jan. 13 (By the Associated Press).—The supreme council of the Peace Congress at yesterday's session took up the question of the procedure for the coming congress sessions. The discussion dwelt largely upon the number of delegates to represent each power. The proposal in the French program, fixing the number virtually at five, three, two and one representatives according to the part played by the nation in the war, brought forth certain objections, and the council adjourned without ratifying it.

It is hoped that the council today will be able to finish the discussion of the questions regarding the extension of the armistice, begun yesterday, and that it perhaps also will reach an agreement on the peace conference program. If so, it is probable that the first preparatory meeting will be held by the plenipotentiaries of the five great powers—the United States, France, Great Britain, Italy and Japan.

The proceedings yesterday were for the most part in English, which is spoken by Premier Clemenceau of France, Premier Orlando of Italy and Stephen Pichon, the French foreign minister. Arthur Hugh Frazier, secretary of the American embassy, is acting as interpreter for President Wilson, translating the speeches that are made in French.

German Spartacans, Directed by Moscow Bolshevik Rulers, Are Ready to Call Off Revolution

Cabinet in Hungary Quits; Disorder Feared

LONDON, Jan. 13.—The Hungarian cabinet has resigned, according to despatches received from Budapest today.

The new cabinet, which has not yet been formed, probably will be socialistic, it was reported.

The Bolsheviki have planned a big mass meeting. No disorder has occurred, but government troops are ready for any contingency.

FIGHTING IN STREETS IS RESUMED

Armistice Between Contending Factions Is Broken and Battle Is Again on for Possession of Tageblatt Office

Confirmation of Killing of Liebknecht Lacking and He May Be Hiding; Spartacan Casualties Now Total 2100

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Leaders of the Spartacans in Berlin have sent a telegram to Moscow saying "that fighting must be stopped as soon as possible, because the Berlin working classes are not yet ripe for the dictatorship of the proletariat," according to German press reports reaching the State Department this afternoon.

Although the advices do not say to whom the Spartacans' telegram was addressed, this information is considered as virtual proof that the Berlin Reds are being directed in the counter-revolution by the Bolshevik rulers at Moscow.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

LONDON, Jan. 13.—The armistice between the contending factions at Berlin has been broken and fighting has been resumed, say Copenhagen reports. The Spartacans are still in possession of part of the Tageblatt building, it is said.

Reports indicate that the Spartacan forces have lost 1300 killed since the outbreak of the revolution.

Government troops numbering 13,000 arrived in Berlin Saturday, but with the strengthening of its military forces the cabinet is reported to be losing its influence among the masses. Twenty-eight mass meetings were planned for today at Berlin for the purpose of offsetting this trend.

It is reported that several banks and shops were plundered by mobs on Saturday, and that great armed crowds are continually parading the streets. The capture of the Vorwaerts building is considered rather important, strategically. The plant lies deeper in Spartacan territory between the principal newspaper quarter and the Spartacan headquarters at the Central police station. Its capture therefore interferes with the Spartacan communications with outlying detachments.

The Vorwaerts building was badly damaged by artillery fire and was coming down over the heads of the defenders before they surrendered.

LEDEBOUR'S ARREST BREAKS NEGOTIATIONS

The arrest of George Ledebour, leader of the Independent Socialists, is looked upon as significant of a complete break in his relations with the cabinet and presumably the end of the clandestine negotiations looking to a compromise by arrangement for the disappearance of particularly objectionable persons on both sides of the postponement of the elections for the national assembly.

There is no confirmation of the report that Dr. Liebknecht has been killed. He has, however, faded from sight with Chief of Police Eichhorn. His disappearance may have given rise to reports of his death or arrest.

Spartacan forces outside of Berlin have been able to a certain extent to interfere with the arrival of government reinforcements. At Lautch, near Leipsic, they are reported to have disarmed three trainloads of troops on their way to Berlin.

BERLIN, Jan. 13.—Rosa Luxemburg, connected with Dr. Karl Liebknecht in the leadership of the rebellious Spartacan forces in Berlin, has been arrested by government soldiers, according to a report in the Taegliche Rundschau. The arrest is said to have been made when the troops were cleaning out the central office of the Spartacans last night, when Dr. Liebknecht's son also is reported to have been taken.

BERLIN, Jan. 12, 8 p. m., via Copenhagen, Jan. 13.—The Spartacans were completely defeated today in a battle which raged since midnight. Loyal troops recaptured the Tageblatt and Wolff Bureau offices as well as the Ullstein building.

Thirteen thousand first-line troops from the front have arrived in the city to reinforce the loyal soldiers.

REPORT OF LIEBKNECHT'S DEATH DECLARED UNTRUE.

At Essen the workmen's and soldiers' council is taking over the offices of powerful industrial enterprises. The report of Karl Liebknecht's death in the street fighting Thursday is now said to be untrue. His whereabouts, however, are a mystery.

It was subsequently reported that Liebknecht had been found and arrested.

The Spartacus cause is now regarded as practically lost. The severity of the fighting around the Vorwaerts building is shown by the fact that loyal soldiers found 400 dead Spartacides in the structure and many wounded in the cellar.

A state of siege has been proclaimed at Ratisbon, in Bavaria, as a result of an outbreak of disorder there.

LONDON, Jan. 13.—Dusseldorf, which was reported on Saturday to be in the hands of German reds, has been occupied by troops from the British army of occupation in Germany, said an Exchange Telegraph despatch from Copenhagen.

BOLSHEVIKI IN ARGENTINA ARE JAILED IN STRIKE

By JAMES I. MILLER,
United Press Staff Correspondent.

BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 13.—Police declared today they had discovered a Soviet organization in Buenos Aires and arrested its president, its minister of war and minister of police for this city and two other officials, all of whom are Russians. The names of these men, as well as those on a list of 140 the police say they have, are being withheld.

Bicyclists, the police asserted, had been arrested as bomb plotters. These men, it was asserted, carried hand-pumps filled with dynamite. Members of the Soviet, it was said, came to South America from Russia in October and November. They were plentifully supplied with funds and obtained considerable munitions. They were sent, it was declared, by Bolsheviki in Russia to foment Bolshevik uprisings in the important South American capitals.

MYSTERY LIES IN SUPPLY SOURCE

Police were unable to explain where the munitions came from, but other arrests are expected in the round-up.

Tramway service here came to a halt yesterday evening, when a group of suspected anarchists stopped a guarded car, kidnaping the motorman and conductor. Reports have been received that workers in central Argentina and a portion of Buenos Aires tramway workers voted to strike. Their demands have not been announced.

The port strikers have demanded a 20 per cent increase in pay. Lightermen wanted any overtime considered a full day's work. Other union workers, it was said, had been asked to join in a resumption of the strike. Police and strikers clashed yesterday on docks in the southern section. Several casualties were reported.

CITY IN NERVOUS CONDTION

Buenos Aires was still in a highly nervous condition. Every police station was closely guarded. Pedestrians were forced to detour several blocks to avoid passing these buildings. Bolshevist adherents several times attacked the stations, but were driven off by machine gun fire. Nervous police turned their guns on shadows in some instances. They feared even unarmed pedestrians in daylight, refusing the approach them without leveling their rifles and ordering them to stand off. Several trams were running with armed soldiers and sailors on the platforms.

Official automobiles rushed through the streets, with engines roaring with unmuffled exhausts. Each carried three to five armed guards. The police motored back and forth along the Avenida De Mayo, arresting persons suspected of agitation.

BONE DRY LAW IS UPHELD BY SUPREME COURT

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—The Supreme Court held today that the Reed bone dry prohibition amendment prohibits interstate transportation into dry states of intoxicating liquor for beverage purposes even when intended for personal use.

Justice McReynolds, in a dissenting opinion, concurred in by Justice Clarke, declared the Reed amendment was not an interstate commerce regulatory measure, but a direct intermeddling with a state's affairs and beyond federal power.

Crew Rescued From Castalia

HALIFAX, N. S., Jan. 13.—Wireless despatches from vessels standing by the United States Shipping Board steamship Castalia, which has been in distress off the coast of Nova Scotia since early Saturday morning, brought news that the rescue of forty-four of the crew had begun shortly after 9 a. m. today and that one of her lifeboats containing seventeen men had capsized and two were drowned.

The rescuing ships are the Bergensfjord and the Warfijian. A wireless from the Warfijian read: "We have now picked up most of the crew. Two drowned."

Military Court Is Composed of Colonels

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 13. — The highest ranking court-martial ever convened in Southern California met at Fort MacArthur today to try Colonel Harry W. Newton on charges in connection with the expenditure of $500,000 at Fort MacArthur, where he was acting construction quartermaster. The court is composed entirely of colonels.

House Passes Big Rivers and Harbors Bill

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—The House today passed the rivers and harbors bill, carrying appropriations of approximately $27,000,000.

Final vote on the bill's passage was 228 to 91. The bill now goes to the Senate in practically the same shape as when reported to the House, efforts by Republicans to amend and eliminate certain features having, in the main, failed. Of the total $2,943,000 is for maintenance, $15,077,500 for improvements and $8,768,844 for new projects.

IDENTIFY EIGHT OF 21 VICTIMS OF TRAIN WRECK

BY UNITED PRESS.
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Jan. 13.—Authorities today made new efforts to identify bodies of the New York Central wreck which took place yesterday morning at 4 o'clock near Byron, twenty-five miles west of this city. Twenty-one are dead.

The Southwestern Limited, one of the fastest night trains on the New York Central, speeding westward at a rate estimated at between fifty and sixty miles an hour, crashed into the rear of the Wolverine, another famous New York-Chicago flyer, while the latter stood motionless in the dark at a point only a few hundred feet east of the South Byron station.

The identified dead are:

Thomas B. Cummings, New York City.

George Bigby, New York City.

Patrick Dougherty, New York City.

Mrs. Jennie Levene, New York City.

Frank E. Leonard Jr., Grand Rapids, Mich.

Ballard Jones, negro porter, New York City.

F. D. Harvey, sergeant, Thirty-second Michigan Infantry.

Col. House Under Care of Doctors

PARIS, Jan. 13.—Colonel House was under physicians' care today. He was attended by two doctors and two nurses yesterday.

WILSON CABLES FOOD ONLY CAN STOP BOLSHEVIKI

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—"Bolshevism in Europe is steadily advancing and can only be checked by food," President Wilson declared in a cablegram to Chairman Sherley of the House appropriations committee and read in the House this afternoon, in support of the measure providing $100,000,000 to feed Europe.

"I cannot too earnestly or solemnly urge on Congress the appropriation for which Mr. Hoover has asked for the administration of food relief," the cable message stated.

"Food relief is now the key to the whole European situation and the solution of peace. Bolshevism is steadily advancing westward. It is poisoning Germany. It cannot be stopped by force, but it can be stopped by food, and all the leaders with whom I am in conference agree that concerted action in this matter is of immediate and vital importance.

"The money will not be spent for food for Germany itself, because Germany can buy its food; but it will be spent for financing the movement of food to our real friends in Poland and to the people of the liberated units of the Austro-Hungarian empire and to our associates in the Balkans. I beg you will present this matter with all possible urgency and force to the Congress. I don't see how we can find definite powers with whom to conclude peace unless this means of stemming the tides of anarchism be employed.

"WOODROW WILSON."

Christian Church Destroyed by Fire

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 13.—Fire early today destroyed the East Los Angeles Christian church and four cottages adjoining, at a loss of $25,000. The fire's origin is unknown.

Germans Pay High Tribute to U. S. Army

LONDON, Jan. 13.—A German newspaper, paying tribute to the American army of occupation, said: "The generosity of the Americans is spoiling our children."

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Major-General Carleton was today transferred from Camp Wadsworth to command the Sixteenth division, Camp Kearny.

Kelly at Capital on Political Mission

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE.
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 13.—Governor William D. Stephens has yet to be visited by M. J. Kelly, Alameda county "political boss," with respect to the appointment of a successor to Supervisor Fred Foss of Berkeley. Kelly was about the corridors of the Capitol this morning and engaged Martin Madsen, secretary to the governor, in a discussion of the supervisorial situation. He did not, however, make request for an audience with the executive.

Kelly is urging the appointment of R. C. Staats. Other candidates are Nat Friend and Charles D. Haywood. Madsen said Governor Stephens has not as yet intimated when he will choose Foss' successor. There is another Oakland man seeking the place, whose name has thus far failed of general mention.

It has been generally understood locally that Kelly has been urging the appointment of Ed Planer, his former chief deputy, to the place left vacant by the resignation of Foss.

Extra Session of Congress in Doubt

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Whether there is to be a special session of Congress soon after March 4 will, in all probability, depend on the character of word from "back home."

This was the decision of congressional leaders, both Democrats and Republicans, today.

An extra session can be forced by causing the failure of some main appropriation bills. The military bill appears the most likely candidate for this. It has not even been started by the House military committee, which is still waiting war department recommendations. It must be passed some time before July to allow the military establishment and demobilization here and abroad to run without a hitch.

When the House session began this week it was the intention of leaders to continue night sessions and 11 o'clock meetings.

Plan to Take Over Hun Passenger Ships

PARIS, Jan. 13.—American and British representatives will hold a conference with German admiralty authorities on Wednesday for the purpose of acquiring possession of German and Austrian passenger ships for the transportation of troops. The United States will be represented by E. N. Hurley, chairman of the Shipping Board, and Admiral W. S. Benson.

WAR TRADE FUND OF PRESIDENT IS UNDER ATTACK

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13. — The charge that $5,000,000 was given "without authority of Congress" by President Wilson, out of his emergency fund, to assist in the financing of a private corporation know as the war trade of the United States Russian Bureau, Incorporated, in which Vance C. McCormick, chairman of the war trade board, who is now with the President in Paris, holds 49,990 shares of stock, was made in the House this afternoon by Representative James K. Good, Republican, of Iowa, in opposing the President's proposal of $100,000,000 to help feed Europe.

Good declared that he was producing the documentary evidence he claimed to have secured regarding the alleged corporation "for the first time," and that "no publicity had ever been given to the President's action, the President having purposely withheld information about the corporation from the people."

Good's charge came in the midst of an acrimonious debate on the President's $100,000,000 proposal, which Good and other Republicans used as a vehicle for bitter attacks on the President and what they termed "Democratic waste and extravagance."

VORWAERTS IS BATTLEFIELD; END FOR REDS

BERLIN, Saturday, Jan. 11 (By the Associated Press). — Loyal troops have carried by storm the Buexenstein printing plant, where the Kreuse Zeitung is printed. This building is near the one occupied by the Vorwaerts, which was also taken, and occupation of it by the Bolshevists had rendered the whole quarter unsafe. Many citizens were killed and wounded recently by shots fired from the windows of this building.

The capture of the Vorwaerts building was carried out by approximately 500 loyal troops. They first destroyed an entrenchment in front of the building, consisting of rolls of printing paper, behind which two machine guns had been installed. Two shots from a mine thrower swept away the whole fortification with the gun crew.

NO TRUCE ALLOWED.

The Spartacans sent a white flag party forward, but were told that nothing but unconditional surrender would be considered. Two mine throwers and two field guns then began a systematic bombardment, and soldiers worked their way forward with machine guns and finally stormed the building. They met with little resistance inside, the defenders being mostly civilians, including some Russians.

The courtyard was filled with dead and wounded, and 311 prisoners, in- a number of Russians, were taken. Among the prisoners was a man understood to be the Bolshevist agent Chevinue. The attackers lost three killed and several wounded.

TROOPS FROM OUTSIDE.

Three thousand loyal troops marched in today from Lichterfelde, a suburb south of the city. They were received by the citizens with rejoicing, and even tears. It was precisely such a reception as would be given soldiers arriving to relieve a city occupied by an enemy.

They were mainly younger troops from the front, wearing iron crosses and medals. They maintained their old discipline and sang as they marched.

ALL ANTI-REDS.

A large number of officers, wearing shoulder straps, marched in the ranks as privates and carried rifles. The troops brought field guns and scores of machine guns.

To the Associated Press the soldiers expressed their indignation against the Spartacans. All of them appeared to be thirstine for a fight, having volunteered for duty in the city. Today's arrivals were only the vanguard of others encamped around Berlin. It is learned that the troops excited as a condition that they would not be interfered with by the government and would be allowed to wipe out the followers of Dr. Karl Liebknecht in their own way.

MISS JULIANA TARILTON

LETTERS FEATURE HEART BALM SUIT

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 13.—Just a year ago Harvey A. Berkuist, manager of a San Jose department store, was to have gone East to New York to marry Miss Helen Mary Rosenfeld. This week, instead, they will meet in the United States District Court here, where Miss Rosenfeld's breach of promise suit for $100,000 damages will come to trial.

Two letters will be features of Miss Rosenfeld's attack. One dated January 2, 1918, reads:

"My Sweetheart Cherry Dear: Received your wire early yesterday morning, the first greeting of the year, and I am glad it was from you, dear. And then this morning—oh, there were four letters from you to begin the new year right for me... I love you, Cherry dear. Always your Harvey."

Two days later came this:

"Helen: It would be a deep violation of a moral duty if I did not tell you the state of my feelings. Excuses or explanations do not help any, but I want you to know there cannot in any way be anything between us. No matter how you feel at this time, I know it is for the best."

Services Held for Mrs. M. S. Wall

Mrs. Myrtle Jones Wall, wife of Myron S. Wall, assistant advertising manager of the Standard Oil Company, was buried today from the Truman undertaking parlors, the Rev. Raymond C. Brooks of the First Congregational Church, Berkeley, officiating. Mrs. Wall died at her home, 922 Ventura avenue, Berkeley, Friday, from influenza. She was 33 years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace B. Jones, Pasadena, and is survived by an infant son, by her husband, and a brother and two sisters in Los Angeles.

I knew if I could humor him everything would be all right," she says. "Besides, I didn't think of myself. It was the baby around whom my thoughts centered. Not for anything in the world would I have had anything happen to him."

MAN VERY TALL; OF PALE COMPLEXION

In describing her unexpected caller Miss Tarilton says that he was between 30 and 40 years of age, very tall and thin, with a pale complexion, blue eyes and brownish hair.

Miss Tarilton had been spending a few days at the Denman home and had planned to return today to her home in Oakland, where she resides at 608 Twenty-ninth street.

LARGE CONTINGENT WOUNDED ARRIVES

One hundred and three men who were in the thick of battle overseas arrived here last night on the Santa Fe Limited in charge of Lieutenant Morgan J. Deasy, son of Judge Frank T. Deasy, of San Francisco, who himself served fourteen months with the American forces in France. Many of the men had suffered wounds more or less severe, but all appeared to be in the best of spirits.

Of the men who arrived, 100 of them were cared for last night at the Red Cross canteen hut at the Southern Pacific mole, and were given a good breakfast this morning before their departure for Camp Fremont. Mrs. Wallace Alexander, chairman of the canteen committee, and her assistants made the brief stay of the men most enjoyable and their faces were beaming with smiles when they left.

H. J. Dontanville, of Pasadena, who lost his left eye in the Argonne battle, October 4, and Private Paul Pietrok, of Stayton, Ore., who had his left arm blown off in the same battle, October 17, were taken to the Letterman General Hospital at the Presidio in San Francisco last night.

Lieutenant Deasy, who fought through the Argonne battle without receiving a scratch, was stricken with influenza, and was in a London hospital with penumonia when the armistice was signed.

Mrs. Pangburn Is Summoned by Death

The death of Mrs. Melilla W. Pangburn occurred yesterday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. E. C. Hodkin, 1139 Adeline street. For 35 years she was a resident of this city. She was 79 years old. Mrs. Pangburn belonged to an old Vermont family, which for generations had been engaged in glove-making. She is survived by two sons, Charles and H. B. Pangburn, and a daughter, Mrs. Hodkin.

U. S. TROOPS TO AID POLES, SAYS PARIS

PARIS, Jan. 13.—Inquiries in official American circles here elicited the information that the United States has not undertaken to send troops to Poland, as intimated by Paris newspapers.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

PARIS, Jan. 13.—America has informed the allied governments, according to the Temps, that it is ready to send an American expeditionary corps to Poland. This force, the newspaper states, would be able "to at least double the support given by two Polish divisions to be sent from the western front and enable the Poles to victoriously resist the Bolshevists."

In discussing today's meeting of the supreme inter-allied council the Temps says that while the conditions to be laid down for the renewal of the armistice between the allies and Germany were the subject of most of the discussion, the sending of military assistance to Poland was also taken up.

HEIRS BACK UP AIRCRAFT CLAIMS

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 13.—Today witnessed the opening of the fight by the heirs of the late Professor John J. Montgomery of Santa Clara College, who was killed in an airplane fall in 1911, to gain control of the aircraft industry. The heirs have instituted two suits to establish the patent right claims of the mission inventor against the Wright brothers and others. The suits claim that control of flight is accomplished by the warping of the planes, and sets up that this fundamental principle was developed and patented by Montgomery in 1906.

Depositions were taken today of people who watched the experiments of Professor Montgomery, beginning in the early 80s and continuing down to the time of his death.

The witnesses to appear before a specially appointed United States commissioner here will support the Montgomery patent. Hervey S. Knight, of Knight Brothers, patent attorneys of New York and Washington, is here to represent the Montgomery heirs, while Charles Neuve of New York is appearing for the Wright-Martin Aircraft Corporation. W. D. Eakin of Washington, assistant United States attorney-general, is representing the interests of the government.

Mrs. Regina Cleary Montgomery, the widow of the Santa Clara scientist, and the other Montgomery heirs live in San Francisco.

The claims of the Montgomery heirs are pending in two suits, one brought in the United States District Court for the Southern district of New York against the Wright-Martin Aircraft Corporation, which owns all the Wright patents and manufactures all airplanes bearing that name. This suit claims an infringement by the Wright brothers of the Montgomery patent, and demands an accounting for all profits made by manufacture or royalty on the Wright machine and an injunction restraining the corporation from manufacturing any more machines embodying the fundamental principles of the Montgomery invention.

The second suit was filed by the Montgomery heirs in the Court of Claims, Washington, D. C., asking for compensation by the government for royalty on all machines manufactured for the army and navy. Both suits involve several millions of dollars.

OAKLAND WILL GIVE GRIZZLIES 'POPPY SHOWER'

Special receptions to the East-bay men with the "Grizzlies" are being planned by Charles H. J. Truman, head of Oakland's committee of welcome. Prominent among the men from this side of the bay who are to return with the 143d Regiment some time during the week is Peter B. Kyne, short story writer, whose home is in Thousand Oaks, Berkeley.

Kyne is bringing back with him a little French orphan boy, whom he found in a ruined city of southern France.

Truman and the committee of seven expect to greet the East-bay men with a reception after the celebration of the War Camp Community Service in San Francisco is held.

Oakland's part in the demonstration will be a shower of golden poppy petals on the returning troops as they arrive at the ferry building. Thousands of these little tissue paper petals are being fashioned by the workers of the Native Daughters appointed on both sides of the bay by Mrs. Ada Mosher, grand president.

COWBOY ASKS AID AS BRIDE-TO-BE 'A GUNNING GOES

A Trinity county cowpuncher, all dolled up in a sombrero, sheepskin chaps and a flowing red necktie, appeared before Desk Sergeant Walters at the Central station last night asking to be protected from his mail-order bride-to-be.

"Officer," said the cowboy, "I shure am in need of police protection."

"What's the idea?" asked the sergeant.

"There's a woman a-huntin' for me with a shootin' iron, and from her looks I shure believe she knows how to use that piece of artillery."

"Well," remarked the sergeant, "how did you get into all this trouble?"

"It's this a-way," replied the cowboy. "I live way up in Trinity county and bein' lonesome, I answered a ad by a woman that said she wanted to hitch up. She sent me her picture, and believe me, if she was anything like that picture she was some dame. But the picture lied. When I get's one slant at her I beats it and she gets real peeved and pulls that gatling gun and threatens to make a sieve of my carcass."

"Well," said the sergeant, "you beat it out the back way, go to the Sixteenth street station and buy a ticket north. We will entertain the lady if she shows up here."

THREE OAKLAND LADS WAR VICTIMS

Names of three Oakland boys appear in the casualty list issued by the War Department today. They are:

Private Giseppe Bolla, next of kin Pietry Bolla, 3788 Fruitvale avenue, who is listed as having been killed in action. Bolla was previously listed as missing in action.

Sergeant Everett F. Ford, next of kin Guy Ford, 709 Forty-fifth street, is reported severely wounded.

Private Mark Jerko, next of kin Marko B. Jerko, 1673 Fifth street, is also reported severely wounded.

FORMER SOLDIER ADMITS ROBBERY

William M. Haney, honorably discharged from the army in November, walked into the Central Station at 2 a. m. this morning and surrendered himself to the police, stating that on December 24, while in Modesto, he found an automobile in the streets with a lot of whisky stored away under a rear seat evidently belonging to some bootlegger. As he was out of money he took the car and later sold it to Howe and Bradshaw of Knights Landing for $100.

The whisky he says he gave to a lot of bums that he met near Knights' Landing. He further informed the police that when he reached Oakland he met two men, whom he says were "hop heads" and with them framed up to rob a saloon at Second and Webster streets, but his companions lost their nerve and left the city.

He alleges that he cashed the check for $100 which he received for the machine at a a saloon at Second and K streets, Sacramento. The police have no record of the lost car and are holding Haney for investigation.

TO BUILD HOSPITAL.

VISALIA, Jan. 13.—Plans are under way in Visalia for the erection of a $100,000 hospital as a memorial to the soldier dead of this city. The Visalia Board of Trade has taken the matter up with prospects of an early successful consummation of the program.

UP TO PEACE PARLEY.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13. — The State Department has forwarded to the American peace delegation the British proposal regarding cessation of Russian hostilities, with subsequent Russian factional representation.

It will be up to President Wilson and the American delegates to decide whether they wish to have Bolsheviki and other Slav agents present their peace views at Paris.

M. Pichon, French foreign minister, is reported to have rejected the British proposal, viewing it as a plan to have Bolsheviki delegates at the Paris conference.

DISEASE PERILS TO BE PICTURED

Oakland ministers will join with the ministers of all other communities in preaching sermons Sunday, February 9, emphasizing the need of community action to combat the spread of social disease with the return of soldiers and sailors to civil life.

Dr. Rupert Blue, surgeon-general of the public health service, has sent a proclamation from Washington which is to be read in every Oakland pulpit on "Health Sunday." The proclamation reads:

"The war made it necessary for the nation to face frankly and courageously the menace of venereal diseases. Now the war is over and the period of demobilization has begun. Drastic measures must be taken to prevent during this period those conditions in civilian life which made these diseases the greatest cause of disability in the army.

"In the army and navy a program of law-enforcement, medical measures, education and provision for wholesome recreation was adopted. This program brought results. The venereal rate was lowered below that of any army of any nation in the history of the modern world.

"Now that the war is over, the cities and towns through which the soldiers and sailors will go and to which they will return upon demobilization must be made as safe as the camps from which they have come."

Discharged Men to Get Club Privileges

In view of the report which is current among men who have been discharged from the United States service that the Defenders' Club, run under the auspices of the War Camp Community Service, do not welcome discharged men, to War Camp Community Service of Oakland today stated that all men who are in the service at the present time or who have been honorably discharged are welcome at the club.

Men who have been discharged and who are wearing civilian clothes are asked, however, to show their discharge papers before being admitted to the club. The War Camp Community Service feels that the man who has been in the service is just as much worth while when he puts on civilian clothes as he was in the uniform of the United States army or navy.

Keep Baby Well—

Feverish colds that distress the little ones, that cause difficult breathing, that irritate their sensitive little throats and give them troublesome disturbing coughs, are readily helped and soothed by Foley's Honey and Tar.

The wise mother gives it for croup, whooping cough, measles cough and bronchial coughs.

Foley's Honey and Tar is just as good for grown-ups as for children. For hoarseness, tickling throat, troublesome night coughs, la grippe coughs and chronic coughs of elderly people it is widely recommended. It contains no morphine, chloroform or other drug that you would not like to give to young children, delicate persons or elderly people. Do not accept a substitute.

"When our baby was 10 days old he took whooping cough in the worst form, and the paroxysms of cough almost overcame him. Our neighbor suggested Foley's Honey and Tar and that gave him almost immediate relief, for which we feel very grateful." Mrs. J. H. Hightower, Odem, Texas.

"My baby was stricken with a severe cough and cold at one month old. I gave him 10 to 15 drops of Foley's Honey and Tar every three hours and it sure did help him." Mrs. B. H. Garrett, Schoolfield, Va.

SPANISH INFLUENZA---JUST GRIP CAMOUFLAGED UNDER A NEW NAME

Most Authorities Now Agree That This Disease Is Simply the Old-Fashioned Grip, the Same That Has Swept Over the World Times Without Number. Since 1831 the Unitd States Has Had Five Epidemics.

The Last Epidemic in 1889-90 Came From Russia by Way of France and Was Given a French Name, La Grippe. This Time It Comes by Way of Spain.

ORIGIN OF THE DISEASE.

Spanish Influenza, which appeared in Spain in May, has swept over the world in numerous epidemics as far back as history runs. Hippocrates refers to an epidemic in 412 B. C., which is regarded by many to have been influenza. Every century has had its attacks. Beginning with 1831, this country has had five epidemics, the last in 1889-90.

THE SYMPTOMS.

Grip, or influenza as it is now called, usually begins with a chill followed by aching, feverishness and sometimes nausea and dizziness and a general feeling of weakness and depression. The temperature is from 100 to 104, and the fever usually lasts from three to five days. The germs attack the mucous membrane, or lining of the air passages—nose, throat and bronchial tubes—there is usually a hard cough, especially bad at night, often times a sore throat or tonsilitis, and frequently all the appearances of a severe head cold.

THE TREATMENT.

Go to bed at the first symptoms—take a purgative, eat plenty of nourishing food, remain perfectly quiet and don't worry. Nature herself is the only "cure" for influenza and will throw off the attack if only you conserve your strength. A little Quinine, Aspirin or Dover's Powder may be given by the physician's direction to allay the aching. Always call a doctor, since the chief danger of grip is in its weakening effect on the system, which allows complications to develop. These are chiefly pneumonia and bronchitis, sometimes inflammation of the middle ear, or heart affections. For these reasons, it is very important that the patient remain in bed until his strength returns—stay in bed at least two days or more after the fever has left you, or if you are over 50 or not strong, stay in bed four days or more, according to the severity of the attack.

EXTERNAL APPLICATIONS.

In order to stimulate the lining of the air passages to throw off the grip germs, to aid in loosening the phlegm and keeping the air passages open, thus making the breathing easier, Vick's VapoRub will be found effective. Hot, wet towels should be applied over the throat, chest and back between the shoulder blades to open the pores. Then VapoRub should be rubbed in over the parts until the skin is red, spread on thickly and covered with two thicknesses of hot flannel cloths. Leave the clothing loose around the neck as the heat of the body liberates the ingredients in the form of vapors. These vapors, inhaled with each breath, carry the medication directly to the parts affected. At the same time, VapoRub is absorbed through and stimulates the skin, attracting the blood to the surface, and thus aids in relieving the congestion within.

NO OCCASION FOR PANIC.

There is no occasion for panic—influenza or grip has a very low percentage of fatalities—not over one death out of every four hundred cases, according to the N. C. Board of Health. The chief danger lies in complications arising, attacking principally patients in a run down condition—those who don't go to bed soon enough, or those who get up too early.

HOW TO AVOID THE DISEASE.

Evidence seems to prove that this is a germ disease, spread principally by human contact, chiefly through coughing, sneezing or spitting. So avoid persons having colds—which means avoiding crowds — common drinking cups, roller towels, etc. Keep up your bodily strength by plenty of exercise in the open air, and good food.

KEEP FREE FROM COLDS.

Above all, avoid colds, as colds irritate the lining of the air passages and render them much better breeding places for the germs.

Use Vick's VapoRub at the very first sign of a cold. For a head cold, melt a little VapoRub in a spoon and inhale the vapors, or better still, use VapoRub in a benzoin steam kettle. If this is not available, use an ordinary tea kettle. Fill half-full of boiling water, put in a teaspoon of VapoRub from time to time—keep the kettle just slowly boiling and inhale the steam arising.

NOTE—Vick's VapoRub is the discovery of a North Carolina druggist, who found how to compound, in salve form, Menthol and Camphor with such volatile oils as Eucalyptus, Thyme, Cubebs, etc., so that when the salve is applied to the body heat, these ingredients are liberated in the form of vapors. VapoRub can be had in three sizes at all druggists. While comparatively new in certain parts of the North, it is the standard home remedy in the South and west for all forms of cold troubles—over six million jars were sold last year. VapoRub is particularly recommended for children's croup or colds, as it is externally applied and can, therefore, be used freely and often without the slightest harmful effects.—Advertisement.

The most noteworthy accomplishment of optical science in the last two years has been the discovery and perfection of Punktal Lenses.

Until that time Toric Lenses represented the best in optical achievement. They were in fact a colossal improvement over the flat form with which preceding generations had to be content. Tories were ground from blanks with a standard curve on one side, different strengths being obtained by varying the curvature on the other side. Then scientists produced the

COOKS FOR EIGHT; KEEPS SIX ROOMS

Busy Worker Takes Time From Her Tasks to Tell How Tanlac Gave Her Strength.

"I could do mighty little work before I began taking Tanlac, but it has built me up so much that I can now keep six big rooms in order, and do all the cooking for my family of eight," said Mrs. Flora Graves, who lives at 604 Moultrie street, San Francisco.

"For the past year," continued Mrs. Graves, "I have been in a general run-down condition. I didn't feel at all well at my time, was weak and listless all the time, and never had enough energy to do anything. My appetite was very poor and I would eat very little, and even that would sour on my stomach and cause gas to form which would make me miserable for hours. Around last Thanksgiving I caught a very severe cold and it developed into Grippe, and I never had anything to pull me down so bad. Every bone in my body ached and all my muscles were stiff and drawn, and from the time I caught this cold, I began to be constipated and had terrible headaches and tried to be taking medicine for that all the time, but nothing did me any good. I kept losing in strength and weight until it was impossible for me to keep up with my housework. My husband wasn't in very good health, either; in fact, he had not been able to do very much work for several months.

"We had been reading a great deal about Tanlac, and after talking it over decided that we would both give it a trial, and the result is, my husband is able to work every day, and I am able to do all my housework, and even the family washing, and it doesn't hurt me at all. I never have those awful headaches now, and am not bothered with constipation and, in fact, all of my troubles have disappeared and I am feeling as well as I ever did. We both have splendid appetites, and I am sure that Tanlac will soon have my husband feeling perfectly well again. We are both gaining in weight and our sleep is sound and restful. It gives me a great deal of pleasure to recommend Tanlac, for it certainly has been a great help to me."

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. They are the result of Dr. Edwards's determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. His efforts to banish it brought out these little olive-colored tablets.

The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel, but to let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Most headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "loggy" and "heavy." Note how they "clear" clouded brain and how they "perk up" the spirits. 10c and 25c a box. All druggists

STRONG PLEAS MADE TO AID ARMENIANS

Oakland's campaign to raise $60,000 as its share of the $30,000,000 nation fund for the American Committee for Relief in the Near East started yesterday with pleas from all the Oakland pulpits in behalf of the refugees from the Turkish holy war waged against all races not of the Mohammedan faith in the Ottoman empire. The campaign is under the auspices of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce and headquarters have been established in the rooms of the commercial organization in the Hotel Oakland. Subscriptions will be received at the hut in the city hall plaza, as well as at several stations in different sections of the city.

"Everybody must work and give" is the statement of Arthur P. Karbach, campaign director. "All who are willing to work during the coming week are asked to report at the Oakland Chamber of Commerce."

Perry Burlingame, executive committee; Joseph E. Caine, organization committee; A. S. Lavenson, advisory committee; H. K. Jackson, retail merchants' division; Albert C. Agnew, speakers' bureau; John W. Phillips, manufacturers' division; Rev. Charles L. Kloss, church division; J. Cal Ewing, special industries division; George L. Cummings, residence division; K. L. Hamman, special advertising division; Atlee F. Hunt, publicity division.

Dr. Frederick G. Coan, American missionary, born in Persia, and who has spent forty-seven years working among the oppressed people of Turkey, told of the terrible atrocities perpetrated by the Turks and Germans in Turkey to a large audience in the First Congregational church last night. He gave the reasons why the United States did not declare war on Turkey at the time war was declared on Germany, saying:

"There are many people not familiar with conditions existing in Turkey, who could not understand why President Wilson was opposed to a declaration of war on Turkey. Washington was constantly in touch with what was going on in Turkey through the American missionaries and relief workers in that country.

"If we had declared war on Turkey it would have been like making a face at a man you cannot fight, for it would have been impossible for the United States to participate in the campaigns being waged against Turkey by the British without interfering with the main effort against Germany in Europe.

"The Turks started their war of extermination against the Armenians, Syrians, Greeks and Jews in the Near East in 1915, murdered 2,000,000 people and left 4,000,000, mostly women and children, to face death by exposure, disease and starvation. The only relief work that was being carried on was by the American relief workers and they would have to leave the country upon the declaration of war. There was nothing to gain and a lot to lose."

Hibernians Select Officers for Year

The Hibernians of Oakland held their biennial county convention last Thursday evening, and the following were the officers elected for the ensuing two years:

County president, James C. Walsh; county vice-president, Dan Ring; county financial secretary, James Pegnam; county recording secretary, D. S. McCarthy; county treasurer, B. McManus.

The organization is now planning its annual ball, which will be held on St. Patrick's Day, the hall for which is not yet selected.

The committee on history reports that out of the membership thirty-eight joined the colors, three were promoted as officers, two were killed, one died from injuries received in battle, two died from disease and four were wounded who are now well again.

COLONEL THEODORE ROOSEVELT'S FUNERAL

At Oyster Bay the burial was impressive though simple and marked only by the attendance of state and government dignitaries. The neighbors of the late colonel alone stood with bared heads as the cortege passed by. An honor guard of New York police escorted the cavalcade to the grave. Cuts Are Made in State Budget Board Sees Balance in Sight

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 13.—Saving of two fiscal years, as against $27,291,873 proprlations for operating the state government and its institutions and in special appropriations was recommended by the state budget board, which today submitted to Governor William D. Stephens and the California legislature estimates of expenditures to be made during the biennial period beginning July 1, 1919.

The budget board, which consists of the members of the State Board of Control and the state controller, outlined special and general appropriation bills aggregating $24,291,605 for the next two fisca lyears, as against $27,291,873 for the two years which began in July 1, 1917.

The estimated fixed charges for the next two-year period show an increase because of statutory requirements of $2,242,159.37. The 1917 fixed charges were $20,586,388.76, against estimated for the 1919 biennial period of $22,828,548.13. The fixed charges are for elementary and high schools, universities and payment of interest and principal on bonded indebtedness and reimbursements to counties.

SHOWS REDUCTION.

The total appropriations and expenditures for the two years from 1917 aggregated $47,907,234.42. The total estimated expenditures for the coming two years is $47,589,125.66. The total estimated receipts for the 1919 period are $47,969,490. This leaves an estimated surplus of $380,344.34 in the revenues for the two years from next July.

"For the first time in the history of the state," said the summary of the budget report, "appropriations at this legislative session will show an actual decrease over those of the preceding two-year period, if the recommendations of the budget board are adhered to."

Referring to the proposed saving of more than $2,500,000, the report said:

"This remarkable decrease has been made without in any way impairing the department affected and is in keeping with the view expressed by members of the committee on efficiency and economy recently appointed by Governor Stephens. This saving has been made in spite of the extraordinary high cost of living and without reducing the quality or quantity of food furnished to the 20,000 inmates of the state hospitals and prisons."

The special appropriations recommended by the budget board for the next biennial period are $4,887,793.53, as against $8,802,765.66 for the past two years, a decrease of $3,914,793.13.

GENERAL APPROPRIATIONS.

The general appropriation bill for the next two years is set at $19,863,813, compared with $18,459,765.66 for the two fiscal years which began in July, 1917, an increase of $1,374,705. This, it was pointed out, leaves a net decrease out of the general fund of $2,540,268.13.

The general appropriation bill, covering the expenses of the legislative, judicial and administrative departments, according to the budget report, shows the smallest percentage of increase for a great many years. The increase in this bill is made up as follows: An increase in the new court, $103,710; for additional expenses of the Supreme Court, $9010, and for salaries of Superior Court judges not taken care of in the last general appropriation bill, $29,000.

The military appropriations show an increase of $120,900; education an increase of $143,392; agriculture and horticulture an increase of $66,480; aid to veterans, army nurses and orphans, $272,100. The one largest item of increase in the general appropriation is for a bill for the care of insane and feeble-minded, an increase of $1,474,447. This increase, the report explained, covers not only an amount necessary to take care of the greatly increased cost of supplies, but also contemplates shortening the hours of employees in these institutions who now work twelve and thirteen hours a day.

U. C. INCOME RISES.

In the fixed charges the major increases for the coming two fiscal years are in education and are statutory. The statutory allowance for the state university fund for the period beginning in 1917 was $2,365,222.41 and that proposed for 1919 period is $2,707,943.13, an increase of $343,720.70. The high schools were allowed $1,913,040 in 1917 and $2,240,833 in the present budgets, an increase of $327,795. The elementary schools in 1917 were allowed $10,482,580, against $11,382,500 for the next two-year period.

"These estimates for school purposes," said the report, "have been based upon the average normal increase, anticipating emergency action by the legislature to prevent losses to the schools because of the epidemic."

News of the Churches

"The day of the veteran begging on the King's highway is gone," said Rev. J. N. Garst at the Twenty-third Avenue Baptist church, Sunday night, discussing the question whether we will offer the boys charity or a job when they come home. The speaker said:

"A new and glorious day is dawned for the so-called disabled warrior. Marvelous things are being done and will continue to be done for his reconstruction and rehabilitation. Multitudes of men, who, in the old days, would have been considered hopelessly disabled, will now become able to support themselves, many will be as well off financially as before the war, and some in even a better condition.

The following examples and many more are on record:

A. Clay was paralyzed in his right arm. Before the war he was a butcher. Now he is a telephone engineer.

C. E. Jones lost his right leg. Before the war he was a gardener, now an electrician.

A mechanic was reconstructed and rehabilitated and now receives double his former salary in his new position as foreman of a machine shop.

Let us, therefore, by attitude and by act strengthen these valiant men and then give them, not charity, but what is far better, a chance to do a man's job in the new world-era which they helped to usher in as they wrought right right mightily."

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN.

"All the people should assemble in the churches and unitedly ask God to stop the plague," said Rev. Frank M. Sisley at the First Presbyterian Church last night. "The people are alarmed at the presence of the plague and the condition is serious, but our fears and alarms would not be so great if the people were not afflicted with spiritual panic. It is lack of spiritual adjustment attending so many cases of influenza that is breaking down the morale of the people. It is the influenza sin that is causing the mischief. And the most imperative need today is spiritual preparedness and a faith that sees God. The victims of the plague need not only scientific attention, but peace with God—a spiritual assurance that will give them the victorious life whether they live or die. The toll of death from spiritual and physical influenza is appalling and the question that every one should ask himself is—am I prepared to meet my God? The church must lift its voice today for spiritual preparedness of mind and soul for the crisis and emergencies of life. The church can also greatly assist in stopping the plague by personal and united prayer. Christ will answer His people in time of plague just as he did in war.

Let the people assemble together today as they did in times of war and ask for the revelation of the mighty delivering hand of God. We need the ministry of physician and nurse and mask, but we need supremely the blessing of God and the consciousness of the presence of Christ as the Great Physician."

TENTH AVENUE BAPTIST.

The sermon of Rev. G. W. Phillips, pastor of the Tenth Avenue Baptist church, Sunday night, was in appreciation of Theodore Rosevelt, the one outstanding personality of his age."

It was not a fulsome eulogy but such a summing up of facts as could not be made without carrying the conviction that Roosevelt was a great and conscientious American.

Time and again after naming mighty deeds and brave declarations, the speaker asked "Guess who?" when the only possible answer was "Roosevelt." In closing Phillips said Rosevelt was as much a martyr as McKinley, Garfield or Lincoln. Other great men have been crushed by criticism but he bore up under misfortune and did his best to the last.

He offered to go to war himself and when not allowed stripped his heart of his sons and sent them to bleed and die for his country. Having seved his age to the fullest extent of his manly powers he fell asleep. Almighty God, repose his soul tonight.

MEMORIAL AT ALLIANCE CHURCH.

Hundreds of friends of the late Peter Tosh, former superintendent of the Sunday school of Christian Alliance church, who made the supreme sacrifice in France just a few days before the armistice was signed, joined Sunday in tribute to him at memorial services at the Alliance church, Twenty-first and San Pablo.

Rev. Herbert Dyke, pastor of the church, conducted the exercises and Rev. C. C. Herriott, father of the late Paul Herriott, delivered the eulogy.

Young Tosh was a member of Company 5, Seventy-seventh Division, U. S. Infantry. He was wounded in the American offensive of November 2, and died two days later. Prior to enlisting he was engaged in the automobile business in Oakland.

The January meeting of the Unity Club of the First Unitarian church, at Fourteenth and Castro streets, will be held January 14 at 8 p. m.

The introductory address will be by Ablahat O. Samuels, rug merchant of Urumia, dressed in Persian costume. Azriv Keronian, the bride refugee of Bitlis, the sole survivor of 30,000 refugee victims of the Turks, will be presented to the audience. The address of the evening will be by Lieutenant Henry Morton of the New Zealand troops, the hero of Gallipoli, who will speak on "Fighting the Turk at Gallipoli." There is no admission fee. Everybody is invited.

Ray F. Coyle, son of Rev. Robert Coyle, D. D., former distinguished pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will speak in the social hall of the church Tuesday evening at 7:30, relating his experiences as a "Y" man with a French division. Coyle will be a guest of the Men's Brotherhood at a banquet at 6:30, but the public is invited to hear the lecture that follows. There is no admission fee.

Woman Is Burned in Saving Her Pets

Mrs. M. E. Brown, of 8803 Downing street, came near sacrificing her life for the lives of her pet cats, dogs and birds yesterday, when a fire destroyed her home. In an effort to rescue her pets, Mrs. Brown sustained serious burns of the head, neck and hands. She was treated at the receiving hospital and removed to the county hospital.

Mrs. Brown and her brother, Albert Beft, were asleep in the house, when they were aroused by neighbors who discovered the fire. They rushed to the sidewalk, when Mrs. Brown remembered her pets and went back into the flames to rescue them. Overcome by the smoke and flames, she collapsed as she reached the open door after bringing her pets from the dining-room and was carried away by firemen. She will recover.

Oakland Man Is Robbed by Footpads

George Crubesich, 465 Center street, was held up by three men on Montgomery street, between Broadway and Vallejo street, San Francisco, last night and robbed of $10 and a watch valued at $35. Crubesich was struck on the head with a club by one of the men and beaten when he offered resistance. He was taken to the Harbor Emergency Hospital by Policeman Hugh Conners, who found Crubesich in an unconscious condition on the sidewalk, where he was treated for scalp wounds and lacerations of the face.

Funeral Services for C. S. Edwards

The funeral of Charles Stewart Edwards will take place tomorrow at 11:30 a. m. from the funeral chapel at 582 Thirteenth street. Edwards died at the Springfield hospital, Oregon, on January 9. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Stewart and brother of H. F. Edwards and Mrs. Emily Mitchell of Humboldt county. Interment will be in Mountain View cemetery. Edwards was educated in the Oakland schools. Recently he went to Oregon to establish himself on a cattle ranch.

She has health magnetism

Health magnetism is a great asset to a young girl. Its glow is in her cheeks and eyes. Its spring is in her step. Its fire is in her every gesture and motion. And its source is her rich, red blood which fills every part of her system with electric force and energy.

Yet the vitality-draining change from girlhood to womanhood works hardship to many young girls. Very likely that is why your daughter is pale, dull-eyed, listless and anemic.

She has no appetite for food, no zest for work or pleasure. She suffers from headaches, dizziness, indigestion and palpitation. Her blood is thin, watery and clogged with poisons.

What shall be done for her? This. Give her a thorough course in blood building. Fresh air, careful diet, absolute rest and quiet are demanded. And Pepto-Mangan will bring the most gratifying results in a reasonably short time.

Gude's Pepto-Mangan

"The Red Blood Builder"

Pepto-Mangan is a tonic and blood reconstructive that really can be digested and assimilated without taxing the most delicate stomach. It fills the blood with thousands of new, sturdy red cells, which carry and distribute oxygen to every cell and tissue. Since oxygen is life itself, it charges the whole system with keen health and vigor. Pepto-Mangan is exceedingly pleasant to taste. Universally endorsed and prescribed by the medical profession.

FRIENDLY WARNING—There is only one Pepto-Mangan and that is Gude's. Sold in bottle and package as here shown. For sale at all drug stores.

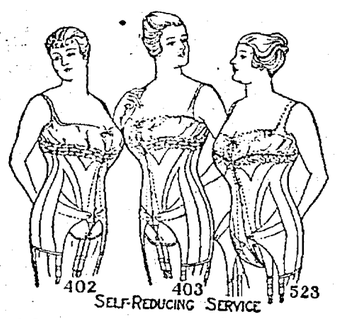
SELF-REDUCING CORSETS CREATE A TRIM NEW FIGURE for the Stout Woman

THE SELF-REDUCING CORSET has earned the indisputable reputation of having saved the stout woman from ridicule and despair. It has given her a perfectly proportioned, symmetrical figure, which is so greatly admired, that she is now the envy of her slender sisters.

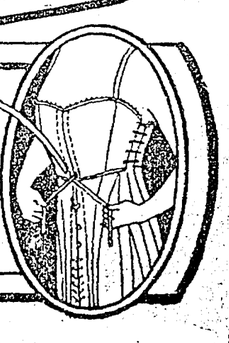
The Self-Reducing Corset accomplished this by furnishing, for over one quarter of a century a hygienic-style service which gradually has reshaped and reduced the size and weight of the stout woman's figure, relieving her from weaknesses which are the result of excessive fat and bulk.

Their durability makes them a truly economic investment, because they wear twice as long as corsets of other makes.



Prices, $4.25, $5.00, $6.00 and $7.00

Nemo Just Pull the Strings BRASSIERES



"They Fit as You Fasten"

Self-Adjustable, the only brassiere that molds and controls the top of the figure where the corset stops. A variety of styles and features. $1.00 to $2.00

DIZZY SPELLS THING OF PAST

Woman's work, they say, is never done. She starts with the housework as soon as she rises in the morning and is generally busy up to the time she retires at night. The work must be done whether she is feeling well or not. It's sometimes a monotonous grind for the healthy, normal individual, but it becomes almost intolerable at times if the daily routine must be gone through with when the body cries out with pain, when stooping produces dizzy spells and nervous headaches are frequent.

A large proportion of the suffering among women is due to deficient blood. Once the blood loses its quality the nerves begin to protest, for the nerves are nourished entirely by the blood. Sometimes it is the nerves in control of the stomach that rebel, then nervous indigestion is the result. Sometimes upset nerves in other parts of the body start neuralgic pains and sleepless nights follow. A reliable blood tonic is the best treatment for conditions of this kind as is shown by the experience of Mrs. V. O. Huff of Cottage Grove, Oregon. She says:

"I was sinking into a decline and was in bed the greater portion of the time. I suffered from pains all over. I had but little blood, was very sallow and bilious. My heart palpitated and I was short of breath. I had terrible nervous headaches accompanied by dizzy spells, which would last for days. I could not sleep at night. I was so nervous that the least little noise would set me on edge. My appetite was poor. I kept getting thinner every day.

I was very much discouraged until I read about the wonderful results from the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I immediately sent for a few boxes and set all other medicines away. I took the pills as the directions said and almost immediately there was a decided improvement, which kept up until I was entirely well and I have remained so. I am now in as good health as a woman of my age could expect to be. Most every one in our family has used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for some trouble or other and has always been benefited. We consider the pills our family remedy and recommend them highly."

To build up the blood there is one remedy that has been a household word for a generation, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. They tone up the entire system, make the blood rich and red, strengthen the nerves, increase the appetite, put color in the cheeks and lips and drive away that unnatural tired feeling. Plenty of sunlight, good wholesome food and fresh air will do the rest.

The pamphlet, "Building Up the Blood," contains just the information that every mother of a growing girl needs. It will be sent to any address free on request.

Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Price fifty cents per box; six boxes for $2.50. Write to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.—Advertisement.

She Darkened Her Gray Hair

Well Known Lady Tells How She Darkened Her Gray Hair by a Simple Home Made Remedy

Mrs. E. H. Boots, a well known resident of Buchanan County, Ia., who darkened her gray hair by a simple home-made remedy made the following statement:

"Any lady or gentleman can darken their gray or faded hair, and make it soft and glossy with this simple remedy, which they can mix at home. To half a pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, one small box of Barbo Compound and ¼ ounce of glycerine. These ingredients can be purchased at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair every other day until the gray hair is darkened sufficiently. This is not a dye, it does not color the most delicate scalp; is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off. It will make a gray haired person look 10 to 20 years younger."—Advertisement.

M. L. HANSCOM, BERKELEY'S AUDITOR, DIES

BERKELEY, Jan. 13. — Claiming the distinction of being the oldest graduate of Harvard on the Pacific coast, Meldon Leroy Hanscom, for 25 years auditor of the city of Berkeley, is dead at his home, 1525 Walnut street.

Hanscom passed away yesterday morning following an illness of several weeks during which he became partially paralyzed. Although in his 76th year, Hanscom had enjoyed the best of health and was constantly at his office at the city hall until last month.

Honored more times than has been anyone else by the city of Berkeley by re-election to a municipal office, Hanscom had held constantly the office of auditor for more than a quarter of a century. Through his devotion to his duties, his unquestioned honesty and integrity, he won the sobriquet "watchdog of the city treasury," and on more than one occasion was the center of interesting controversies involving municipal funds.

WAS BOY EDITOR.

Born in Elliott, Mass., in 1844, Hanscom came west with his parents at the age of ten years, his father holding the post of naval constructor at Mare Island. At the age of ten, Hanscom published the first paper ever issued at the naval yard, copies of which are still on file at Mare Island. With the promotion of his father to the position of chief of the bureau of naval construction the family moved to Washington, D. C., several years later, where Hanscom received his education, graduating from Harvard in 1867. Following his graduation, Hanscom returned west again, settling in Coos Bay, Oregon, where for several years he published the Coos Bay News and also held extensive lumber interests.

HARVARD GRADUATE.

Since 1882, Hanscom had made his home in Berkeley. Two years ago he went east to attend the 50th anniversary of his class at Harvard and had also been sent east on a number of occasions to represent the city at national conventions of municipal auditors. He was a prominent Mason and a member of Durant lodge of Berkeley, under the auspices of which the funeral will be conducted at 3:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon from the Masonic Temple. City officials will pay tribute to their associate by attending the services in a body.

Surviving Hanscom is a widow, Mrs. Louisa Hyde Hanscom; a son, Edmond H. Hanscom, now in France; and four daughters, Mrs. Marion Birrell, a teacher in the Berkeley schools; Mrs. Adelaide Leeson, well known artist; Mrs. Sarah Embury and Mrs. Gertrude Shushaw.

PORT MANAGER TO TALK TO CHAMBER

What the future has in store for Oakland as a seaport will be discussed by Hamilton Higday, former port manager of Seattle, before a mass meeting of Eastbay residents under the auspices of the Manufacturers' Committee of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce, in the Hotel Oakland next Thursday night.

Higday's subject will be "The Port Possibilities of the Eastbay Section." Special invitations have been sent out to a large number of those interested and it is expected that several hundred will attend.

Higday is regarded as one of the leading authorities on port development in the United States. He has recently resigned his position in the north to become the port manager of the Parr Terminal Company. He has announced that he will not confine his activities to that concern but will be willing to devote his time and experience to the development of the entire mainland section of San Francisco bay, for the benefit of shipbuilding.

Talent Is Secured for Elks' Big Party

At the request of Oakland Elks Miss Frances East, the well-known society singer of Berkeley, will sing "A Rose in No Man's Land," which typifies the spirit of the Red Cross more than any other song ever written, at the Oakland Lodge of Elks party in their club rooms Thursday night. Miss East has been loaned for the occasion by the Oakland T. and D., which has also donated the funny photoplay, Charlie Chaplin in "Shoulder Arms" in addition to the services of Ulderico Marcelli, the famous orchestra leader, and Mynar Sherman Jones who will accompany Miss East on the piano.

Jewish Society to Hold Luncheon

A luncheon will be given at Hotel Oakland Wednesday, at 12:15 p. m. by the Alameda County Jewish Organization which has in hand the question of Palestine and the Jews at the Peace conference.

Representing the San Francisco district will be M. A. Gunst, H. S. Heller, J. Irving Lipsitch, John I. Walter and Otto Irving Wise.

Attorney Eliassen Influenza Sufferer

Attorney Charles R. Eliassen, with offices in the Syndicate building, is confined to his home, 317 Ramona avenue, Piedmont, with influenza. He was in San Francisco Friday in connection with some important legal work and upon returning home complained of not feeling well. Saturday morning he remained in bed and the physician pronounced him an influenza victim.

Chief Steinmetz' Father Is Dead

ALAMEDA, Jan. 13. — Theodore F. Steinmetz, father of Fire Chief Walter Steinmetz, is dead at his home, 1417½ Pay street. He was a resident of Alameda for over 40 years and of California for 50 years. He lived in San Francisco before coming to Alameda. He was a native of Germany.

Four sons and a daughter survive. They are Walter, Bruno, Rudolph, William and Emma Steinmetz. For many years Steinmetz was engaged in the furniture business at Bay station. The funeral will be held Wednesday.

Cottage Destroyed by Fire; Loss $1500

Fire, said to have been caused by a faulty gas heater, destroyed a small cottage occupied by C. C. Reyna at 2911 Mayhelle avenue shortly after 9 o'clock this morning. The building, which was an old structure, was valued at $500, and Reyna valued his household goods at $1000.

George Snoreen, who lives at [illegible]-eighth avenue, estimates his loss as the result of a fire at his residence at 10:20 last night, at $500

"SCOTS' COURAGE" IS DOWNFALL OF ORATING EFFIE

The whole world conspired against Effie McPherson last night.

First it was "whusky." Effie worked all summer, she said, to get some money. Having gotten it, she invested in "Scootch courage." The liquor impelled her to stage an impromptu oration in Jefferson Square.

Then came Policeman Thomas O'Hara into her scheme of life. O'Hara attempted to remonstrate with Effie for singing "Hieland Mary" in uptuned soprano. According to the policeman, Effie's language would have put a sailor to everlasting shame. Whereupon O'Harn attempted to take Miss McPherson into custody.

An hour later O'Hara somewhat disheveled and Effie McPherson entirely unsubdued appeared at the Central Emergency Hospital. Effie had a piece of her ear knocked off. She said the policeman bit her without provocation while she was acting like a lady. O'Hara said she had worn her ear off by falling on the sidewalk. Effie was repaired and locked up for the night.

"Where on earth do you get so much booze?" he asked. "You are always up here."

"I buy it," she said, "like other Scotchmen."

BROWN WITNESS ASKS PROBATION

Mrs. Helen Gregg and Edna Letts, who with Geno Ratto, a local commission merchant, were arrested January 10 at 9602 East Fourteenth street, during a police raid, and charged with making improper entries on a hotel register, asked for probation after pleading guilty before Police Judge Mortimer Smith this morning. They will come up one week from today for sentence.

The arrest of the women followed charges by Edward Gregg, the Gregg woman's husband, that he had been induced to withdraw as star witness against Hermon Loorz, secretary of the Bartender's club, who was on trial for selling liquor without a license. Gregg declared Claude E. Pepper, a salesman for a local clothing store, had offered to "make it right with him" if he would stay out of court.

The police, in the person of Captain Thorvald Brown, Jack Woolley, local saloonman, and other factors, became involved in the matter when Prosecuting Attorney Fred Donahue charged a conspiracy to discredit witnesses whose testimony would have a tendency to convict Loorz. Pepper admitted, after his arrest, that he had first conceived the idea of diverting Gregg when he overheard a conversation in Woolley's saloon which informed him that Gregg was to be the star witness in the case. Loorz was convicted and fined $200. Ratto was dismissed from custody and Pepper comes up in the police courts January 22 for trial.

DEFENSE LEAGUE TRIALS ARE SET

The trial of four officials of the National Defense League of California, charged in a federal indictment with conspiracy to convert to their own uses an aggregate of $20,000 contributed to the war work of the league, was set for trial February 24 by Federal Judge M. T. Dooling in San Francisco today.

Mrs. Phoebe Hearst, the City of Paris, William Cluff company, and many other prominent Californians and business houses are listed among the alleged victims of these officers of the league:

Mason L. Williams, Alice F. Rodger, alias Alyce F. Robie; John H. Suits and Major John J. Jeffery. Williams and Mrs. Robie were field secretaries of the league in this city and Los Angeles respectively.

The woman is alleged to have sought to promote a "charity ball and bazaar" at the Hotel Oakland about a year ago and was prevented by the Oakland police from carrying out her plans.

Draft Board Upheld in Only Complaint

In connection with recent published statements to the effect that Oakland Exemption Board No. 1 was under investigation because of alleged wholesale exemptions, it was announced today that only one complaint had been made against this board and that its action in the matter had been sustained by the Adjutant General's office at Sacramento.

The complaint was in the case of a registrant classified by the board in Class I, Division A. The district board classified the registrant in Class III, subdivision L.

"In the opinion of this office," states the report from the office of Adjutant General J. J. Borree, "the classification by the district board was giving the registrant a very liberal benefit of the doubt and one which subsequent events showed to be wrong. The district board was undoubtedly imposed on. Your action in this matter is fully approved."

Services Are Held for T. C. Tillman

Funeral services for T. C. Tillman, attorney of Oakland, were held this morning at his late residence, 462 Jean street, followed by the celebration of a mass of requiem at St. Francis de Sales Church. Representatives of the Bar Association of Alameda county and Knights of Columbus served as pall-bearers. He was a member of both organizations.

Tillman died on Saturday after an illness of eight days. He was a victim of influenza pneumonia. He is survived by a widow and four children. Formerly Tillman was associated with the law offices of the late Bernard McFadden.

Mothers' Federation Will Hear Law Talk

Oakland Federation of Mothers' clubs, Mrs. Edward Morgan Jones, president, will hold an executive meeting tomorrow, in room 9, Chabot hall; after which Mrs. C. H. Mitchell will conduct a class in parliamentary law. Oakland high school was announced as the meeting place for this class but plans have been changed and Chabot hall, the regular meeting place, will be used.

GREGORY OUT FOR REASONS FINANCIAL

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Thomas Watt Gregory, Attorney-General of the United States since 1914, has resigned because of "pecuniary responsibilities," and will return to the practice of law. President Wilson has agreed to his retirement next March 4.

Gregory's letter of resignation, dated January 9, and the President's reply, cabled from Paris the next day, were made public today at the White House. The Attorney General's letter disclosed that he had long considered retiring from office and had discussed the matter with the President before Wilson went abroad.

Gregory's successor has not yet been appointed and there has been no official intimation as to who he will be.

PUBLICITY STIRS MRS. ABBOTT'S IRE

It isn't so much any longer a question as to who got the Granville Abbott jewels.

At least that is the way Mrs. Abbott, Piedmont society leader, looks at it.

"I think," she said today, "that the question now is, who is going to get as much publicity out of this as possible. As for me, I'm sick and tired of the publicity myself. But I suspect there are some other people who aren't."

Since $5000 worth of jewels were stolen from a safe in her home at 25 Clocker place some weeks ago, Mrs. Abbott has found herself in the public eye. This condition became aggravated recently when Fred Becker, Piedmont chief of police, went to Vallejo and interviewed an ensign there. The ensign had been an occasional week-end guest recently at Mrs. Abbott's home.

Chief Becker announced that the ensign denied any knowledge of the missing jewels, but added that while in San Francisco and Oakland the naval officer had been a devotee of the night life and had spent large sums.

It was at this implication against a former guest that Mrs. Abbott rebelled.

"Nobody had a right to say anything against the ensign or any former guest of mine," she said today. "I am tired of all this publicity myself, but I suspect there are others who aren't."

TWO INDICTMENTS ARE DISMISSED

Two indictments, charging Attorney O. P. Stidger and the late Henry Kennah, of Piedmont, with having been involved in the Angel Island immigration graft conspiracy, were dismissed by United States Attorney Annette A. Adams, when she submitted a nolle prosse to Federal Judge M. T. Dooling this morning, following instructions from Attorney-General Gregory.

In submitting this request, the petition stated: "In these actions the ends of justice do not require further prosecution."

Agathon Hilkemeyer is serving two years on McNeil Island, following a conviction in another of these related cases. He was jointly indicted with Stidger and Kannah as Robert T. Ferguson, government witness, who was sentenced to one year, judgment having been suspended pending an application for executive clemency.

The other untried cases on the calendar this morning were all continued until March 3, with those of Clarence Ebey and E. L. Mills, in which the juries disagreed.

Special War Attorney James F. Colston announced after the adjournment of court that other indictments against Attorney Newburgh and Dr. Schwartz, charging a conspiracy to defraud the government, will be asked by the Federal grand jury at its next meeting.

Veteran Sergeant Back From Service

Quartermaster Sergeant E. H. Shepard of Oakland, prominent Spanish war veteran, and, during the present war, drill instructor at Camp Fremont, has returned to Oakland, having been released from service at the training camp. At the outbreak of the war the veteran sergeant again offered his services, and was soon busy teaching recruits at Camp Fremont. He is an Oakland business man when out of uniform.

SEVERS ARTERY OF WRIST FROM FALL ON GLOBE

ALAMEDA, Jan. 13. — George Tomlinson of 2700 Market street, Oakland, severed a wrist artery yesterday while attempting to fasten an electric bulb in a socket at an oil station at Sherman street and Central. He slipped from the chair he was standing on, falling on the bulb, which broke and splinters of glass penetrated the wrist deeply. He was treated at the emergency hospital by City Physician Arthur Hieronymus.

A similar accident occurred the day before to James Crockett, a school boy of 448 Central avenue, who fell on a milk bottle he was carrying home. The boy cut his hands and wrists in several places and was given treatment at the emergency hospital.

ATTEMPT MADE ON PIANIST'S LIFE

GENEVA, Jan. 13—Ignace Jan Paderewski was slightly wounded when several shots were fired into his hotel room at Warsaw, a despatch from that city reported today. Twenty Bolsheviks were said to have been arrested in connection with the shooting.

Youthful Elopers Caught by Police

The youthful romance of Mildred Thayer, 16 years old, of Bay View Park, Richmond, and Russell May, a marine from Mare Island, was cut short by the police when the young couple, who had vainly attempted to obtain a marriage license, were arrested on complaint of the girl's mother.

The girl left her home Saturday and met her lover.

May is being held by the police pending an investigation and the girl was taken to the detention home to await the arrival of her mother, who will take her home today.

Elks' Farce to Be Given Tonight

ALAMEDA, Jan. 13. — The Alameda Elks will give tonight, at the Strand theater, the opening production of "Above and Below," a successful farce comedy which is to have a two nights' presentation. The cast is composed of well known amateurs. Advance ticket sales promise big houses both tonight and tomorrow night.

The proceeds are for Christmas charity activities of the Alameda lodge. W. E. Varcoe of the Alameda board of education, is in charge of the performance.

22 Deaths in S. F.; Situation Better

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 13.—The report from the Board of Health of the influenza situation here for the twelve hours preceding noon showed a slight improvement both in new cases and deaths, over Saturday, 222 new cases being reported, with twenty-two deaths.

3 INDICTMENTS IN GRAFT DROPPED

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 13.—Demurrers to the indictments returned against Attorney "Sam" Newburgh, Dr. Charles E. Schwartz, Michael Korich, wealthy Watsonville rancher, charging conspiracy to bribe a government physician, Dr. George F. Brackett, were sustained by Federal Judge M. T. Dooling today.

The demurrers charged that the indictments were insufficient and defective in that it was not stated that Dr. Bracket had an official function or in what respect the defendants intended to have him make false reports which would secure the release of women held in the isolation hospital for violation of the federal ten-mile social evil proclamation.

Victim of Bandits Is Severely Beaten

Nicholas Erdlatz, 584 Vermont street, San Francisco, lies at the Receiving Hospital with a badly battered head as the result of an encounter with four hold-up men who attempted to rob him at Thirty-eighth avenue and Foothill boulevard last night.

Erdlatz, according to his story to the police, was going to the home of a friend when the men, who were in an automobile, stopped him and, placing a revolver to his head, ordered him to "shell out." He grappled with his assailants and after a short but fierce struggle was knocked unconscious. The bandits escaped, leaving a hat which the police believe will lead to the capture of the gang.

ASK STREET WORK.

A petition asking the Council to at once institute proceedings for the grading, curbing and guttering of Hegerman avenue, from Thirty-fifth street to the Allendale school, was presented this morning. It was referred to the street department for action.

ARBITRATION DECLINED BY BOAT OWNERS

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—The National War Labor Board, convened by cabled request of President Wilson, decided today, over the objection of private harbor boat owners, to make a finding in the dispute between employers and crews which resulted last week in a strike of 16,000 marine workers and in a tie-up of the port.

Private owners of New York harbor boats, whose employees, together with those of the railroad administration, went to strike last week in an attempt to enforce arbitration of their demands for higher wages and an eight-hour day, refused today to submit their side of the controversy for decision by the War Labor Board.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Legal officers of the government are looking into the question of powers for federal commandeering of privately-owned harbor boats at New York to meet the necessities of the civil population.

ALL FAGGED OUT!

When it looks dark to any weak or ailing woman, if she asks the advice of her neighbor, ten chances to one that good neighbor will tell her that she was dragged down by the pains and ailments of her sex, and was completely cured by a prescription which Dr. Pierce of Buffalo, N. Y., discovered and made the ingredients known to the public many years ago and called "Favorite Prescription." When a woman complains of backache, dizziness or pain—when everything looks black before here eyes—a dragging feeling, or bearing-down, with nervousness, she should turn to this "temperance," herbal tonic, known as Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

It can be obtained in almost every drug store in the land and the ingredients are printed in plain English on the wrapper. Put up in tablets or liquid. Dr. Pierce will send a trial size for 10 cents.

SOCIETY

The varied descriptions of the purse which Miss Mary Garden gave Mrs. Frederick Kohl just previous to Mrs. Kohl's departure from Paris, on her mission to America in behalf of the dying babies of France, reads like the old childhood game of London Bridge.

In the old game the leaders chose sides by offering to the candidates two alluring imaginary gifts such as "Which would you rather have—a diamond house with ruby windows or an emerald house with pearl windows?" and the description of the purse which Mrs. Kohl is offering for sale to the women of America varies in different newspapers all the way from New York to San Francisco. One paper says it is a diamond purse full of rubies—another one says it is a purse of pearls—another describes it as made of gold and set with precious stones—but whatever it is it is said to be very beautiful and worth $25,000.

Tickets for this "London Bridge purse" will arrive in Oakland today. They will be sent to Mrs. H. W. Whitworth, president of the Civic Center, before which Mrs. Kohl spoke recently, and Oakland women will have a chance to own the $25,000 purse.

Whoever finally owns the purse can carry the bauble with a clear conscience, secure in the knowledge that the few pennies she paid for it will go straight to starving babies of France for whose benefit Miss Garden gave the purse to se sold.

Miss Dorothy Allyn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Morgan, was hostess at an informal dinner party Saturday evening at Hotel Oakland, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Rich.

Mr. Rich, who has just received his discharge from the Navy, is about to embark upon a year's cruise on one of the Pacific Mail steamers. Mrs. Rich, who was Miss Helen Dunning of Oakland, will remain here during her husband's absence.

Miss Allyn has little time for social affairs these days, for she is one of Mrs. Wallace Alexander's most reliable members of the Red Cross Canteen Service—and the youngest finding no task too heavy to do, no hour too early at which to meet trains at Oakland Pier. When not occupied with this work, she is serving the boys in khaki and blue at the War Camp Community Service Club House.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Walker, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. George McPherson of Portland, Oregon, motored to Del Monte Saturday morning, returning today.

Mr. and Mrs. McPherson have been at the Hotel Oakland during the Christmas holidays, having their young sons, Billy and Jack McPherson come up from Montezuma school to be here with them. The two lads will return to school tomorrow and Mr. and Mrs. McPherson will leave for Portland.

Mrs. McPherson has many friends in the city who have entertained her informally during her visit; she was formerly Mrs. Ruth Southack and lived in Oakland.

Again the flu steps in and postpones one of the most charming events which is supposed to take place every month—the luncheon of the Council of Allied Arts.

This month's luncheon was to have taken place tomorrow at one of the downtown cafes in San Francisco, but owing to indisposition of Bernard Maybeck, the president, to say nothing of the inability of most of the members to attend the affair has been postponed until next month.

Dr. W. S. Porter, president of the Oakland Art Association, is one of the leaders of this group, which includes the painters, the writers, the musicians, the architects, both in San Francisco and Oakland. Mrs. Horatio Bonestell, Mrs. E. Sievert Weinberg, Mrs. Edward Lacey Brayton and Mrs. Harry Laffler, are among the women from Oakland who always attend these luncheons at which plans are formulated for the furtherance of all the arts throughout the community.

Mrs. Harold Havens has gone to Fresno to spend a few weeks with Mr. and Mrs. D. K. Roberts on their ranch. Mrs. Havens and Mrs. Roberts have been close friends since their school days, and Mrs. Havens is taking advantage of her long, slow convalescence from the flu to visit her chum; it is hoped that the outdoor sports, indulged in, on the big Roberts Ranch, will do much to restore the health of petite Mrs. "Bud" Havens.

Pebble Beach Lodge, the beautiful new hotel on the coast of Monterey, will formally open on February 1, and there is a movement on foot among a number of Oakland's young matrons to "get up a Dutch treat party" for that holiday and help with the house warming. Mr. and Mrs. George Newton and Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Jones are the moving spirits and they expect to add several other young married couples to their party.

The week-end party at the Fred Burnham ranch at Martinez was called off on Saturday because of the very serious illness of Mrs. Percy Murdock, who was to have been one of the guests.

At the very hour at which the party had been arranged to leave Oakland for the ranch, several physicians sat in consultation at Mrs. Murdock's bedside; it is with the greatest relief that her friends are assured today that the crisis has passed.

Funeral Held for Mrs. Ella M. Long

The funeral of Mrs. Ella M. Long, for more than 30 years a resident of the Dimond district, took place this afternoon from a local funeral parlor. A stroke of paralysis was responsible for the death of the pioneer woman, who was 68 years old. Recently the family went to Maritnez to reside. Mrs. Long was in Oakland when she died. She is survived by her husband, Edward Long. For 27 years she was a member of the Fruitvale Presbyterian Church and the first president of the Ladies' Aid.

Jumps From Window and Dies at Hospital

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 13.—John J. Conway, believed to be a laborer from Contra Costa county, ended his life yesterday by jumping from a second-story window of a rooming house at 1134 Mission street. He was taken to the Central Emergency Hospital, where he died of a fracture of the skull. He had occupied the room since January 7.

MASHER IS SMASHED.

Hector Vanier, of the Lloyd hotel, yesterday afternoon pummeled a stranger whom he saw accost his wife on the street after matinee. Mrs. Vanier fainted during the fight and was taken to the Receiving hospital, where she was revived with difficulty.

POLICE PROBE DEATH IN CAR-AUTO SMASH

The police are today investigating the death of Mrs. Zedny Storch, 1908 Mulberry street, Alameda, who was killed almost instantly when she was thrown from an automobile driven by A. T. Sutter, 1002 East Twenty-eighth street, when his machine collided with a Traction Company car at Eighth and Myrtle streets yesterday.

According to Inspectors Agnew and Cannaw, who investigated the accident, Mrs. Storch, with Mrs. Ethel Fletcher, 1010 East Twenty-second street, and Miss Pearl Lockwood, 1002 East Twenty-eighth street, and a man whose name the police have not learned, accepted an invitation from Sutter to take a ride to their home in his machine which he drives for the Oakland Towel Company.

Mrs. Storch, according to the police, sat on Mrs. Fletcher's lap in the front seat of the machine, while Miss Lockwood and the unidentified man sat in the rear of the car.

COLLIDES WITH CAR.

The machine, according to Officer Robinson, who saw the accident, was being driven at a rapid rate on Seventh street when he first saw it. Later the car turned onto Myrtle street and at Eighth street collided with a street car. The force of the impact threw Mrs. Storch from the front seat, and she struck so heavily on the pavement that she was knocked unconscious.

She was picked up and taken to the Receiving hospital, where she died.

Sutter admitted to Inspector Bodie Wallman that he had drank some liquor earlier in the day, but insisted that he was not intoxicated, and Inspector Wallman bears out this statement.

Sutter is being held by the police pending a thorough investigation, but, according to Captain of Inspectors Drew, there is nothing in the evidence so far submitted to warrant placing a charge against Sutter.

The car that collided with the machine was in charge of Conductor F. W. Holt and Motorman E. B. Rowland. The machine was not badly injured and no damage was done to the car.

HUSBAND IS OVERCOME.

ALAMEDA, Jan. 13.—Mrs. Zedney Storch, who was killed in an automobile accident in Oakland last night, went to Oakland yesterday afternoon to visit her sisters, Mrs. Ethel Fletcher and Mrs. Hannah M. Lockwood, of Twenty-eighth and Filbert streets, Oakland. Her husband is an employee of the Pacific Coast Borax Company. He planned to go with his wife yesterday to visit the wife's sisters, but was asked to work at the plant in West Alameda Sunday and the wife went to Oakland alone. Her husband expected Mrs. Storch home at 5 o'clock and waited till 8 last night, when he was notified that his wife had been killed. Storch collapsed under the news.

That the women asked him to take them for a ride and he consented, is the assertion today of A. F. Sutter, who was driving the California Towel and Supply Company auto which was struck by a street car at Myrtle and Eighth streets, resulting in the death of one woman and the injury of the other. Sutter is being held pending investigation of his statements.

Mrs. Zedney Storch, 1908 Mulberry street, Alameda, who was instantly killed, was the wife of a mechanic employed by the Pacific Coast Borax Company. Her companion, who was only slightly injured, was Mrs. Ethel Fletcher, 1010 Twenty-eighth street.

Three empty beer bottles were found in the auto after the crash, according to the police, and Sutter had a flask of whisky in a pocket.

VALLEJO, Jan. 12. — Stefino Bricali, a resident of Cordelia, who was badly injured in an automobile accident in Napa county on new year's day, passed away at the Vallejo general hospital, Saturday. According to Dr. A. V. Doran, who had charge of the case, Bricali's spine was broken when his car turned turtle on the highway after striking the rear wheel of another machine.

Pagano Angelleno, another Cordelia man who was in the car with Bricalli, was also taken to the hospital for treatment, but was discharged the next day, as it was found that he was not badly hurt.

Neither Bricalli or Angelleno or the three other occupants of the auto, has as yet been able to give any information as to who owned the machine that caused the accident.

FIVE ARE KILLED.

LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 13. — Five members of a Lincoln family—Miles E. McKnight, aged 54; a son of fifteen, a daughter of twelve, a married daughter of 20, by name Mrs. Sylvia Taylor, and the year and a half old baby of the latter—were killed yesterday evening when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by a Rock Island passenger train at a crossing a short distance east of Lincoln.

The automobile was ground to bits by the impact, and the deaths of the occupants were almost instantaneous. The side curtains of the automobile were up and McKnight apparently did not see the approaching train, driving squarely in front of the engine.

SAN JOSE, Jan. 13.—J. Clark of Willow street, his wife and two children, were slightly bruised when their machine crashed into a machine driven by Robert Kirkwood of Twenty-fourth and Santa Clara streets. The accident happened at Twenty-fourth street.

BERKELEY, Jan. 13.—While playing in the street at University and San Pablo avenues, where she was visiting friends, Dorothy Read, 4 years old, was run down last evening by an automobile driven by Fred Lindermann, well known business man of Alameda residing at 2001 Alameda avenue, in that city.

The child was taken to Roosevelt Hospital, where he injuries were found to be slight. She was later taken to he home, 3025 King street, by Lindermann.

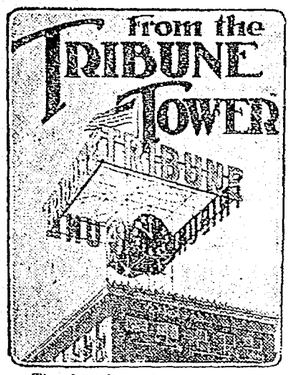
From the TRIBUNE TOWER



The burglar who stole $75 worth of phonograph records from a Berkeley dancing sanitorium recently has nothing on Henry Hubbard of Melrose, when it comes to jazz music. For Hubbard has a jazz piece that holds the world's record. Every time he plays it the dishes fall off his wife's shelf.

Hubbard has one of those dictating machines that make an office safe for matrimony by doing away with a blonde stenographer. You speak your thoughts through a funnel onto a cylinder. When you get lonesome you run the cylinder in a phonograph and hear yourself as others hear you. That part was all right. But Hubbard conceived a diabolical idea.

He made a record of a pneumatic "bull" gun driving rivets at the Moore Shipyard. He was expecting a couple of ironworker friends up to dinner Sunday night and wanted them to feel at home. When they arrived he opened a couple of bottles, slid out the cheese into public view and put on the record.

Nothing like it has ever been heard. A battle at Verdun was a heavenly slumber compared to it. It was so natural that one one of the iron workers pulled out a tag and began to figure his overtime. Everybody felt at home until the family in the next apartment came over en masse and bellowed a high pressure protest through the din. Then Hubbard shut it off.

Hubbard wants to start his machine going and lock the talker in the same room. He declares it will beat any punishment the allies can think up.

HE HAD STUMBLED OVER HIM IN DARK.

We would like to know this man better. He came into the business office last night and left an ad—just a small classified ad. He explained that his wife had lost her dog and wanted him to advertise for it and he had written out something and would what he had written be about the right thing. The man downstairs read the ad, chuckled, grinned with appreciation and said it would. Here is the ad:

"LOST—A ragged, fat, wheezy pug dog, mean disposition, large appetite, watery eyes and a bad case of bronchitis. Snores in his sleep, is always under somebody's feet and a general nuisance. Reward $2 if returned alive and $5 if returned stuffed. Address Box 237."

We know, oh we know, how that man feels!

NOT AT FIFTEEN CENTS PER MONTH.

Timothy Dorgan, liquerateur, held open house on New Year's night to a party of friends. A lot of theatrical people dropped in to add their mite to the night's disharmonies. One of the party, a "heavy," had a very, very large mouth. Privately, he is very proud of that mouth, especially when rounding dramatic periods behind the footlights, but that was before he went to Dorgan's.

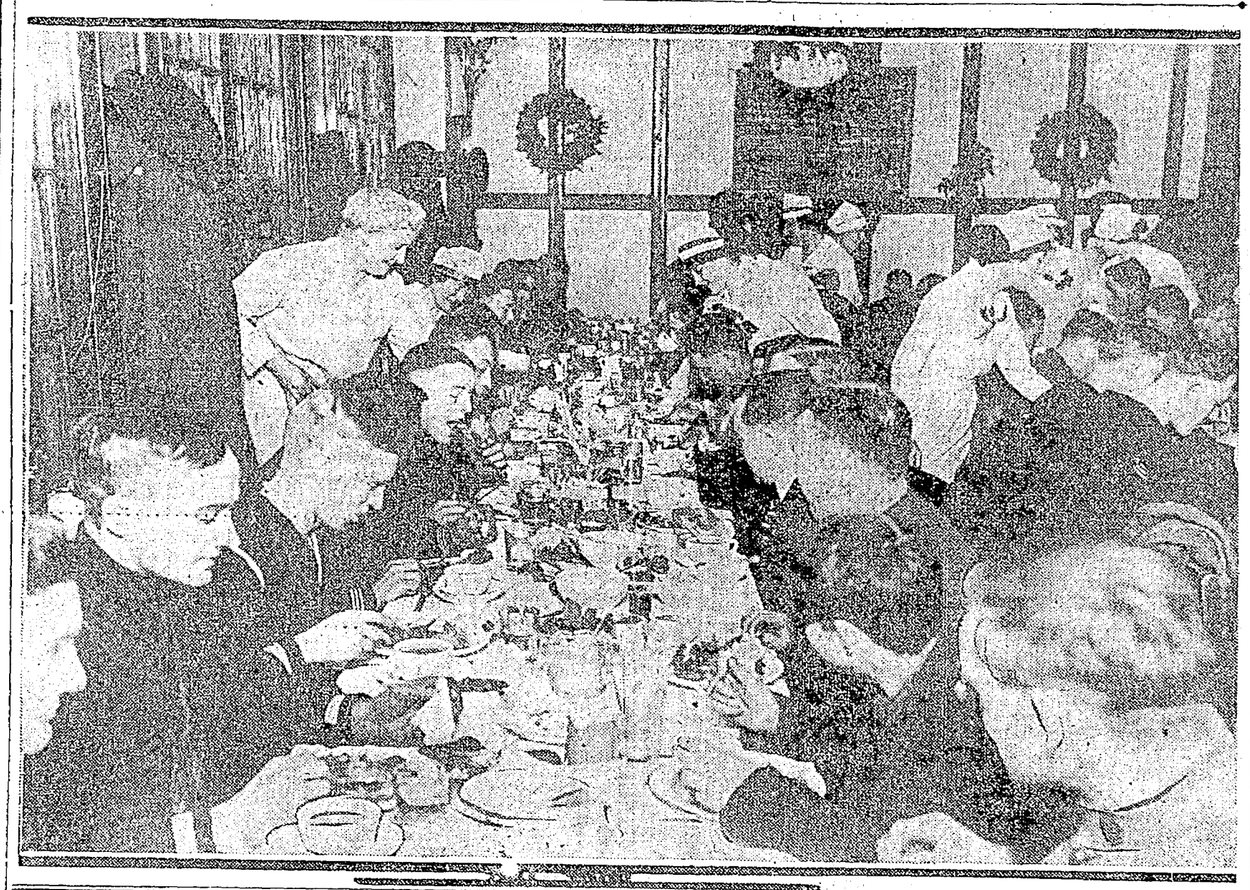
Somebody bought a drink in a moment of carelessness, whereupon Dorgan reciprocated. He turned to the heavy.

"What'll you have?" he asked.

"Oh, I'll take a mouthful of whisky," said he

"By golly you will not," said Dorgan. "You'll be taking the same as the rest of us."

Is your boy here? With thousands of American heroes returning from "over there" New York finds work cut out in caring for their wants. The War Camp Community Service is to the fore with hospitality and the picture shows the Harvard unit plying some of the boys with food and smiles. The unit didn't ask a man his degree when it filled his plate. There was only one fraternity—U. S. A.



Kitchen Economies

by Isobel Brands of the Applecroft Experiment Station

STEAMED DATE BREAD.

1 cupful of rye meal
½ cupful of flour
1½ cupfuls of cornmeal
2-3 cupful molasses
1 cupful of water
1 cupful of milk
1 cupful of dates
1½ teaspoonfuls of soda

Sift together all dry ingredients, then add the molasses, milk, water and the stoned, chopped dates. Pour into greased moulds and steam for three hours.

BOSTON BROWN BREAD.

1 cupful of buckwheat flour
1 cupful of graham
1 cupful of cornmeal
½ cupful of cornmeal
½ cupful of rye
½ cupful of graham flour.
1 cupful of sour milk
1-4 cupful of molasses
½ teaspoonful of salt
¾ teaspoonful of soda

Sift the dry ingredients, then add the milk, molasses and beat thoroughly.

Pour into a greased mould and steam 3½ hours. Or if a covered mould is available, pour into this, cover tight, and cook in boiling water for about three hours.

If sour milks or buttermilk isn't available a good brown bread can be made by substituting sweet milk or water.

BROWN BREAD (WITHOUT SOUR MILK.)

1¾ cupfuls of milk or water
¾ teaspoonful of soda
1 teaspoonful of baking powder
1 teaspoonful of salt
¾ cup of molasses

Sift together the dry ingredients, then add the molasses and water and mix well. Grease mould and pour in the mixture and steam for three hours.

Remember not to fill the mould or cans to the top when pouring in the mixture, as it will have no room to expand. Fill only two-thirds full.

Adele Garrison's New REVELATIONS OF A WIFE

Is There Really a Reason for Madge to Be Troubled?

The sound of that partly suppressed feminine laugh coming to my ears over the telephone wire from Dicky's studio while I was talking to him affected me much as a smart slap in the face might have done.

But while I mentally tingled from the unexpectedness of it, I knew that I must let no sign of my feeling reach my husband's consciousness. So I resolutely put the incident aside for future consideration, and made my voice matter-of-fact.

"I have arranged for a taxi to meet you at the Crest Haven station at the last train tonight," I told him. "It is really too bad a storm out here for you to attempt to walk."

"What nonsense!" Dicky retorted irritably. "I told you it wouldn't hurt me to walk. Besides, if the storm gets too bad I thought of staying in town."

I winced at this. It was something new for Dicky. But my voice was steady as I replied:

"You will, of course, please yourself about that."

I think the coolness of my retort nettled Dicky. I have found that it always is the most effective way of managing him. Indifference piques him, where storms, tears, cajoling would never affect him.

"But, of course, if you've engaged the fellow," he grumbled, and I smiled inwardly at his tone, "I suppose I'd better come out anyway. What's that?"

The last two words shot abruptly, and I knew from their sound that his face was turned away from the mouthpiece of the telephone. Before I realized the situation, I had answered:

"Why, I didn't say anything, Dicky."

DICKY'S TONE CHANGES.

I heard a quick intake of his breath, as if he were momentarily confused, then his voice, much kinder than before:

"Oh, I beg your pardon. I thought you did. This wire is beastly, anyway. Now don't worry. I'll be out on that last train, and as long as you're going to have the taxi anyway, I might as well bring out those things from the antique shop that have been knocking around here so long. I might put something else in my pocket for a good little girl if she isn't cross."

His tone was elaborately playful. I had hard work to make my voice amiable, and I made my reply as brief as possible.

"Then everything is all right," I said. "Goodbye."

I hung up the receiver, sank into the nearest chair and prepared to thrash out with myself the jealousy which had seized me when I heard the feminine giggle over the telephone.

I knew as well as if the telephone had been equipped with photographic apparatus the scene that was being enacted in Dicky's studio while I was talking to him.

By my telephoning I had interrupted the visit, casual or planned, of some girl to the studio. Because for years I had listened to the widely differing notes of schoolgirl giggles I was able to classify the note of laughter I had heard.

It was not the mirth of a very young girl, nor yet the more strident note of the older woman who cannot restrain the impulse to laugh at everything and nothing. It was rather the joyousness of a girl past the schoolgirl stage, whose contacts in the work-a-day world has not yet been long enough materially to dampen her spirits.

I reflected that Dicky and she must be on very good terms for her to interrupt his telephone conversation as I knew she had done when he turned his head away from the telephone and asked "What's that?" I had cause for reflection also in his unusual playfulness during the minutes immediately succeeding her interruption. It evidently was no part of his plan for me to know anything about this visitor to his studio.

THOUGHTS THAT TROUBLE.

Who was she? That, of course, was the question of most importance to me. And I had not far to look for the answer. I knew it even before I asked it. Before the eyes of my brain there flashed again the Kodak print I had found in the drawer of Dicky's chiffonier, the picture of Dicky standing in a mock heroic attitude in his studio, and kneeling before him two remarkably pretty girls in cleverly burlesqued gratitude. I knew that I should never forget the words written under the print:

"Rescuer and rescued, Dickybird, Edith and Leila, President's Speech, Madison Square Garden."

Either Edith or Leila, the Virginia art students, to whose rescue in the crowd Dicky had gone that night, leaving me stranded in the mob, was his visitor at the studio.

I felt the old weariness of spirit creep over me. I had hoped that with the going away of Grace Draper that I had seen the last of outside feminine influence upon my husband.

But that musical laugh troubled me sorely.

Fish Prices

The following are the maximum retail prices for these varieties of fish on January 13, 1919, in San Francisco, Oakland, Alameda and Berkeley. Dealers are free to sell at lower prices, but should not charge more. Purchasers who are overcharged are invited to make complaint in writing to the State Market Director:

	Cts. per lb.
Skate	05
Striped bass, weighing 5 lbs. or under	22½
Catfish	25
Sardines	08
Herring	07

Durability and smartness of line combine to make the success of this street dress of navy blue tricotine. The front of the gown is cut straight and loose like a middy blouse. It is embroidered with black silk to form parallel motifs. These motifs are repeated on a long loose panel on the back of the dress. This panel turns under a belt of black silk Hercules braid. The panel is also embroidered in black silk. Small black soutache ball buttons outline the bell sleeves, which are cut in two sections.

(By Howard R. Garis.)

"Are you going to be very busy?" asked Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, the muskrat lady housekeeper of Uncle Wiggily Longears, the bunny rabbit gentleman, one day.

"Oh, not so very," he answered. "I'm just going off in the woods to look for an adventure——"

"I didn't mean busy now," spoke Nurse Jane. "I know you always want to look for adventures during the day. I meant busy this evening. Don't you want to come with me?"

"Do you mean to the moving pictures?" asked the bunny.

"No, I mean to a corn-husking bee that Mr. and Mrs. Roughtail, the rats, are going to have at their house," said Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy.

"A corn-husking bee!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily. "Well, I am afraid I don't care very much for bees. I like their honey, but the bees might sting me."

"Not this kind of a bee!" laughed Nurse Jane. "A corn-husking bee means that we all go to the house of Mr. and Mrs. Roughtail, and there we'll be as busy as bees husking corn for them, or taking off the outside covering so the corn kernels will be all ready to eat this winter. That's a corn husking bee. It will be like a little party, with good things to eat and——"

"Oh, then I'll come, of course!" said Uncle Wiggily with a laugh.

Then he went out to hop over the fields and through the woods for an adventure. But nothing much happened to him, except that he helped Lulu Wibblewobble, the duck girl, find her neck ribbon, that she lost in a mud puddle.

And that night, after he had given his pink nose an extra twinkle or two, and polished his tall silk hat with the stove blacking brush, Uncle Wiggily and Nurse Jane went to the corn-husking bee at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roughtail, the lady and gentleman rats.

"My! There's quite a party!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily as they reached the front door and saw many of the animal folk crowding in. "I hope they have enough for every one to eat. I'm hungry!"

"Oh, they always have lots of good things at a husking bee!" said Nurse Jane.

Then she and Uncle Wiggily went in and found themselves among many friends. There was Dr. Possum, Mr. and Mrs. Wibblewobble, the ducks; Mr. and Mrs. Littletail, the rabbits, and Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Twistytail, the pig gentleman and lady. Besides, there were Sammie and Susie, the rabbits; Johnnie and Billie Bushytail, the squirrels, and many other of the animal boys and girls.

"Now, if you're all ready we'll begin husking the corn," said Mr. Roughtail, whose tail really was like a file, it was so rough. He used it to scratch his whiskers with.

Out to the big kitchen he led his company, and on the floor was a big pile of corn with the husks or covering still on the ears.

"Pull the husks off the corn and toss the ears into baskets, said Mr. Roughtail. "When we get all through we'll have some pie and cheese and other things."

So they all said they would and then Uncle Wiggily and Nurse Jane and the others began husking the corn.

But, all of a sudden, when everything was going along in a most jolly style, along came a bad old Pommeroon. Now, a Pommeroon is like a Pipsisewah, only worse, and as soon as this Pommeroon saw all the animal folk gathered together in Mr. Roughtail's kitchen he licked his chops and said:

"Oh, what a fine lot of souse I'll have!"

Into the kitchen he jumped and just then Uncle Wiggily found a red ear of corn.

"Don't any one dare to move!" cried the bad old Pommeroon. "If you do I'll bite you!"

"Ha! I guess you'll be the one to move!" cried brave Uncle Wiggily. Then he threw the red ear of corn straight at the Pommeroon, and it hit the bad creature on the face, and when he saw the red ear fall to the ground the Pommeroon cried:

"Oh, my nose is bleeding! My nose is bleeding! I guess I don't want any souse tonight!" Then, thinking the red ear of corn was his nose bleed, which it wasn't at all, away ran the Pommeroon, very much frightened, and Uncle Wiggily and all the rest were safe and they had a fine time and lots to eat at the corn-husking bee.

Steady Caller Only a Name For Compromiser

SAYS WINIFRED BLACK

Winifred Black

He's been coming to see her every Saturday and Wednesday evenings for four years.

Whenever the little set to which they both belong gives a party, He takes Her, as a matter of course.

If there's a picnic they go together, and on Sunday nights he always takes her home from church. Sometimes he comes for dinner Sunday, and they spend the afternoon reading, or if the weather is pleasant, they take a walk.

This man is older than the girl by several years.

He has a good little business in a thriving little city, and to all appearances he is perfectly able to manage.

Two years ago he tried to kiss the girl goodnight, but she told him she was saving all that kind of thing for the man she would marry some day.

Since that he has been merely friendly. The man has a good reputation, a good position, and seems a sensible, practical sort of a chap. There is no doubt in the world that he is very fond of the girl, but—he has never asked her to marry him.

GIRL'S FATHER TAKES HAND.

The other day father told daughter that either she must announce her engagement to the man or the man must stop compromising her with his attentions. The girl tried to go out with other men, but that just made the Regular Caller call a little oftener, and be a little more devoted—he seemed jealous, but he didn't say "marry" once.

Every one is teasing the girl about the man, and the other night she plucked up courage to say to him that she hated to be gossiped about, and the man said that he had been "jollied" so much that he never paid any more attention to what people said—and now the girl is fairly desperate and has written to me to ask we what in the world to do.

She loves the man and she thinks the man loves her. But why doesn't he ask her to marry him?

Her mother is dead and she's afraid her father will do something disagreeable.

NOW FOR THE ANSWER.

Here's my answer:

How in the world can you love such a creature?

He's very comfortable as he is, thank you—why should he assume new responsibilities?

Why set up housekeeping, at a considerable expense, when he can get all the comforts of home without spending a cent?

He binds you, dear girl, by the compromise of his attention, and leaves himself perfectly free to change his mind and marry somebody else at the last minute, when you are faded and he is tired of you.

There are lots of such men in the world, but, thank goodness, there are not many such girls as you. If there were, there wouldn't be half the ringing of the wedding bells that there is.

DON'T BE AT HOME.

Don't be at home when the Steady Caller calls, or if you are at home, see that somebody else is with you, and that the somebody else doesn't go till the Steady Caller has gone, too—be sure of that.

Pack up your trunk and make a little visit to some friend in another town. Don't say that you're going till the last minute; treat it all very casually, and when you get there—don't write, or if you do write, drop him a note and tell him you are having a lovely time.

Give him a dose of his own medicine, and it may bring him to time. If it doesn't—put him out of your mind and out of your heart, and don't think of letting him monopolize you until your youth is gone and your beauty is faded and nobody else wants you, and you haven't the heart left to want any one else.

Your father ought to have interfered a year ago—or two years ago. Nobody in the world but an old-fashioned American father would think of allowing any one on earth to compromise his daughter in any such way as that.

It's time we Americans learned a little common sense from the French and the English and the Italians and the rest of the world.

I hope you'll meet somebody else when you go away on your visit and have a wedding before you come back to your home town.

The receipt of your wedding card might wake the Steady Caller from his selfish, calculating dream of getting everything and giving nothing.

I don't believe a man like that could ever make any warm-hearted, affectionate, generous girl happy if he did marry her—not if he tried a thousand years.

TRIBUNE'S DAILY ALMANAC

Conducted by AD. SCHUSTER.

Views and symptoms have been aired in almanacs since the fifth century. It was when old Nostradamus called the turn on the death of Henry II that predicting became a favorite almanacian sport. Since that time any number of side issues have been invented until now anything that may be put into an almanac is in its proper place.

JANUARY.

Since the time January was named after the two-faced Roman god Janus the month has been a festival one for those who make and break resolutions. Until 1851 it stumbled along in an unofficial and informal way and it was then that the British parliament, by special act, designated it the first month in the year. Before that time persons who shouted "Happy New Year" on January first were regarded with suspicion as acting without precedent. The month bears a warning for two-faced men and for those who hold parliaments never do anything that is enduring.

How You May Make Nose Appear Beautiful

By LUCREZIA BORI

The Famous Spanish Prima Donna.

All the features have a strong influence on the expression, but the nose dominates the face. If the nose is beautiful the modeling of the entire head is apt to conform to its lines. If it's too big or too little the entire face seems shaped by this feature.

To change the shape of the nose isn't within the province of anyone but the skilled surgeon. You shouldn't let vanity urge you into an operation for improving the shape of your nose unless it has been broken through injury and requires resetting. Aside from the value of a good nose as an attribute to beauty, it is said to indicate character as no other feature of the face does.

There are some analysts who say that the eyes are the windows of the soul. Others insist that the mouth expresses the personality of every individual, while still other wise ones maintain that the keynote to a person's character is found in the chin.

Sculptors and artists will tell you that the nose balances the entire modeling of your head. There are many seemingly commonplace things that you may do to beautify your nose and improve the expression and outline of your face and head.

Possibly it seems strange to say that you should first begin with the arrangement of your hair, but this is, nevertheless, the first step in giving the proper setting to your nose. Conversely the shape of your nose should govern the arrangement of your hair. This rule is imperative, because your nose should be studied in profile, so that the arrangement of the coiffure may conform to the style that displays your nose to the best advantage.

The girl with the ideally straight nose we won't consider. She is blessed and should need no instructions in this line.

The girl with the tip-tilted or "retrousse" nose has much license in dressing her hair. Usually the fluffy pompadour effect is best adapted to her features. Hair parted on the side, waved and brought well down over the ears is also usually becoming to the girl with an upturned nose.

The Roman or aquiline nose requires the most careful study. This type of nose is said to be indicative of aristocratic descent, though many owners of these high-bridged noses would gladly sacrifice a bit of "the look of race" to have more regular features. This type of nose usually conforms best to the Psyche or low knot form of coiffure. The massing of the hair at the back of the head balances the line of the large nose, and gives a more classic contour to the face. So much for the coiffure.

The next step in acquiring a beautiful nose is to make the best of what nature has bestowed upon you.

Above all, you should keep your nose free from blackheads. The pores of the nose are more apt to clog than those on any other portion of the body.

Your nose should be washed with a good soap and warm water every night before retiring. This, of course, applies to your whole face, but your nose should be especially well lathered. This will help to overcome blackheads.

For obstinate cases of blackheads the following astringent lotion will be found beneficial:

Sulphate of zinc.... 1 dram
Sulphate of potash.. 1 dram
Rosewater ..... 4 ounces

Mason, Wyndham, 2 Noted Actors, Dead

STAMFORD, Conn., Jan. 13.—John Mason, the actor, is dead today in a local sanitarium, where he had been undergoing treatment for the past week following a breakdown in Providence. The cause of death was given as Bright's disease and myocarditis.

Mason had been preparing for his appearance in a new play under the management of A. H. Wood when he was stricken. Wood is making arrangements for the funeral, which will probably be held in New York.

Sir Charles Wyndham, actor and theatrical manager and promoter, was at one time almost as well known in America as in his native country. He died at the age of 82.

He fought in the American Civil War, and was a brother-in-law of the American dramatist, Bronson Howard. Sir Charles first appeared on the American stage with John Wilkes Booth, brother of Edwin Booth and assassin of Abraham Lincoln. Educated principally in Germany, he acted in German as well as in English. He built and opened Wyndham's and the New York Theaters in London.

Protestants to Ask Fund of $10,000,000

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—Amounts to be raised by eleven of the fourteen leading Protestant denominations which will start in a few weeks a co-operative national campaign to obtain $10,000,000 for the after-the-war emergency needs of the churches, was announced today by the committee in charge of the basis of tentative estimates.

The amounts are:

Methodist Episcopal $2,000,000; Presbyterian, $1,750,000; Lutheran, $500,000; Baptist, $300,000; Protestant Episcopal, $250,000; Disciples of Christ, $125,000; Reformed Church in the United States, $110,000; Congregational, $100,000; Reformed Church in America, $70,000; Evangelical Synod, $33,000; United Evangelical, $10,000.

Catcher Dorman Stars in Game Lost by Vitts Grays to Halton-Didiers at Alameda Ball Yard

By Eddie Murphy

The advance dope on the game yesterday afternoon at Lincoln Park was right. The game between the Vitt Grays and the Halton-Didiers proved the best in the Bay Counties Midwinter League this season. In fact, it was a better game than a lot of those staged by high-class semi-pro players. For thirteen innings Fodder Dolan, pitching for the Grays, and Artie Benham for the Halton-Didier team, battled, and it was that famous "jinx" inning that brought about a 2-to-1 defeat for Dolan and the Grays and allowed the Halton-Didiers to step to within a half game of the league leading Crystal Laundry team.

But while the Halton-Didier team proved the winner, the Grays boasted the individual star of the game. It was Charley ("Legs") Dorman, the young catcher who is now under contract to the San Francisco Seals. No young catcher was ever applauded for his work by the fans as was young Dorman.

It was the wonderful throwing to bases, and the sparkling catches of high fouls and infield flies that more than a half dozen times caused the fans to wonder how it was that Joe Vitt was able to hold such a fine prospect on his team. In almost every other inning he pulled some unforeseen trick to help Fodder Dolan and the Grays. His greatest performance was in the eleventh inning when he ran sixty feet to make a great catch of a foul about to light on the Halton-Didier bench. That was only one of the four great catches of high fly balls that he made, while he caught four runners napping on the bases. In the eighth inning he nipped Babe Danzig off third base, by outguessing him and Scanlon on a framed double steal. There were many features to the great contest, but Dorman's work will long remain in the minds of those fans who saw the game. Even Clarence Brooks, the Seal catcher, said that he never saw a catcher perform as did the young sandlot product of San Francisco.

AMATEURS PLAYED LIKE BIG LEAGUERS.

There was only one bad feature to the game and that was to have it end in the way it did. The majority of the fans became so enthused that they were wishing for the contest to run on until darkness and find in a tie score. It was a heart-breaker for any team to lose, and after watching that game and the one of the Sunday before, the fans of Alameda must by this time have come to the conclusion that the present Bay Counties Midwinter League is the greatest amateur one to be formed. The "kids" played like big leaguers, and they put their hearts into the game as though it was for a world championship. One of the most daring pieces of thievery to be witnessed on a baseball diamond was performed by Eddie Campion, the little second sacker of the Vitt Grays. It was in the fourth inning that a runner was on first and second bases, he got to a side-way lap into the air and speared a line drive off the bat of Scanlon with his bare hand. There were so many fielding features that if we went on to explain them we would soon forget about the hard toiling of Artie Benham and Fodder Dolan.

The one run made by the Vitt Grays was an earned one, but no sooner had they made it, when the Halton-Didiers were helped by errors made by Estes and Barsotti in the seventh inning. Figuring the games on "runs earned" the game should have ended in the ninth inning with the score 1 to 0 in favor of the Grays, but there would be no need for an error column unless they helped in winning games. And another thing must be taken into consideration, and that is the way that Artie Benham pitched after the Grays had made that one run. For the remaining seven innings, Benham shut out the Grays with nary a run or hit, and not a runner got as far as first base. On the other hand, it was Dolan that brought about the victory for the Halton-Didiers by making a wild pitch and allowing the winning run to score from third base.

GRAYS FIND BENHAM EASY TO HIT IN EARLY INNINGS.

The way the Grays started to hit the slants of Benham in the first inning, a big score seemed certain, but Benham got better the further he went, after the seventh inning. After two were away for the Grays in the first inning, an error by Captain Jack Conger gave Price a life, and he moved to second on Barsotti's single. Chet Bertolacci followed with another hit to left and a great throw by "Mope" Meyers nipped Price at the plate, he might have landed safely had he not stumbled and lost his stride.

Spoonmore and Dalon both hit safely for the Grays after two were out in the second, but Campion killed off any chance of a score by forcing Dolan at second. Two hits put a couple of men on for the Halton-Didiers in the fifth inning, but a force hit by Benham spoiled the chance. Estes started the trouble for Benham in the sixth inning by hitting safely to right. Abe Price beat out a swinging bunt in front of the plate, Estes going to second. Barsotti tried for a sacrifice and hit to Benham, who winged the ball to third in time to get Estes. "Lefty" Beeson batting for Bertolacci, who injured his foot, ducked his head while three perfect strikes went over the plate. Then came "Speed" Gadsden with a sizzling hit, the ball bumping against the right field fence, Price scoring; Dorman fanned.

Barsotti booted Scanlon's grounder to help the Halton-Didiers tie the score in the seventh. Chase hit to Estes, who also booted, and second and first bases were occupied. Truck Kues laid down a perfect butt, and beat it out, both Dolan and Dorman trying their best to field the ball. Benham forced Scanlon at the plate when he hit to Dolan. There was a chance for a double play, in getting the man going to third, but Dorman held the ball too long at the plate. Meyers bounced one off Dolan's shins, Campion recovering the ball in time to get the runner at first, but too late to prevent Chase from scoring. Heister lined to Barsotti, the infielder going into the air to grab the drive.

Twice in the eighth inning the Halton-Didiers got men to third base, but failed to score, and the game went until the thirteenth. Kilhullen opened that inning by hitting safely to left field, and Babe Danzig was the victim of one of Dorman's great catches of a foul fly. Scanlon flied to Spoonmore in right field, the catch being made against the screen. Then Addie Chase, who had warmed the bench for a couple of Sundays before, stepped to the plate and drove out his third hit of the day. A sound wallop to left field and Kilhullen went to third. With one strike on Kues, Dolan cut loose his fatal wild pitch and Kilhullen scampered home with the winning run, as the Grays went out in succession in their half of the thirteenth.

Laundry Team Whitewashed By C. Pruiett

Chubby Chucker Lets Crystal Outfit Down With One Blow.

Charley Pruiett must have reserved an extra puzzling assortment of twisters to uncork before the batters of the Crystal Laundry team at Fruitvale Recreation park yesterday afternoon, for the chubby hurler set them down with only one hit and won his game by a 3 to 0 score. Doc Silva was the gent to get the lone hit, and there was a little question about him getting a second one, although the majority ruled that he landed safely at first because of a wild heave.

But had that scratch hit been allowed, it would make no difference in the score, as the old shotputter was shooting them by so fast that the league leaders hardly knew what they had their bats for. The hit off Pruiett came in the first inning, and after that Charles proceeded to strike the Crystals out or make them hit weakly to the infield.

On the other hand, Al Canty, the southpaw, was touched rather freely. It was in the first and second inning that the game was cinched. Hits by Bankhead and Dooley and Pep Prentice being hit by a pitched ball accounted for the first run. Two were out in the second inning when Paulino was safe on an error by Edwards, went to second on a walk to Pruiett and scored on a hit by Tobin to right field.

In the fourth inning, Clark Boldt singled, Osgood sacrificed, Paulino was hit by a pitched ball, Tobin walked to fill the bags, and Bankhead was also hit by a pitched ball to force Boldt over the plate. In the eighth inning Pruiett fanned Foy, Tifer and Canty in a row. The score:

F. BARRIEAU AND GEORGE SHADE MATCHED

Dave Symon, the demon matchmaker of the auditorium shows, wore his thinking cap for two complete and entire days and this morning was able to announce that Frank Barrieau and George Shade would provide the main event a week from Wednesday night. Joe Coffey will make his first start away from Dreamland rink when he hooks up with Danny Edwards. After announcing these bouts the demon matchmaker donned his thinking cap again but he will have some more news tomorrow. There is a chance that Georgie Adams will be on the card but nothing definite has been done in the matter. Adams was given a boxing lesson by Dundee last week but he may want to re-establish himself.

Sailors at Mare Island Organize Summer Team

VALLEJO, Jan. 13.—Now that the sailors at the Mare Island Training Station have announced that they have organized a crack baseball nine it is expected that the Marines will come forward with a statement during the next few days showing they have also formed a ball club for the 1919 season. Local fans are looking forward to some hot games between these two rival service organizations this summer, and it is possible that the navy and marine teams may be taken into a league.

Local Boxers Will Show in Sacramento Ring Thursday Night

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 13. — A supply of Oakland and San Francisco boxing talent will be brought here by Matchmaker Anell Hoffman of the Capital Athletic club, to appear in a boxing show to be held under the direction of that club next Thursday night. Charley S. Moy of San Francisco, will meet Felix Villomar, the Filipino Wildcat, in the main event.

Jack Davis of Oakland will display his punching force against Youngy Frenchie of this city; Soldier Wildcat Leonard of Fort McDowell will box Steve Dalton of Mare Island; Soldier Haney of Mather Field will box Tommy Thompson of San Francisco.

Sequoyah Boasts Champ Mrs. M. Bernard in Form

MRS. M. BERNARD, champion of the Sequoyah Club and who will be a strong contender for the championship of Northern California at the next tournament. Mrs. Bernard won the championship at Del Monte in the recent New Year's tournament.

Will Sequoyah boast of the 1919 Northern California woman golf champion?

Members of the club are pinning their faith on Mrs. M. Bernard, winner of the New Year's tournament at Del Monte and the present champion of the Sequoyah ladies. She has been turning in exceptionally low scores the past few weeks and is improving with every game. Her driving, which was always a feature of her play, is stronger than ever and she has been making long puts with startling regularity.

Yesterday Mrs. Bernard, with Mrs. L. James and Mrs. E. J. Hadden went over the course and turned in low score cards.

There may be other prospective champions in Northern California, but out at the Sequoyah Club they think Mrs. Bernard will win the title.

Julius Young, of the Sequoyah Country Club, gained further fame yesterday when he holed a 20-foot putt and won a foursome on the 27th green. Saturday Young captained the Downstairs team who defeated the Upstairs golfers in a series of four-ball matches and he was the hero of the links and also at the banquet table Saturday night. Yesterday Young and W. H. Scott tackled Louis James and M. Bernard in a foursome and the match was even up at the eighteenth hole. The next eight holes were halved and the shades of night were preparing to do their well-known falling and were doing the job at their well-known speed when the situation was passed squarely up to Julius. He had a twenty-foot putt right in front of him and if he made it the match was over. Julius addressed the ball in the most endearing terms, made a few passes and then tapped the little sphere squarely on the nose. The ball rolled gently across the green, hopped over several tall blades of grass and found a resting place in the hole.

State Home for Aged Lawyers Is Proposed

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 13.—The establishment of a home for aged and dependent lawyers was proposed in a bill introduced today by Senator Scott of San Francisco. The bill would have a commission composed of the governor, attorney general and chief justice of the state Supreme Court to supervise the home. Funds for its establishment would be provided by having the county clerk in each county charge an extra fee of 25 cents for each civil petition or proceeding filed in his office.

MAE MARSH AT THE AMERICAN

Mae Marsh in "The Racing Strain," the feature photoplay of the high class entertaining double program now being presented at the American theater. It is seen in a role which affords ample opportunity for the display of her remarkable ability to realistically depict diversity of emotions.

Miss Marsh portrays the character of a young Southern belle who is the principal actor in a series of unusual adventures and exciting incidents which take place in old Kentucky and on the famous Saratoga race track.

A delightful romance is pleasingly woven into the clever plot and there are many humorous scenes which relieve the tensity of the drama.

Madlaine Traverse, the beautiful and talented emotional actress, in "The Danger Zone," the second feature production on the program, appears in the character of Lola Dupre, a woman who lived in a glass house, in constant fear that the secrets of her past life might be revealed.

The drama is intensely interesting and replete with thrilling moments and startling climaxes. Miss Treverse has a number of big scenes in "The Danger Zone" which calls for the highest degree of dramatic ability and carries each one of them with a power that proclaims her true artistry.

At every evening performance Leo Rosebrook's Symphony Orchestra plays interpretative musical scores which closely follow the action of the picture and also introduces a special concert number, grand selections from "Carmen," by Bizet.

This interesting program will be the offering at the American today and tomorrow.—Advertisement.

How Can Oakland Get a Real Club?

By BOB SHAND.

The Pacific Coast Baseball league will resume operations in April and high hopes are held out by the owners of the Oakland club that this city will be represented by a team that will be up in the race all the time. Since 1912, when Oakland won the pennant, the local club has dropped to the basement in the early weeks of the season and remained there until the race was over.

Oakland deserves a pennant winner or at least a team that will be a contender. There is not a better baseball city in the circuit than Oakland and the fans deserve at least as good a ball club as represents the other cities.

Which again brings up the seemingly eternal question of "What's the matter with the Oaks?"

This question has been asked for six long years without the answer materializing. We have had a raft of new players, more than our share of managers and the owners have adopted loads of "new policies." But the cold fact remains that Oakland has been the laughing stock of western baseball for six years. What's the answer?

In 1912 and the early part of 1913 the average Sunday morning attendance at the local Coast League game was 10,000 and occasionally the crowd numbered 12,000. Not that many hundreds attended last season.

Who is at fault? Owners? Manager? Have the present members of the team outlived their usefulness?

The baseball editor's opinion is no better than that of the ordinary fan, so we are going to make the discussion an open one.

If you know what's the matter with the Oaks write and tell us. If you only think you know what is the matter let the other fans in on your secret. The columns of The TRIBUNE are open for solutions and suggestions. Write on one side of the paper and mail to the Sporting Editor of The TRIBUNE.

MINOR LEAGUERS MAKING USUAL THREATS

CHICAGO, Jan. 13.—Al Tierney and T. J. Hickey, minor league bosses, were ready today to topple an avalanche onto the major leagues. The two will attend the major league meeting in New York this week in an effort to overturn existing draft rules.

"If we don't get it we will resort to other measures that will be effective," Tierney proclaimed.

The minors ask that the big leagues be restricted in the number of men drafted.

"We develop green material only to see it grabbed by the big boys," was Tierney's complaint.

Among the magnates and officials leaving for New York was Clarence Rowland, deposed leader of the White Sox. He is supposed to be slated for Indianapolis. Rumor gave him a managing job at Cincinnati also.

Jimmy Fox, the old-time featherweight, made his reappearance in a San Francisco ring Saturday night after a long absence when he appeared in the service show at Dreamland rink. Jimmy, who has been boxing in San Pedro and Vernon of late, proved altogether too much for Sailor Goodank of the naval port guard and at Jimmy's own request the referee stopped the uneven battle to save Goodank from taking a worse beating than he had already received.

The feature event between Wildcat Leonard and Sailor Billy Wilson was a peppery affair that ended in a draw. Leonard, who comes close to perpetual motion, forced the fighting in every round, but Wilson kept his left hand out straight and the ferocious fellow kept shoving his face into the southpaw for three rounds. However, Leonard kept coming all the time and he fought so hard in the last session that the referee gave him a draw.

Charlie Rice knew too much for Eddie Stanley and when the latter went down from a right to the chin the affair was terminated.

Sailor Tomascello of San Pedro, who loomed up as a belt winner was treated to a surprise party by Marine Wintman from Mare Island. Wintman was so far that the referee stopped the fight in the third round when it was apparent that the southern boy had no chance to win. Harry Bramer, another Mare Island marine, shot a couple of rights into Sailor Urgo's stomach in the first round and the scrap was over.

The results:

Soldier Charlie Rice, Presidio, knocked out Soldier Eddie Stanley, Presidio, first round; fight stopped.

Bowling Gossip

Some close games were rolled last night in the Chevrolet Motor Company tournament, at the Maryland alleys. Hamm and Whitney won two games from Morrison and Schaefer by less than ten pins. They took the other game by 24 pins, making a clean sweep of their games. Whitney scored an average of 212 for his games. This is three times out of four that he has rolled this total. Parker and Busich, through the good work of Parker, took the odd game of their match with Stanton and Hughes. Cushwa and McDevitt, after a hard battle with Benkosky and Strode, landed the odd game of the match. McDevitt rolled best in this match, scoring 605. De Long and Qualey dropped the first game of their match with Girard and Kelton and then won the next two with 400 scores. Qualey scored the high total of the night in this match with 644. Parente Manager of Frank Barrieau

Louis Parente, the North Beachern, has assumed the management of Frank Barrieau but Harold Algernon Broom will remain as trainer. Barrieau was turned over to Parente by Tommy Simpson when the latter went east with Battling Ortega. Parente's first act was to match his boy with George Shade for a week from Wednesday at the auditorium.

Robinson-McCarthy Is Transbay Top Bout

Salinas Jack Robinson vs Johnny McCarthy will be the offering for a main event when the allied promoters of San Francisco stage their weekly show at Dreamland Rink next Friday night. In the semi-windup Danny Frush, a new boy of much class in this section, will meet Jimmy Dundee, the local boxer. George Adams will meet Larry Jones in the bout before Dundee-Frush.

Olympics Hold Moores to Tie in Soccer League, But Potrero Beths Lose a Game

Oakland Shipbuilders Increase Lead in Race For Football Championship

The soccer fans who dropped something in the hat at Croll's West Alameda grounds yesterday got big value for their money and the boys and girls who looked the other way when the man came round looking for donations were given a free treat. The contesting clubs, the Moores and Olympics gave a rattling exhibition of football with the score a dead heat when the final whistle blew. Two goals each was the net result of the fray. However, the Potrero Beths suffered their second straight defeat when they lost to the Burns-Rangers 2 to 1, so the Moores gained another point on their rivals.

The Olympics opened the Alameda game with a rush and carried the Moores off their feet in the first thirty minutes. The O. C. boys had evidently been trained to the minute as the pace they set was terrific and the shipbuilders had an awful time defending their goal. Ankersmit, the lad who scored four goals against the Potrero Beths the previous week, opened the scoring for the Olympics when he headed the ball into the net off a pass from the right wing. A penalty kick awarded for an infraction of the rules inside the dreaded line netted the Moore a goal and tied up the count. Harrison took the kick and placed the ball where it did the most good.

Encouraged by their success the Moores went on the offensive and missed a dozen chances to score. Well meant shots rebounded off the goal posts and cross bar and Goalkeeper Singer can consider himself a lucky guy that the posts and bar were with him, for he was beaten several times and his wooden friends saved him. It was fifty-fifty at the interval.

ANKERSMIT SCORES WITH HIS CRANIUM AGAIN.

The Moores put on the pressure again to open the second half with Harrison leading the attack. From a breakaway the Olympics forced a corner. The ball was nicely placed and the ever-ready head of Ankersmit again diverted the sphere into the net and the Pomeranians were a goal to the good. This was the last appearance of the Olympics at the Moore goal for Harrison led his men to the other end of the field, where they proceeded to give the O. C. defense a good time for the remainder of the game. In a hot scrimmage Wood of the Moores was injured, but gamely continued, although he was not of much use to his side thereafter. McLeod almost scored with a sharp shot that struck a goal post, but O'Donnell finally found the long awaited opening and crashed the ball into the net to tie the score again. The Olympics were being outplayed at this stage of the game and resorted to safety first tactics, apparently well satisfied to break even with the Oakland shipbuilders. Wood, Boyd, Bain, Harrison and Scott of the Moores did particularly brilliant work, while Singer, Washour, Ebert and Ankersmit shone for the clubmen. Elliott and Dyer, two of the Moore stars, were absent from the lineup.

The real surprise of the season was the 2-1 defeat of the Potrero Beths by the Burns-Rangers. The latter team figured to lose by about five goals, but they absolutely refused to take the short end of the score. Brozzone was the hero of the day, scoring both goals for the winners. The shipbuilders were badly handicapped when Duncan was injured in the first half and forced to retire from the fray. He came back in the last few minutes of the game, but was simply a passenger.

The other game in the league series resulted in a two to one victory for the Barbarians over the Celtics.

The Come-Back of Sports

Following is the first of a series of articles dealing with the prospects of various branches of sport for 1919. The articles will be featured by interviews with leading figures in the various lines of sport and will give the general public and fans an idea of what proportions sport will assume in these ante-war days:

By JACK VEIOCK,
International News Sports Editor.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—Baseball cannot return to its old-time level on short notice. Peace has paved the way for its return, and the public and players are ready for it, but normal conditions must not be expected this year.

This is the candid opinion of John A. Heydler, president of the National League, and a man who has studied all phases of the game for twenty years.

"There is no question in my mind that baseball is coming back stronger than ever eventually," says the National League head. "I believe that with the return of peace the public is ready for baseball's comeback. The players, too, are ready and eager to get back into the game, and the opening of the coming season will see them full of life and ready to give the best they have.

"But I do not look for baseball to come back with a bang this year. I do not think it can return at once to its former plane, for there are readjustments to be made that will take time, and in my opinion it will be 1920, at least, before the game may be considered normal again.

"Conditions brought about by the war cannot be straightened out on short notice. For this reason our plans for the reconstruction of baseball are being laid to meet them as they come. Increased railroad rates, local prices and the old existing tax on admissions to the turnstiles must all be considered. For this reason the main feature of the reconstruction of baseball, as I believe it will be worked out, will be found in retrenchment policies.

"The return of world peace is not the only favorable event for baseball. Its comeback this year will mark the first time over a period of five years that the game can consider itself free from war of one nature or another.

"The baseball war and the world war dove-tailed in such a way as to keep the sport under a war cloud for a period of five consecutive years. The crisis or climax was reached last season when the pennant races were all cut short in accordance with the wishes of the War Department. So baseball must be given due time to recover its equilibrium. It cannot seriously be expected to be found back to normal in a single season."

President Heydler pointed out that the adoption of shorter playing schedules by the two major leagues is an indication that baseball is to be brought back, perhaps by experimental stages. If the shorter schedule is found to be successful, baseball will have made an advance in the first year of its comeback.

In advance of the important joint meeting of the major and minor league representatives here this month, Mr. Heydler refused comment regarding the probable action that is expected along the line of reorganizing the central government of the game, namely, the National Commission. The National League has already gone on record as willing to discuss the advisability of a one-man commission. But its president is reserving his views for the joint session here. Likewise he withheld comment regarding future relations between the major and minor leagues, because that question will of necessity occupy much attention when the powers that be in the national pastime gather in New York.

A man of extremely careful nature, Mr. Heydler never permits himself to express opinions at random, and he pointed out that it would be best to hear what requests the minor leagues have to make in joint session before trying to analyze them.

That better working relations between major and minor leagues and club owners and players may be expected is the general belief. Mr. Heydler shares this belief, but, as he points out, the reconstruction of the game will take time.

Dugdale Will Not Quit Seattle Club

SEATTLE, Jan. 13. — If Seattle accepts the franchise offered by the Pacific Coast league, D. E. Dugdale, for made years at the head of the club, will not resign his position. Dugdale admitted so himself when confronted about the rumors being passed around that he would quit. "There will be a general reorganization and a new board of directors, but I will still remain at the head of the club." That is his own statement.

Promoters in Toledo, Ohio, want Battling Ortega to box Tommy Robinson, January 31. A telegram seeking the local middleweight's services was received in West Oakland last night and forwarded to Manager Simpson who should reach Chicago with his scrapper today.

YOU NEED NOT SUFFER FROM CATARRH

But You Must Drive It Out of Your Blood to Get Rid of It Permanently.

You have probably been in the habit of applying external treatments, trying to cure your Catarrh. You have used sprays, washes and lotions and possibly been temporarily relieved. But after a short time you had another attack and wondered why. You must realize that catarrh is an infection of the blood and to get permanent relief the catarrh infection must be driven out of the blood. The quicker you come to understand this, the quicker you will get it out of your system. S. S. S., which has been in constant use for over fifty years, will drive the catarrhal poisons out of your blood, purifying and strengthening it, so it will carry vigor and health to the mucous membranes on its journeys through your body and nature will soon restore you to health. You will be relieved of the droppings of mucous in your throat, sores in nostrils, bad breath, hawking and spitting.

All reputable druggists carry S. S. S. in stock and we recommend you give it a trial immediately.

The chief medical adviser of the company will cheerfully answer all letters on the subject. There is no charge for the medical advice. Address Swift Specific Company, 422 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.—Advertisement.

THE DUTY OF AMERICANS.

The city of Flint, Michigan, decided a few days ago to make an effort to bring its entire foreign-born population into American citizenship, so that it might be one of the first all-American cities in the United States. A big civic meeting was held at which was adopted a program for accomplishing this highly desirable object. One of the most stimulating incidents of this meeting was the very brief, but pointed, speech of a Flint resident of French nativity. Addressing the meeting he said:

"I'm French, and I'm proud of it. I have just one criticism to make of this country. That is, that no one apparently ever took the trouble to interest himself in my becoming a citizen. The foreigner, you say, is shy. That is so. Therefore, don't leave him to himself. Make him realize that you welcome him; that you want him to stay here as an American, and that all Americans are his friends.

"There's nothing that appeals so much to a strange man as a friendly word, whether it comes from a friend or a stranger. If employers and superintendents in business plants would think in the morning to bid their foreign-born workers a cheery good day, they would be surprised at the results that would follow in the way of co-operation and friendliness. And, by the way, that is something that need not be confined exclusively to the foreign-born."

There are in every large community thousands of residents who might truthfully say the same things as uttered by this Frenchman of Michigan. They have undergone a similar experience. The same complaint and the same message is in their mind. If it is uttered the American citizens must confess to the indictment of neglect. The time has passed, however, when the indictment may be accepted with indifference. Americans must correct the condition which justifies such reproaches.

Some national statistics on fire losses are interesting. The last compilation was for the year 1916. The statistics are especially interesting regarding "partly preventable" and "strictly preventable" causes. Of the former, "exposure" was its largest item. By exposure is meant fires that were communicated by other fires, and which would not have occurred had there been proper safeguards, such as fire-resisting roofs, sprinkler systems, wire-glass windows, fire doors, etc. Wooden shingles are given as one of the principal hazards. It is declared that there has been no great fire in the history of the country wherein a shingle roof has not been a contributory factor. The loss from partly preventable causes totaled $41,237,169. The losses that were entirely preventable resulted from defective chimneys and flues, fireworks, gas, hot ashes, hot grease, matches, open fires, open flame lights, rubbish, petroleum products, stoves and furnaces with their boilers and pipes. The total was $43,902,173, which would seem to be a large wastage for an unnecessary one.

THE NEWEST REPUBLIC.

Luxemburg would not seem from its size and its population to be of much importance to the great nations of the world either as a monarchy or a republic. But its position with reference to the other nations of Europe has been vital in the past and, however hopes may run, there is no assurance that it will not be vital in the future. Under the pre-war alignment of European nations Luxemburg was almost the "pivot" on which the "balance of power" was maintained.

As near as military experts could figure out, in case of a war between Germany and France an attack would have to be made by the forces of either power somewhere between Verdun and Luxemburg border. Ally observers were not willing to accuse Germany of being ready to repudiate all treaties and the law of nations; hence they did not suspect an invasion by way of Belgium. But they were not altogether sure of Luxemburg. The government of that little country was notoriously pro-German—dominated in fact by German interests—and might be expected to place itself at the disposal of the Prussian military machine.

In view of the history of the war there will be much interest in the news that the grand duchess of Luxemburg has quit her capital and that a republic has been declared. This means that the German influence is broken, never to be mended. The sentiment of the Luxemburgers is warmly pro-France and pro-Belgian and never again will favor the Germans. The "protectorate" which Germany formerly exercised over the land is a thing of the past. Luxemburg will henceforth be a member of the anti-German states. This will enable the French nation to establish adequate defenses against another invasion—defenses that will extend in an unbroken line all the way from the border of Holland to Switzerland.

Great results often follow small beginnings; great evils succeed small omissions. Had the French Socialists some twenty years ago not voted down the proposal of Senator Charles Prevet to fortify the Franco-Belgian frontier the Germans might not have invaded France; indeed, the war might not have ensued.

It is interesting to learn, as we do from an article in the Literary Digest, that the original Armenian merchant in the United States appeared shortly after the Crimean war, engaging in the exportation of American agricultural implements to Turkey, and that his promotive genius induced him to lead a colony of his countrymen to Fresno county, where they engaged in agricultural and horticultural pursuits. That must be taken to account for the large Armenian population of that and other counties in the San Joaquin valley which have thrived greatly. The Armenian immigration is differentiated by the fact that it does not crowd into cities, but gets out upon the land and engages in a line of industry that is not so generally followed by any other class of foreigners.

NOTES and COMMENT

Matters are not to the fore at Sacramento that were expected to take precedence. Fish and game legislation has not yet been brought forward, and the primary law still basks in innocuousness. But a bill has been introduced to soak the trading-stamp business, and another to upset Colonel Weinstock by abolishing the State Market Commission. Also other bills to do other unusual things.

* * *

One of the outcomes of the peace conference should be a world status that would put an end to the massacre of Syrians and Armenians or any other of the peoples in any way dominated by the Turks. The descriptive term of "unspeakable" as applied to the Turk should be abolished. The Turk should be made speakable by force, if nothing else will do it.

* * *

The Belgian national feeling is illustrated in the fact that its people, prostrate from enemy ravages over a period of four years, are erecting monuments commemorative of their tragedies, sufferings and the triumph over their barbarious foes. The rehabilitation of their country must be a dismaying task, yet it is made to await the erection of mementos to express and record their patriotic love of country and hatred of oppression.

Those responsible for Hun barbarities, starting with the kaiser, are reminded by a special report from a sub-committee of the British commission charged with inquiring into their cases that they are not forgotten. Plans for a tribunal to try them have already been made. The British are very tenacious of purpose. They won't let the affair blow over.

* * *

It has now developed that in 1914, while the heroic Belgians were resisting the invasion of their country, Grand Duchess Marie Adelaide of Luxemburg God-speeded the Huns through her realms by giving the kaiser a banquet. It is put in a very diplomatic way when it is announced that her position is now "untenable."

SPIRIT of the STATE PRESS

A movement is on foot in congress to buy Lower California. It would make another state about the size of California. It is a great country for horned toads, scorpions, lizards, snakes and other things that crawl and squirm.—Santa Cruz Sentinel.

Secretary Lane asks: "What shall be said of a nation that spends twice as much for chewing gum as it does for school books?" Ask the Germans. They met a lot of the heavy gum-chewers.—Stockton Record.

Lieutenant Governor Young, in his inaugural yesterday, touched upon a very important political change needed in the habits of voters of California—that of selecting men for the legislature whom they can afford to send there for several terms, instead of only one, as has been so often the case. Lawmaking is a business, too often performed in amateur fashion because no man has time enough to learn in the space of one or even of two sessions.—Fresno Republican.

A deficit of $150,000 in the Los Angeles district fair, caused by the influenza epidemic, will be reported to the legislature, in an effort to secure an appropriation to make good the loss.—Sacramento Union.

The "flu" mask seems to have lost out in many sections. Some of our sister cities, like ourselves, simply refuse to put it on again.—Stockton Record.

The Los Angeles Times says that nobody has invited William Jennings Bryan to the peace table and peace is his hobby. Maybe you have also noticed the absence from the peace commissioners the names of other peace fans, such as Professor David Starr Jordan.—Santa Cruz Sentinel.

In giving a six-year term as railroad commissioner to Irving Martin of Stockton and the same to Harley Brundige of Los Angeles, the governor has dropped a $48,000 job in the Christmas stocking of each and forever banished fear of the poorhouse from the vision of two of California's worthiest newspaper men.—Chico Enterprise

WEATHER REPORT

Forecast.

Oakland and vicinity, Sacramento and Santa Clara valleys—Tonight and Tuesday fair, heavy frost in the morning, light northeasterly winds.

Southern California and San Joaquin valley—Tonight fair and colder, Tuesday fair, heavy frost in the morning, light northeasterly winds.

Conditions.

An area of high pressure overlies the plateau region, causing fair and cool weather over the Pacific slope, except light rain in Washington and Oregon. Light snow has fallen along the eastern slope of the Rockies and in northern Arizona. In other sections of the country the weather is fair. There has been no important changes in temperature and cold weather prevails in the plateau region and north Atlantic States. Conditions are favorable for fair weather in this district, except rain in western Washington and northwestern Oregon. It will be generally colder and heavy frosts will occur in California Tuesday morning.

How You May

All the features have a strong influence on the expression, but the one dominates the face. If the nose is beautiful the modeling of the entire head is apt to conform to its lines. If it's too big or too little the entire face seems shaped by this feature.

To change the shape of the nose isn't within the province of anyone but the skilled surgeon. You shouldn't let vanity urge you into an operation for improving the shape of your nose unless it has been broken through injury and requires resetting. Aside from the value of a good nose as an attribute to beauty, it is said to indicate character as no other feature of the face does.

There are some analysts who say that the eyes are the windows of the soul. Others insist that the mouth expresses the personality of every individual, while still other wise ones maintain that the keynote to a person's character is found in the chin.

Sculptors and artists will tell you that the nose balances the entire modeling of your head. There are many seemingly commonplace things that you may do to beautify your nose and improve the expression and outline of your face and head.

Possibly it seems strange to say that you should first begin with the arrangement of your hair, but this is, nevertheless, the first step in giving the proper setting to your nose. Conversely the shape of your nose should govern the arrangement of your hair. This rule is imperative, because your nose should be studied in profile, so that the arrangement of the coiffure may

To the Editor of The Tribune:

I also appreciate your editorials, and the opportunity given people to offer a few suggestions in your valuable paper.

I agree with I. D. McFarlin in his ideas, but "why scrap" the German navy boats? Why not bring them to Oakland, anchor them securely along the mud flats, and fit them up inside, in rooms and apartments, at cheap rent to the hundreds of men with families who come to obtain decent places in Oakland to live in, and what there is to be had at outrageous rental are not fit for any respectable family to occupy.

I for one will gladly agree to rent four rooms by the year, and think that the rentals would pay all costs and leave a good sum for charitable purposes. I am forced to live in San Francisco for above reasons, and shall continue to live there while conditions in Oakland remain as at present.

HEALTH and HAPPINESS

How Gall Stones May Be Removed by Easy Methods

BY DR. LEONARD K. HIRSHBERG
A. B., M. A., M. D.
(Johns Hopkins University.)

The bile or gall appears to be a by-product of the liver. It may be useful. It is poured forth gently from various units of liver tissue into little gutters and gullies and gathers in amount to reach the galliducts or bile channels. Then it is collected in sacks shaped like a pear. This reservoir holds the bile, which is a shimmering olive-gold in color.

At various intervals, sometimes continuously, gall flows from the sack into the small intestines, where the latter fuse with the necks of the gastrum of stomach.

Gall is liquid unless there is something amiss. Whenever the fluid bile congeals, it is apt to become gritty, gravelly or form into peewee marbles or stones.

There are such various and so many ways in which fluid bile may lose its thinness and fluidity that a far-sighted, thoughtful person can well understand that there is no one single cause of gall stones, but a large variety. The origin may be a thickening of the bile due to low amount of fats and oils or a deficiency of water, injuries to the walls of the bile channels, an excess of the mineral salts in the bile or infections of the gall-bag with typhoid or pimple bacteria.

Be the cause what it may, it seems that surgeons have found one person in nearly every five affected with gall stones.

A long and arduous search for the particular cause may be rewarded and the removal of it may then aid toward a permanent elimination of the stones.

Before surgical measures are, as a last resort, called into action, it should be made certain that gall stones are present by means of X-ray pictures. Often no symptoms of these pebbles are evident.

Considerable amounts of magnesia water, distilled water or hot water occasionally help to "wash away rocks." Hot water bags or hot cloths changed frequently and held closely along the edge of the ribs on the right side of the stomach is a logical method to produce crumbling of the little marbles.

When it comes to the dissolution of gall stones, drugs and medicines are apparently time, money and common sense thrown away in an expectation that chemicals administered in the stomach or blood become solvents of gravel that constantly form anew in the bile.

Mechanics, however, may do what chemistry may not do. Water, olive oil, fats, butter, petroleum and copious quantities of water may flush and carry away many of these abominations. Massage of the liver and avoidance of sugars and starches may go a great way toward the excretion of gall stones.

Whenever the fluid bile becomes acid or too alkaline or when foreign particles like bacteria penetrate it, there is danger of the formation of gall stones. It must be normal, around 5 per cent of alkalinity, to keep its salts and minerals in solution with no chance of congealing into stones.

Jaundice means that gall, instead of flowing off into the alimentary canal, is being dammed up and absorbed into the blood. Gall stones are most often present without jaundice. Jaundice may be seen in the face and skin and be due to anything which blocks the bile channels. Gall stones, inflammations, microbes, congestions and other obstructions to the outflow of bile may thus be guilty of bronzing the skin.

WORLD'S LARGEST WHISTLE.

The largest whistle in the world is attached to the smokestack of the Homestead, Pa., steel works, 200 feet above the ground. It is five feet long and one foot in diameter, and is connected with a three-inch steam pipe. It requires 150 pounds of steam to blow the whistle, which can be heard twelve miles. — Boston Globe.

IMPRESSIONS OF A TRIP THROUGH EUROPE

BY ALFRED HOLMAN,
Editor of The Argonaut

[This is the sixteenth of a series of articles in which Mr. Holman will set down leading impressions gained in the course of a visit to England and Scotland and to the war fronts in France in the weeks immediately preceding the signing of the Armistice.—Editor.]

I turn with a certain relief to another and pleasanter phase of English life—to that social condition under which England has become celebrated as a land of peace, ease, and ordered comfort. Who that has had experience of English country life in its softer and finer phases would ever willingly lose the memory of its allurements and its charms? In no country under the sun has privileged life been so rich in the elusive quality of comfort. It has depended less upon the arrangements of the British house than upon the generosity and order of its administration. The British house—notably the country house—has been thus the acme of comfort because service has been trained, efficient, cheap. Mechanical facilities which so contribute to the convenience of American life are relatively a minus quantity. But in the stead of central heating arrangements, automatic hot-water carriers, and other facilities provided by the plumber and the house carpenter in our own country, England has had a superabundance of domestic servants, at rates of wages unheard of, at least in America, Canada, or Australia. But the war has made a new order of things. Out of it have come conditions very different from those of a previous time. The housemaid who was well paid at a wage of a hundred dollars per year has been working in a munition or in a machine shop at a wage of twelve to twenty dollars per week. The butler or the groom in becoming a soldier has lost taste for service, furthermore his wage demands are heavier. The cost of food of all kinds has advanced and is not likely ever again to decline to the old normal. Today it costs as much—reckoning wages and food together—to maintain four household servants as in other days it did to maintain eight. Under the theory that the war has withdrawn the forces of domestic service from their former duties practically every country house in England is today conducted upon a reduced basis. Thus domestic conditions—the conditions of peace, ease, and ordered comfort—are not what they were; and I doubt if they ever will be again. This is only one of many details in which the country gentry of England stand in hard case. Largely they have been reduced, if not actually ruined, by war taxation, and war taxation is something that England will have to sustain far into the era of peace. Domestic service in its old amplitude will be largely beyond the reach of many to whom it has hitherto been, or seemed to be, a necessity. In the meantime the houses, lacking in American mechanical aids to comfort, will sadly miss the manifold services of the old days; and I suspect that for a long time to come the universal domestic comfort of middle and upper class England will be rather a memory than a vital condition.

I found, or thought I found, in England a condition of public life curiously comparable with a condition in America, but with the problem reversed. Very distinctly we lack political leaders having other than the internal or domestic point of view. The foremost men in American life are sufficiently alive to our domestic conditions. They may have differing views about the tariff as to policies of internal improvement as to railroad legislation, etc. But in matters outside our borders, in matters foreign to immediate and relatively local politics, they have little knowledge, less interest, and no instinct at all. English politicians, on the other hand, while intensely alive to all overseas affairs, are curiously shy of affairs in an English sense domestic. I have wondered if it be not due in large measure to his propensity to domestic interest and to his courage in dealing progressively with domestic affairs that Mr. Lloyd-George, notably a man without a party, is so potent a figure in British political life. The war, of course, has vastly enhanced his prestige, but even prior to the war he had become the most popular and the most potential figure in the political life of the country. Largely, I am convinced, this has come about as a consequence of his bold taking hold of certain pressing domestic problems. But in this respect Mr. Lloyd George stands almost alone. In the course of our twenty or more days in London I had contact extended or brief with nearly every man of large political authority, and I do not recall that any one of them, unless directly challenged by question or suggestion, spoke of home problems. Just as the minds of our statesmen are fixed upon domestic issues, so the minds of the statesmen of England seemed fixed upon world problems. All of which I took as indicating that closer practical vision of the American statesmen and the broader or world vision of the British statesmen. Perhaps both countries would be better for a modification of their statesmen's minds, the one to a broader outlook, the other to a closer scrutiny of things at home with less reliance to look facts in the face.

On further comparison of the leading statesmen of the two countries I found at one essential point, at least to the conviction of my own mind, that the British system up to now has worked better than ours. We bring into public life mediocre men, automatically denying to our men of highest talent the great posts of political leadership. England, on the other hand, seeks out her men of special talent and puts them in the potential and responsible posts. Her Roots, Harrimans, Morgans, Rockefellers, Burbanks, Edisons, et al. are all in the service of the state. Not every British cabinet minister, to be sure, is a great man, but not in a hundred years has England had at the forefront of her government other than men of power.

FIRST TEST VOTE IN ASSEMBLY SHOWS DRYS ARE IN CONTROL

ATTEMPT TO STOP ACTION LOST, 42-30

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 13.—A move to refer the Senate resolution ratifying the proposed national prohibition amendment to the committee on engrossment, thus delaying final action until tomorrow, was defeated today in the assembly of the California legislature by a vote of 42 to 30.

An effort led by Greene and Bismarck Bruck to withdraw from the federal relations committee Bruck's resolution to refer the ratification matter to the people for a vote was defeated by the assembly by a vote of 42 to 31. The resolution has been in committee since Thursday.

When a message from the Senate, formally advising the assembly of its favorable action was offered, C. W. Greene objected to its being "received by the assembly out of order." Speaker H. W. Wright overruled him, accepted the message and referred the message to the committee on federal relations. On the ground that the resolution should go to the committee on engrossment, an appeal to the house forced the vote.

The federal relations committee then retired to consider the sonate resolution.

ASSEMBLYMEN REPORT.

Frederick M. Roberts of Los Angeles, first negro to be elected to a California legislature, has arrived and will be sworn as a member of the Assembly today. D. W. Miller, Assemblyman-elect from Linden, is expected today. Both were said to favor ratification. Several Assemblymen opposing and several favoring ratification were reported ill today.

Appointment of all Senate and Assembly standing committees not already named was expected today. Of these the newly created committees on governmental efficiency and economy were considered of first importance, as they were expected to pass upon proposals for readjustment of state departments on a more economical basis. That some similar measures might go to other committees was indicated when an Assembly bill to repeal the act creating the office of state market director was referred to the committee on agriculture. Proposed legislation on land settlement was also expected to go to the agriculture committee.

REFERRED TO COMMITTEE.

The Assembly measure to reduce the number of state railroad commissioners from five to three had been referred to the committee on constitutional amendments, as have several bills on naturalization of aliens.

The committees on federal relations, to which were referred the proposed federal prohibition amendment, will handle several other important matters, among them a concurrent resolution urging government retention of the railroads. Rumors were current last night the legislature might be asked to adopt resolutions criticizing certain phases of the national administration.

Such measures, it was said, would properly go to the federal relations committees.

Committees on revenue and taxation will be of more than usual importance this session, it was said, because to them will go measures possibly providing vital changes in the state's taxation scheme if the Federal Government retains the railroads and wire communication system and exempts them from taxation. Approximately one-third of the state's revenue is derived from taxes on these public service corporations, according to Clyde Seavey of the State Board of Control.

Measures to change the initiative and referendum laws are expected. Particularly proposals to make it more difficult to place taxation matter on the ballot were said to be considered by opponents of the single tax. These would go to the committees on direct legislation. Measures seeking changes in the direct primary law, possibly one to prohibit any candidate from seeking the nomination of more than one party, would go to the committee on elections.

To the labor and capital committee, it was expected, will go the anti-injunction bill, which Senator Lawrence J. Flaherty of San Francisco was expected to offer today. The bill of Mrs. Grace Dorris, Assemblywoman, to limit the hours of woman domestic servants to ten a day has been referred to this committee. A Sunday closing measure, being discussed here, would probably go to the labor and capital committee.

The state's budget will be dealt with in the Assembly by the ways and means committee and in the Senate by the finance committee.

Senator W. R. Sharkey's bill providing for regulation of prices of necessities by the State Railroad Commission and Assemblyman E. S. Hurley's resolution for an investigation of the San Francisco district attorney's office are among the important measures awaiting action by the judiciary committee.

Demobilization of Service Flags on Feb. 22 Is Urged

Don't take down your service flags yet and don't keep them up until they gradually disappear, weather beaten, tattered and unnoticed. This was the plea made today by the War Camp Community Service, which does not believe that these emblems during our nineteen trying months of war should be laid aside without fitting ceremonies.

Instead of taking down the flags one by one as fast as the boys are mustered out or the stars have turned to gold, the War Camp Community Service urges that their proud possessors should keep them exhibited until a fixed date, when they can be demobilized at a public ceremony. The service flag has been the one central emblem that has represented the sons, the brothers, the fathers and the sweethearts of those who have remained behind. It has appeared everywhere throughout the country as a great sign of reverence, an emblem of pride and hope. Great mansions and isolated little huts have displayed it alike, and flag has waved to flag from the humblest milk wagon or peddler's cart to the most gorgeous limousines.

The War Camp Community Service suggests the period in which Washington's Birthday falls as a fitting occasion for the first ceremony of the "demobilization of the service flag."

INFLUENZA MAY ADJOURN LEGISLATURE

LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 13. — The spread of influenza among the lawmakers may cause an early adjournment of the present session of the legislature. Nearly a dozen members of the Assembly and Senate are known to be ill and a number of others are expected to be reported on the sick list when the roll is called today. On the Assembly side, Mrs. Anna Saylor of Berkeley, Clarence Morris of San Francisco, Robert Madison of Santa Rosa, A. J. Mathews of Susanville, C. W. Greene of San Luis Obispo, A. F. Stevens of Healdsburg, and Chief Clerk Boothby are among the "flu" victims. Senator C. F. Burkitt of Willows and State Controller John S. Chambers are among the other sufferers.

The question of early adjournment will be determined by the spread or recession of the epidemic during the week. There is some talk of adjournment next Saturday.

A bill is to be introduced in the Senate today asking an appropriation to pay the expenses of stricken members.

A mask ordinance goes into effect in Sacramento today. Members of the legislature, being immune from arrest on misdemeanor charges while the session is in progress, have pointed out that they are not bound by the ordinance, but it is not considered likely that many of them will refuse to comply.

The brother of Miss Esto Broughton, assemblywoman from Modesto, has succumbed to influenza in San Francisco. Miss Broughton, who had been at his bedside, returned to her seat in the Assembly today.

Senator Crowley offered the motion. Senator Brown of Los Angeles opposed the motion. He declared leading physicians of Los Angeles were of the opinion that the mask was "more of a menace than a help." Brown expressed the opinion that it was "unfair and unconstitutional to make the wearing compulsory."

Senator Inman of Sacramento declared the epidemic was "so great that something must be done" and that he thought the Senate could do no less than co-operate with the municipal authorities of Sacramento in combating the disease.

FRAME BILLS OF INTEREST TO MOTORISTS

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 13.—Three bills of interest to California motorists are to be introduced at this session of the state legislature, according to plans of assemblymen. Samuel W. Knight, assemblyman from Redlands, said he expected to offer a bill providing for the standardization of gasoline. At present there is nothing to regulate what specific gravity gasoline ordinarily sold to automobile owners should have, he said, and he proposes to establish definite grades. All moneys collected by the state as automobile license taxes would be turned over to the counties for the upkeep of highways, if proposed legislation advocated by Champ S. Price, assemblyman of Santa Cruz, is adopted.

Legislation providing that every motor car owner shall give a bond at the time he obtains his license to insure payment of damages to persons who might be injured through the fault of the car's driver will be advocated by Clarence Morris of San Francisco, speaker pro tem. of the assembly, he said.

State guarantee of state bank deposits is to be provided for in proposed legislation to be offered by Senator Herbert Slater and Assemblyman Robert Madison of Santa Rosa. They plan to model their bill after the Oklahoma law, they said.

A bill equalizing community property rights of man and wife will be offered by Claude F. Purkitt, senator from Willows. He said he expected to enlist the active support of the four women members of the assembly in the measure.

TO IMPROVE HIGHWAYS.

Highway legislation is to be offered by Senators from southern coast counties. J. R. Thompson, senator from Santa Barbara, plans to introduce a bill to appropriate $200,000 for the construction of the so-called Cuyama road from Bakersfield to Santa Maria. Senator E. S. Rigdon of San Luis Obispo will urge a bill for county, state and federal aid in building approximately fifty miles of Monterey-San Simeon shore line highway in Monterey and San Luis Obispo counties. Appropriation for a survey was obtained last session.

Polsley and Purkitt are said to be preparing a campaign to remove restrictions from the shooting of ducks in the rice districts of the state.

At the request of cattlemen and farmers, Rigdon said he would introduce in the senate pure stock food bills and pure seed bills.

Legislation providing authority for the State Fish and Game Commission to close for fishing streams in which the supply has been depleted is being discussed, according to Charles Kasch, assemblyman from Ukiah. He said he favored a provision which would limit the commission's power to act only to cases where permission was granted by a county Board of Supervisors.

WOULD LIMIT HUNTING.

Kasch said he would seek to have his part of the state excluded from the law, which provides a close season on bear and brush rabbits, and probably would introduce a bill to permit angling at all seasons in tide water.

Bills providing for six-round and ten-round boxing bouts will be offered by Assemblymen E. J. Lewis of Marysville and Frederick C. Hawes of San Francisco, respectively, it was expected. Longer bouts would be a better drawing card, providing funds with which the boxing game might be placed on a higher plane, according to proponents of the proposed change in the present law limiting bouts to four rounds.

Several measures directed against aliens will be offered, it was expected. Charles J. McColgan, assemblyman from San Francisco, was expected to introduce a bill which would prohibit aliens from acquiring property interests in the United States. Resolutions appealing to the federal government to limit the rights of aliens were advocated in the assembly by Arthur A. Wenderling, assemblyman of Berkeley, and James C. Nealon, senator from San Francisco.

State Forgets Gold Discovery; Names Board to Remember

Febry 2nd 1848
Sunday 16th the water has been clear

Above is a facsimile of the diary of Henry Bigler, a companion of James Marshall at Sutter's Mill, definitely naming the date of the discovery of gold in California. The facsimile was first published in 1887. James Marshall, the "boss of the mill," the discoverer, and Sutter's Mill, where the gold was found, are reproduced.

Unofficial Minds Correct Error Long Ago

California, founded because a man by the name of James W. Marshall discovered gold, has forgotten completely when the first glimmer of the yellow metal started the caravan westward. California has not cared much whether it was on January 19, 1848, as the statue of Marshall at Sutter's Mill relates, or six days later, as companions of Marshall agree. In fact California did not know there was any discussion as to dates and time. Until along came the Native Sons and Native Daughters of the Golden West and asked that the date on the Marshall statue be changed.

California promptly threw up its hands and demanded why in the name of time, the statue, which suited them well, should be disfigured. It was pointed out that Marshall should have known himself when he discovered gold and his word taken for fact. But that was just what Marshall did not know, and every one in California knew that Marshall did not know save the State of California.

COMMISSION NAMED.

So comes Governor Stephens and appoints a commission for the sole purpose of officially finding on what date it was that Sutter's Mill yielded up its secret. Philip Baldwin Bekeart, representing the Pioneers of California; Fred H. Jung of the Native Sons of the Golden West and Grace S. Stoermer of the Native Daughters of California knew and believed everybody else knew that January 24, 1848, was the historical time upon which all the future and romance of California hung. They found they were mistaken. So they sat in solemn conclave. They untied the red tape. They have confirmed beyond a shadow of doubt with great dignity, pomposity and verbosity that Marshall looked upon gold at Sutter's Mill first upon the day of January 24, 1848. Henceforth California and the people will no longer doubt. Moreover, they have urged that the date on the Marshall statue be changed from January 19 to the correct and official time.

THE BIGLER DIARY.

What they did was to go to the University of California and find there a fac-simile copy of the diary of one Henry W. Bigler, a companion of Marshall, and look up the files of the Overland Monthly for 1887. Here was produced the Bigler diary which those who cared with easy good nature and credulity took for absolute fact, as did also the governor's commission, and as will henceforth the State of California. Bigler's diary agrees with that of one other man who was in the party. It states under date of January 24, 1848:

"This day some kind of mettle was found in the tail race that looks like gold, first discovered by James Martial, the boss of the mill."

When the statue of Marshall was erected at Sutter's Mill and he was called upon to furnish the correct date of his discovery, with the careless ease and indifference of the early prospector, he guessed it was about January 19. Exactness did not bother him for the sake of posterity. It was this snap memory which was carved on the stone, and which the findings of the governor's commission will probably correct.

DAVIE TO ASK STATE TO AID HARBOR WORK

Mayor John L. Davie left today for Sacramento to ask the legislature for aid in improving the Oakland waterfront. He will base his arguments for state aid on the fact that San Francisco is asking for control of its state-owned waterfront after the people of the State paid for the improvements.

He feels that if San Francisco is to get its waterfront after the state paid for the improvements, then Oakland should have state help in improving its harbor.

"San Francisco harbor was developed by the people of the State," said the Mayor today. "If the state is going to turn this valuable property over to San Francisco then it should take like action in regard to the Oakland waterfront. I shall ask that an appropriation be made giving Oakland the necessary funds to develop its waterfront, for the taxpayers of this city have paid about as much toward the development of the San Francisco harbor as have those of San Francisco, and if they are to be made a free gift of this vast volume of improvement, why not have Oakland treated in a like manner?"

S. F. Harbor Bill to Be Introduced

LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 13.—Assistant City Attorney Milton Marks of San Francisco is in Sacramento today to arrange for the introduction of a number of bills in which the city is officially interested. These include the proposal for transferring control of the harbor from the state to the city and ratification of the Hetch Hetchy charter amendments adopted by the people of the city at the last election.

There are indications that opposition to the harbor plan will be heard from rural sections of the state, where apprehension is felt over the possible effect of local control on transportation and terminal rates.

Marks stated he did not believe such opposition would seriously interfere with the adoption of the proposed plan.

New Quay Wall Space Is Asked of City

The Howard Company, through Attorneys Charles A. Beardsley today made application to the Oakland City Council for the lease of an additional 395 feet of the quay wall frontage on the estuary.

The company sets forth that its business has increased so rapidly in the past few months that more space is necessary as its present lease of 400 feet is inadequate to its needs. The company's wharfage charges and other income incident to the conduct of its business has been instrumental in contributing in excess of $4000 per month to the city treasury and if the additional frontage is granted this income to the city will be materially increased.

The matter was referred to Commissioner of Public Works Soderberg, who stated that he would investigate the application thoroughly and report back to the council at an early date.

State Senators to Wear Flu Masks

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 13.—The State Senate waived its constitutional immunity from the provisions of the influenza mask ordinance, which became effective here today. A motion instructing the sergeant-at-arms to permit no one, including senators, to enter the senate chamber unmasked, was adopted.

MAE MARSH AT THE AMERICAN

Mae Marsh in "The Racing Strain," the feature photoplay of the highly entertaining double program now being presented at the American Theater, is seen in a role which affords ample opportunity for the display of her remarkable ability to realistically depict diversity of emotions.

Miss Marsh portrays the character of a young Southern belle who is the principal actor in a series of unusual adventures and exciting incidents which take place in old Kentucky and on the famous Saratoga race track.

A delightful romance is pleasingly woven into the clever plot and there are many humorous scenes which relieve the tensity of the drama.

Madlaine Traverse, the beautiful and talented emotional actress, in "The Danger Zone," the second feature production on the program, appears in the character of Lola Dupre, a woman who lived in a glass house, in constant fear that the secrets of her past life might be revealed.

The drama is intensely interesting and replete with thrilling moments and startling climaxes. Miss Treverse has a number of big scenes in "The Danger Zone" which calls for the highest degree of dramatic ability and carries each one of them with a power that proclaims her true artistry.

At every evening performance Leon Rosebrook's Symphony Orchestra plays interpretative musical scores which closely follow the action of the pictures and also introduces a special concert number, grand selections from "Carmen," by Bizet.

This interesting program will be the offering at the American today and tomorrow.—Advertisement.

CENTRAL GAS ASKS BOND TRANSFER

As a result of the financial difficulties of the Central California Gas Company and the foreclosure suit of the Los Angeles Trust and Savings Bank in 1917, the Central Counties Gas Company filed an application for settlement today with the Railroad Commission.

The application asks permission to transfer bonds and stocks to enable the Central Counties Company, which was reorganized out of the Central California Company, to carry out terms to which the bondholders have agreed. At the time of the failure of the Central California Company, the Los Angeles bank held a trust deed for $300,000 worth of bonds of the Central California Company and it is now proposed to substitute for these bonds another issue of bonds and in addition an issue of $75,000 in common stock which the bondholders have agreed to accept at 80.

The issue of the common stock will be used to settle interest claims amounting to $38,000 and it is proposed to sell 25,000 shares of common stock at 80 to provide funds for the litigation in the foreclosure suit and for $2925 fees of the reorganization.

HEAVY LOADING OF CARS URGED

Coincident with the withdrawal of food administration regulations governing minimum carload for licensed commodities, local officials of the United States Railroad Administration today sent broadcast to shippers an appeal to voluntary maintain loading practices established during the war.

The policy of the Railroad Administration in regard to carloading is set forth as follows by W. C. Kendall, manager car service section:

"The heavier loading of freight cars, the campaign for which has had the valued aid and support of the several departments of the government, as well as the hearty co-operation of shippers, has been a very material factor in accomplishing the following:

"2. Lessened congestion of railroads, particularly at terminal points.

"3. Improved service made possible by lessened congestion.

"Taking full advantage of car-carrying capacity means more than the mere conservation of equipment. It not only saves equipment for freight which could not otherwise move promptly but also minimizes congestion and makes possible greatly improved service.

"If it be thought that the improved car supply which exists at the present time makes it less necessary to load cars to full capacity, it should be borne in mind that a return to the old practice of light loading would speedily bring about another car shortage and congestion, by reason of the increased number of cars required to carry a given tonnage. Numerous shippers have volunteered the information that it is their purpose to make the fullest use of equipment maintaining the record established during the war, regardless of tariff minimums. They apparently realize the advantage gained, which prevent useless waste and a return to transportation conditions which formerly prevailed.

"The Railroad Administration will continue its efforts to closely supervise the loading of all commodities, in order that demands for service may be promptly met and we ask the continued co-operation of all shippers to that end. Reports of all instances of light loading will be made to the car service section as heretofore."

Gain and Loss Made on Wall Street

Steels, Sugar and Oils Are Lower

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—The usual recent mixture of gains and losses attended the quiet opening of today's stock market, the trend being the more conflicting from the fact that some issues of the same class moved in opposite directions. Steels, sugars, leathers and oils yielded from fractions to two points, whereas shippings, tobaccos, coppers and fertilizers rose correspondingly. Sales again were extremely dull at very slight changes. The trend of the day's trading follows.

OPENING—The most important feature of the market at the opening was the pronounced scarcity of offerings. The demand for shorts and some commission house buying resulted in sharp advances in many issues. Marine preferred was the strongest issue, advancing 1¼ to 109. United States Steel, after opening down ¼ at 90¾, advanced to 90¾. United Cigar Stores again attracted attention, advancing 1¾ to 115¾, a new high for this movement. After the early demand was supplied, reactions were in order. Inspiration was the most active of the copper shares, advancing ½ to 44 and then reacting to 43¾.

FORENOON—There were many irregular movements during the forenoon with covering by shorts, the most important influence in the issues which showed upturns. Buying of this character was almost the sole reason for Mexican Petroleum advancing to 182. Texas Oil also showed strength, moving up 3¾ to 189, while Sinclair rose to 35. There was large buying of steel common, which moved up to 90¾. Marine preferred moved up over one point to 109 and then reacted to 108¾, while American Hide and Leather preferred fell three points to 74.

AFTERNOON—Marine preferred, Bethlehem Steel and Distilling and Tobaccos issues extended their losses in the last hour, rails again hardening.

CLOSING—The closing was irregular. Oils, Motors and Transportations contributed to the constructive side of the dull market, while shippings, steels and secondary industrials reacted. Sales approximated 400,000 shares.

LIBERTY BOND PRICES.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—Final prices on Liberty bonds today were: 3½s, 99.50; first convertible 4s, 92.60; second 4s, 92.20; first convertible 4¼s, 96.30; second convertible 4¼s, 95.06; third 4¼s, 96.00; fourth 4¼s, 95.20.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—The cotton market opened steady today at an advance of 16 to 28 points on favorable cables, covering and bull support, but quickly turned weak, losing all of the advance and breaking to a net decline of 10 to 20 points.

Selling was based largely on the announcement of a cut in leading cotton goods, ranking from 6 to 9 cents a yard.

Citrus Fruits Are Not Damaged Much

SAN BERNARDINO, Jan. 13. — Declaring that the frost of new year's day damaged only a small fraction of California's citrus crop, General Manager F. M. Benbo of the ninth national orange show announced today that the exposition's plans would not be modified in any degree, and that the greatest citrus fruit exposition ever held would be staged in San Bernardino on February 11 to 22.

Land Fraud Cases Are Set for Trial

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 13.—The famous Oregon land fraud cases involving Norman B. Cook, Franklin P. Ball and a number of others were set for trial June 3 by Federal Judge M. T. Dooling today at the request of United States Attorney Arnette A. Adams. The case will require four weeks to try.

The defendants are charged in a conspiracy to defraud home seekers and settlers by locating two or more families upon the same sections, or fractional section of government lands along Oregon Short Line and Southern Pacific.

Co-related cases have already been tried, some of the defendants prominent in the northwest having been convicted and sent to jail for their participation in the swindle. Cook and Ball go to trial for the third time on indictments returned against them years ago.

Held on Charge of Raising Check

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 13.—Crayton W. McCann, secretary of the California Redwood Association, charged with raising a check of the association from $25 to $125, was arrested on Geary street today by Assistant Superintendent Charles H. Pohlman of the Pinkerton agencies. Expert accountants are at work on McCann's books and it is rumored that the shortage will run into the thousands

No Chinese Trouble Here, Believes Chief

Chief of Police J. H. Nedderman this morning stated that there was no evidence of the outbreak of a tong war in Oakland.

"I have given my ment strict instructions to keep watch on Chinatown and at the first evidence of trouble at once to proceed against the men suspected of being behind it. When the tong war was threatened a short time ago I called the leaders of the various tongs before me and informed them that if trouble broke out here I would hold them personally responsible. They assured me that nothing would be started."

Chinese Volunteer to Aid Flu War

Among the many volunteers to offer their services in fighting the influenza epidemic in Oakland, are a number of the Chinese physicians who state that this disease can always be cured if precautions are taken. They are willing to do everything in their power to curb the influenza, giving their services without pay.

H. S. Low of the Dr. Sing Herb Co., who heads this offer of help on the part of the Chinese, says that while it is a fact that there were many cases of flu in both Oakland and San Francisco Chinatowns, there were no deaths because of the effective Chinese treatment.

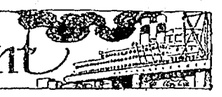
The Waterfront



On her first voyage as a whaler, the old tug Hercules sailed through the Golden Gate yesterday bound for Monterey, where she will be engaged catching whales along the southern California coast. The meat will be shipped here for market, while the other portion of the whale will be used for oil and fertilizer. The Hercules was built at this port for the Red Stack company 41 years ago, but was sold about ten years ago to Hooper & Co., who used her to tow barges. Five years ago Thomas Crowley purchased the tug, and since then she has been at anchor in East Oakland, until sold and fitted into a whaler. Captain Lindholm took the old craft south on her first cruise in the whaling industry.

The first fog for the year 1919 made a visit to the bay cities this morning, coming in from along the northern coast. The ferry service was delayed, by taking off some of the steamers.

The last of the southeastern Alaska salmon has arrived on Puget Sound for the season of 1918, bringing the total pack for that district to four million cases, which is considerably larger than the pack of the year previous. All the canneries will make an early start this spring.

SCHOONER TO CARRY LUMBER TO SYDNEY.

In tow of the steam schooner Port Angeles, the five masted schooner W. H. Marston left the Sunset Lumber dock, Oakland, yesterday for Portland to load 1,400,000 feet of lumber for Sydney, Australia. The steamer will proceed to Puget Sound after delivering the schooner and will load lumber for Oakland. The Marston arrived here from Australia on December 31 with 1600 tons of wheat, and will return with another cargo of the same kind.

The Norwegian ship Rajore was placed on the Hanlon drydock today to be cleaned and painted before loading a cargo for Australia. She arrived here on December 15 from Noumea with copra and cocoanut oil. This is her first visit to this port. She is a steel craft with a deadweight capacity of 3500 tons.

Four Mexican launches, which returned to port Saturday, sailed again last evening for Mexican ports. They are the Cleopatra, Brutus, Louise and Caesar. They will stay together on their long journey down the coast. The launches were formerly owned here, but were purchased by merchants in Mexico for towing in those waters.

SHIPS SAIL BUT PUT BACK.

When the new schooner Gardiner Williams reached a few miles outside of the Golden Gate yesterday on her maiden voyage, Captain Elliott thought best to return to Anchorage. Her cargo will have to be restored. She was bound to Cape Town.

The United States steamer Nanshan and the steamer Airlie started to sea yesterday but returned on account of the weather conditions, but will make another attempt to get out tonight.

Loaded with over 6000 tons of flour, the new shipping board steamer Zaca, under command of Captain Carey left here yesterday for New York on her maiden voyage. She was built here and was launched on August 29. She loaded her cargo at South Vallejo.

Several large cargo carriers at anchor in the bay are being supplied with bunker coal, which is keeping the barges of the King Coal company working day and night. All this coal is brought to Oakland by rail from Utah and distributed from here. Several thousand tons have been sent to Honolulu direct from Oakland and much of the fuel is being used by families in the bay cities.

Chicago Grain

CHICAGO, Jan. 13.—Corn showed decided weakness today, influenced by large receipts and by prospects of Argentine competition. Opening prices, which ranged from ½c to 3¾c lower, with January $1.37½@1.38½ and May $1.29@1.30, were followed by something of a rally, but then by material fresh breaks.

Short covering and commission house buying finally absorbed the offerings on the decline and brought about a temporary upturn. The close, however, was weak, 2¼@3¾c net lower, with January $1.37¾ and May $1.29¼@1.29¾.

THE CLOSE.
Corn—Jan., $1.37¾; May, $1.29½.
Oats—Jan., 67¾c; May, 69¾c.
Pork—Jan., $45.25; May, $40.47.
Lard—Jan., $23.50; May, $23.50.
Ribs—Jan., $21.32; May, $22.40.

SPOT PRICES.
Rye—No. 2, $1.62.
Barley, 97c@$1.05. Timothy, $8.00@10.50. Clover, nominal.

No Session of Dairy Exchange Today

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 13.—Because of the funeral of Bernard Sherry, pioneer member of the Wholesale Dairy Exchange, there was no session of the exchange today. Sherry was also a member of the Sherry Brothers' Produce Company of this city.

DUTIES AND RESPONSIBILITIES DURING PEACE ADJUSTMENTS

By O. D. JACOBY

President Wilson, in his annual message to Congress, delivered shortly before he sailed for Europe, said: "So far as our domestic affairs are concerned, the problem of our return to peace is a problem of economic and industrial readjustment. Our people do not wait to be coached or led. They know their own business, are quick and resourceful at every readjustment, definite in purpose and self-reliant in action."

In these words, the President both points out in a general way what is ahead of us and, at the same time, pays the highest possible compliment to the intelligence and initiative of the American people. He realizes that we do not want to sit down and wait to be told what to do, but that each citizen is anxious to go right ahead and do what is best for the nation, for the community, and for himself.

A few suggestions may not be out of place as to the duties and the opportunities that confront the American people during the great period of economic and industrial readjustment that is now with us.

ONLY OPTIMISM WANTED.

In the first place, it must be definitely borne in mind that there is no room in America for anything but optimism. As the Secretary of Labor in a recent interview said, "There is every indication that in 1919 and 1920 the United States will enjoy prosperity unlike any it has known before. Half of the civilized world, depleted of its foods, its industrial equipment and its man power, turns to America to supply its enormous needs. And in the filling of these orders it is likely that instead of an over-plus of labor in America there may be a scarcity."

With the assurance that those who left their regular pursuits to engage in war activities will, as the Secretary of Labor says, "drop back into industrial pursuits without more than a ripple of idleness," the average citizen can readily see three main duties ahead. The first is to stick to his business, working, if possible, even harder and more conscientiously than ever, so that production shall not lag and that the process of readjustment may be carried on as smoothly as possible. The second duty is to do everything in his power to assist those who return in finding opportunities for work so that what the Secretary of Labor aptly calls the "ripple of idleness" shall be as small as possible under the circumstances.

ECONOMY IS WATCHWORD.

The third, and in some ways the most important duty of all that the American citizen owes to his country, is to continue as earnestly as ever to govern the handling of his money along lines of practical economy and thrift, avoiding all extravagance and depositing as much as he possibly can in his bank.

While, of course, the end of the war will mean a tremendous saving in national expense, it must be remembered that this saving will not come immediately. The millions of our men abroad must continue to be taken care of and eventually brought home. The various government departments must inaugurate and put into effect great readjustment plans and therefore our national expenditure will continue for many months to be at a very high level.

Consequently, it is just as important a duty today as it was a year ago for each person to work faithfully and save systematically. There is every likelihood that in the course of the next few months another large Liberty Loan will be offered for public subscription and every patriotic citizen will need to be ready to do his full share of what will unquestionably be the last popular issue of Liberty Bonds. It will be our Victory Issue and it must be just as overwhelming a success as were all of its predecessors.

BANKS CO-OPERATED.

The banks of the country co-operated in every possible way with the Government during war times and the results speak for themselves. There has not been even the remotest suspicion of financial stringency or of a money panic of any kind. In spite of the absolutely amazing amounts of money that have had to be spent, the Government has not been hampered for a moment by the lack of ready cash. The minute millions were needed they were forthcoming. And this wonderful result was only made possible by the whole-hearted, patriotic co-operation of the American people in saving their money and depositing it in the banks so that the Government could use it as required. Of course, every dollar that the Government has borrowed will be paid back in full with liberal interest because Uncle Sam never accepts gifts from any one, but always pays his way, with the result that his credit stands today as it has always stood—equal to the very best in the world.

The duty of saving money is, therefore, of paramount importance in these days. And this duty has not only a national aspect but also very distinctly a personal one, because the days of readjustment are also going to be the days of opportunity.

There is a good old time-tried saying to the effect that it takes money to make money, and never was this truer than today. The man or woman with ready cash is the one who is going to be able to take advantage of the many opportunities that the development of the country will bring forward. There will be numerous changes, there will be the demand for active work and brains, there will be especially the demand for ready money to finance new undertakings which will be made necessary by new conditions. And those who have ready money available will be those who will profit.

2000 I.W.W. JOIN BATTLE WITH POLICE

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

SEATTLE, Jan. 13.—Speeches at an open-air meeting held here yesterday afternoon "in behalf of Russia," said by the police to have been of a violently seditious character, were followed by a riot when Bolshevik sympathizers in the crowd of 2000 persons openly defied the police and attacked a police captain who stopped the meeting and a "red flag parade" begun immediately afterward.

Police reserves, numbering 100, military police, soldiers and sailors, were joined by citizens in quelling the riot in the business district. Police clubs were used freely and soldiers and sailors accorded rough treatment, scores of alleged Industrial Workers of the World cheering for the "red flag." Thirteen arrests were made. Last night Mayor Ole Hanson issued a statement saying that "rioting and disorder would be suppressed. Free speech does not mean preaching the country's destruction by force."

Speakers at the mass-meeting urged a general strike to tie up all industries engaged in the manufacture of supplies for the American army and its allies in Siberia.

BILLS CALL MEETING.

Call for the meeting was made by handbills, one of which was signed by the International Workers' Defense League. Hulet M. Wells, a Socialist of Seattle, under sentence for obstructing the army draft, was billed as the chief speaker, but was sick. Walker C. Smith, author of I. W. W. literature, took his place.

Twenty police officers heard the start of the meeting, held at Fourth avenue and Virginia street. Notified by a police sergeant of the anti-American utterances of the speakers, Police Captain W. H. Searing went to the lot and announced that the meeting was at an end. The man speaking at the time, whose name has not been learned, said, "We'll be Bolsheviki now," according to the police, and summoned the crowd to follow him. Many of the crowd broke into I. W. W. songs and started a parade down Fourth avenue.

Captain Searing caught up with the head of the parade and ordered M. H. Stumpf, its alleged leader, to stop it. Stumpf continued to wave his arms to the crowd and when placed under arrest struck Searing in the face, said the officer. A half-dozen sympathizers tried to attack the captain, who was rescued by police officers.

In the meantime a huge crowd gathered and from here and there came cries of "cheers for the red flag!"

SOLDIERS, SAILORS QUELL RIOT

Soldiers, marines and citizens dealt roughly with persons suspected of joining in the cries, and a man said to have denounced the American flag was quickly the center of hundreds of persons trying to maul him. Three men were considerably bruised in the fighting that followed before the man was arrested. Police reserves, soldiers and sailors by this time were on the scene in great numbers and cleared the streets of every person who failed to "move on" by order.

S. W. Brooks of Seattle, chairman of the mass-meeting, is under order of deportation by the federal authorities on a charge of having advocated unlawful destruction of property. In his speech he advocated a "social revolution. Smith, reciting I. W. W. history in the northwest, referred to the naval intelligence staff at this port, according to the police, as "a bunch of scab herders. He concluded by saying "our system of government must change. I would that it could change without bloodshed, but if not, the less bloodshed the better. 'Hail to the Bolsheviki! 'Hail to the revolution!"

One handbill circulated called upon soldiers and sailors "to put down industrial autocracy in America" and "help make the United States safe for Tom Mooney and Billings." It added "we demand $300 for each discharged soldier and sailor."

"The Blue Envelope" got away to a flying start at Ye Liberty Playhouse yesterday afternoon and Crane Wilbur scored one of the most pronounced hits of his varied career in the screamingly funny role of "John Doe." As "Richard Roe," Ben Elway ran Wilbur a close second for comedy honors and the pair were surrounded by an exceptional company. Next to the two men on the laugh-provoking side of the program was Marta Golden, in one of her best moods, creating laughs by the dozen with practically no effort.

The new show was marked for several things. In the first place it introduced a new leading woman in the person of Auda Due. Miss Due has played leads on many occasions with success but her work yesterday won a new place for her in the estimation of her patrons. Her work was polished and clever and thoroughly entertaining. She worked through the different scenes with ease and proved herself an actress of the first magnitude.

Bessie Sankey's return to Ye Liberty was the signal for a big reception. All of her friends were on hand to extend the warm hand of welcome and Miss Sankey responded with a nice little speech. She said she was glad to be back at home and seemed to mean it. Miss Sankey's best quality is her sincerity. She has the ability to read her speeches on the stage in a manner seldom heard in dramatic stock companies.

Another old favorite to return was William B. Mayion, corporal in headquarters company of the 143rd Field Artillery, who returned just in time to play the part of "Dr. Maurice," which he created in the New York production of "The Blue Envelope." Mayion's reception amounted to an ovation and he spent about fifteen minutes between acts relating some of his experiences at the front. His performance was also above reproach.

Altogether the production of "The Blue Envelope" was up to Ye Liberty's high standard and if there was anyone in the audience who didn't laugh at the ridiculously funny scenes in the play, there was something radically wrong with his mental equilibrium. The play was billed as a scream. It is.

WALLY REID WINS AT FRANKLIN.

Because there's no use arguing with an electric chair, Wally Reid escapes to the Funeral Range in "The Man from Funeral Range" at the Franklin Sunday till Wednesday.

Gun play and quick wit save the situation, and the young prospector, played by Reid, shoulders all the blame. However, while some men have spent time in the Funeral Range of the Funeral Range, Reid comes back to seek vindication and the girl for whom he sacrificed himself.

"Wild Women and Tame Lions," a "roaring" comedy, is shown on the same program, as well as "Three Hours Late," a Christie comedy, and a scenic, "The Trail to the Sky."

"Piquant" Leo Beers At Orpheum

Leo Beers is at the Orpheum this week with his distinguished nonchalance and song sketches of almost precocious smartness. He has added considerable in the way of piquancy since he was last here, even improving upon his exquisitely smart mannerisms. His material is all new and his acts makes a great hit. He is without doubt in a class by himself as an entertainer.

The Barr twins are as like as two peas, in looks and acts. They move in entire unison through all the numbers of their act, which opens with the smartest little song ever invented. They do a number of dances in a most artistic manner and work hard for the great applause they receive. The two girls impress you with the sincerity of their effort, and together with Bud Bernie, who presides at the piano, put on one of the niftiest acts seen recently at this house of marvels.

Swor and Avey in a poker game rival anything in mighty-ins and Healy ever did in coon antics. They have some surprisingly funny lines and their mastery of coon characteristics is almost uncanny. They do a lot of things besides finish the poker game, including a dance by one of them that is undoubtedly without a rival. They are one of three genuinely headline acts that make this one of the best shows the Orpheum has presented.

The Four Buttercups sing to big applause. They are four very attractive girls and they have a good line of songs. One of them is an Oakland girl, sister of Oakland's champion nonfighting pugilist, Bill Larue. She spells her name La Rue, perhaps so her brother's friends will not recognize her, and sings with a lot of the Larue pep.

Grace Nelson is billed as an American-made prima donna. She opens her act with the Ballatella number from Pagliacci, which she sings excellently, and you think you are going to hear a lot of big things, but you don't. She sings only popular songs after that, such as "Dear Old Pal" and "A Wonderful Thing."

The Littlejohns have a regular tower of jewels in their set. They do a club swinging stunt, and their clubs are made of brilliant stones. They call it the "Diamond Act," which is what it is like. It is one of the most attractive acts of its kind and the man and woman are experts.

Gerald E. Griffin sings Irish songs acceptably, well in fact, but he has a foolish act. It lacks any sense at all, which may be the way it is intended to be. But in spite of that he pleases with "Irish Eyes" and even with "Wild Irish Rose." Two dainty girls and another man make up his company.

Chiyo and Tokyo, Japanese, dance like Mr and Mrs. Douglas Crane. They also do a lot of other things that are more Japanese, including balancing on three fingers at the top of a staff. They present a very good final act.

Altogether this week's bill is excellent, not allowing a dull moment. It is if anything an improvement on last week's show, which was an improvement on the one a week previous. So it must be said that Manager Harry E. Brunell is being good to his patrons. —J. D.

Maude Fulton Cheered in "One of Us"

If Maude Fulton's heart was not cheered by the big ovation that was shouted at her at the Fulton Playhouse yesterday, then she is immune to enthusiasm, for the Sunday crowds were not a particle slow or bashful in indicating that they were highly pleased by the visit of Maude Fulton to her own theater and by her new play as well.

As the show went on—the play, by the way, being about the cleverest thing that has been on the boards of the Fulton this year—the enthusiasm increased and when the final curtain fell on "One of Us" there was no doubt about the verdict of the crowd.

Maude Fulton packed a winner in her play and she gave a performance herself that was as cute and classy as her own original role of "The Brat." It would be hard to frame higher praise than that for any lady of the footlights.

Jack Lait is a Chicago newspaperman, who is rated brilliant both as a journalist and a dramatist. He wrote "One of Us" and called it a comedy of cabaret life. Oliver Morosco bought the play and staged it last summer at the Morosco Theater in Los Angeles and then, after it had run for six weeks in Los Angeles, Morosco took it to New York and staged it on Broadway, where it was a resounding success.

If the New York show came anywhere as near being as good as the production Maude Fulton gives, it must have been a wonder, for with Paul Harvey and Will Lloyd in the cast at the Fulton yesterday, and with Maude Fulton as the star, a twenty-four karat show was guaranteed.

Will Lloyd, by the way, came in for an ovation of like proportions with that which Maude Fulton received. This young actor has just returned from the wars, having been a member of the English Royal Flying Squadron.

In this warm atmosphere of good cheer and friendliness the Jack Lait comedy went swimming along. From the moment the curtain went up on the spectacular cabaret scene, with blonde girls sitting around at tables, and tough-looking citizens attending them—with Paul Harvey in the role of "Dave Strong," picking his cabaret girl whom he proposed to make his bride later—(said cabaret girl being none other than Maude Fulton)—on down through the affair until "Dave Strong" takes his cabaret girl and shakes her into submission, using cave-man methods to win her, on to the final curtain, which all is smoothed out, and everybody was happy, the play was a huge cauldron of fun, excitement and suspense.

They say Paul Harvey was to have been the original "Dave Strong" in this play, when Morosco arranged for its production in New York. Harvey is at that time being in Morosco's employ on the road as leading man of "Upstairs and Down." It is easy to see when one sees Harvey in this play why he was selected.

Two tough character roles—one a touch citizen known as "Coast to Coast Taylor," and another crook denizen of the underworld, known as "Parson Smith" were brilliantly portrayed by Will Lloyd and Frank Darien. Lloyd is a subtle artist and he give a finished performance of this "Coast to Coast Taylor," a title whose "woman" was taken from him by "Dave Strong."

Frank Darien as "Parson Smith" was an odd sort—a "gent" who was a beer slinger in a cabaret during a portion of the night, and later on stepped around the corner and delivered sermons at the Gospel Mission."

A long cast of clever actors, including Eleanor Parker, as "Marie," a flashy cabaret girl; Raffaelo Brunnetto as a detective; Jerome Sheldon as a newspaper reporter; Hugh Knox as a rounder; Frank Wallace as a private detective; Sam Burton as a callow scion of a rich family; Helen Audiffred as a pretty bride, and a host of cabaret singers and dancers, with a jazz band, made up an imposing array of underworld characters.

It is announced that "The Brat," Maude Fulton's famous play, will be produced next Sunday afternoon, with Miss Fulton herself as "The Brat," and Paul Harvey and Will Lloyd and Frank Darien all in the cast.

ILLUSIONIST WINS AT PANTAGES.

A list of notable attractions is on the new Pantages Theater bill of fare for this week, featuring "The Great Leon & Company" as the headline act, and welcome and audience greeting this wonder worker with great enthusiasm. This artist gives a series of the most remarkable illusions. He celebrates 'Fire and Water" trick, in which he apparently burns up a woman, and then causes her to come back to life and make her appearance in a small glass tank filled with water, won an ovation. His aerial transformations are astounding and his ability to completely mystify his audience, are on a par with the work of Herman the Great and the famous Kellar. No such magician has come over the circuit in many a moon.

An act of especial beauty is Princess Jue Quon Tai, called "The Chinese Nightingale," for her lovely voice, and the ease with which she sings.

A farcical playlet which wins many laughs is put on by Burney Williams & Company and it is full of good music and good songs cleverly introduced.

Singers and comedians par-excellence are Jack King and Morton Harvey, who are making their first tour of the western states with their own conception of how vaudeville audiences should be entertained. Both are immense favorites in the east.

A very clever gymnastic act which is replete with sensational thrills is cleverly done by "The Leoras," and closes a program every number of which is unusual in its excellence.

DOUBLE BILL AT AMERICAN.

A meritorious, highly entertaining double program is now being presented at the American Theater. Mae Marsh in "The Dancing Girl of Brittany," a romantic tale of Southern chivalry, indomitable spirit and a desperate battle for love and fortune; and Madeline Travers in "The Danger Zone," a powerful story of theatrical and high society life are the feature photoplays shown.

"The Dancing Girl" is a play swift in action and full of continuous surprises and tense situations; one of the most stirring incidents of the drama being an exciting horse race, an actual scene taken at the famous Saratoga track during the last racing season.

A delightful feature of every evening performance at the American is the playing of interpretative musical scores and a special concert number, Grand Selection from "Carmen," by Leon Rosebrook's Symphony Orchestra.

The present bill will conclude with the performances tomorrow evening.

ALICE JOYCE AT T. AND D.

Alice Joyce, supported by a notable cast including the matinee idol, Maurice Costello, appears in a delightful photoplay, entitled the "Captain's Captain" at the Oakland T. and D. for a three-days' run, ending tomorrow night (Tuesday) and capacity houses yesterday manifested their approval of this Cape Cod picture which was adapted from the story "Cap'n Abe—Storekeeper," by James A. Cooper. Alice Joyce as Louise, a society girl, who runs away from her straight-laced city aunt to visit Uncle Abe down on the Cape and poses as Lady Macbeth to rout superstitious Indians bent on slaying her uncle, is sure to increase her ever-growing number of admirers.

The other feature photoplay at the T. and D. is entitled "The Man of Bronze" and Lewis Stone and Marguerite Clayton share honors in this well written and intelligently produced screen drama. The music at the big theater on Eleventh street is, as usual, superb. Katlan Attl, the famous harp virtuoso is heard nightly on this wonderful instrument and is well worth the admission price alone. Signor Marcelli and his orchestra render Offenbach's "Orpheus" in a splendid manner and Mynard Sherman Jones at the organ proves to be a master of that mammoth instrument.

MAY PUT SAILS ON WOOD SHIPS

A plan for utilizing a portion of the fleet of wooden steamers built at north Pacific coast ports for the Emergency Fleet Corporation when the United States entered the war, has been devised, it is said, by Captain A. F. Pillsbury, manager of the San Francisco Bay District for the Fleet Corporation.

Built under "rush" orders, few of this fleet of twenty-odd vessels have proved entirely seaworthy. Partially seasoned timbers used in their frames and hulls is the cause given for their unsatisfactory performance.

These ships were constructed primarily to take the place in the offshore trade of the Pacific vacated by the removal of most of the local steel ships to the Atlantic for war transportation purposes. Most of them developed idiosyncracies not conducive to safe voyaging, it is said, and to date have passed quite as much of their time in drydock as in the water. Being designed for the latter purpose, their predilection for dry land "voyaging" is reputed to have somewhat peeved their crews and skippers.

Captain Pillsbury purposes, it is stated, to try them out under sail along the well charted waters of the Pacific coast trade routes. He plans to remove the machinery and portions of the superstructure of the crafts, put masts in place of smokestacks in them and thereby convert them into lumber schooners. A survey of the lines of the craft indicates, it is said, that the plan is entirely feasible.

CANTEEN SERVICE FOR WORKERS IN CITY OPENED

The canteen under the direction of the Girls' Division, War Camp Community Service, opened at noon today at 1444 San Pablo avenue. A large number of the young women who are employed in the downtown district took advantage of the new scheme which has been launched under government authority. It is designed primarily for young business and professional women who find themselves in the downtown district during the noon hour. Hot drinks will be served to supplement home lunches or simple, satisfying menus will be served at nominal cost.

The clubrooms of the Girls' Division will be thrown open each day from 11 a. m. to 2 p. m. for the canteen service. Admission is not limited to membership. The girls who make use of the canteen will have all the privileges of the comfortable center at noon.

Miss Ethel Moore entertained at a canteen luncheon today, inviting those who have assisted in launching the Girls' Division in Oakland to be her guests. Miss Moore is chairman of the local committee which is directing the local effort.

SPOONING PAIR USED AS DECOY BY BANDIT GANG

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 13.—A spooning couple were used as a decoy by a pair of holdup men who operated near the Civic Center early this morning.

After walking through the Plaza John Heycock, living at the Odeon Hotel in Eighth street, was passing the Red Cross building when his attention was attracted by the couple.

"That's a rather public place for those people to be billing and cooing, isn't it?" remarked Heycock to a stranger, who appeared.

"It is," assented the stranger, "but we want you to throw up your hands quick," and he prodded Heycock in the stomach with a revolver as the second man came up.

County Sealer Tells of Work for Year

County Sealer of Weights and Measures E. K. Strobridge filed an annual report of the business of the office for 1918 today with the Board of Supervisors.

The report says that there have been only two prosecutions during the year, but that a large number of inspectors have been made and considereable quantities of merchandise confiscated because of short weights. Over 6358 places were visited and a total of 67,000 packages and bottles examined. In the main, the report says, the dealers have complied willingly with the regulations, correcting weights when shortages have been called to their attention. Several hundred faulty scales and measures were confiscated and a considerable quantity of berries, fruit and butter.

FATTY ARBUCKLE AT KINEMA.

Darning in jig time and plucking peel from potatoes are as simple as a turn of the wrist to "Fatty" Arbuckle out "camping" at the Kinema Theater this week.

Wifie deserts him, but his domestic arrangements are undisturbed. A cook book is the answer! Incidentally Fatty meets a dashing little lady in a bathing suit, and there's more fun. A laugh a minute is the record of the plump favorite in this side-splitting comedy.

The triple love story of the lover of a man for a maid, the love of country and the love of children makes a tremendous appeal in the Cecil De Mille production, "Till I Come Back to You," the second feature of the program. Bryant Washburn plays the high-hearted American who makes the best of a stern job.

On the same program a Burton Holmes Travelogue and selected Kinema news events.

THEDA BARA IN "SHE DEVIL."

"The She Devil," a Theda Bara superproduction, in which the star portrays the role of a Spanish coquette, furnished the headliner to the Broadway theater's screen program yesterday and will be seen again today for the last time.

While melodramatic, the production has a touch of light comedy which differentiates it from the Theda Bara pictures to which we have become accustomed. The star has gone to Spain for her story and depicts a woman without a conscience adored and sought by all men. Her conquests finally furnish a sensational climax but the story is never overdrawn and the siren of the screen is at her best. It is a William Fox production and up to the standard usually presented by the producer.

The program today offers a surfeit of screen entertainment that runs the gamut of war thrills and enlightenment. The concluding events of the great conflict are shown in a war review and a Chester outing supplies interest to education lovers. A Mack Sennet Comedy, "Ladies First," creates roars of laughter.

Tomorrow, Mable Normand will be seen in "A Perfect 36," and Sessue Hayakawa will reappear in "The Cheat" with Fannie Ward.

BARONESS THINKS FIRST OF CHILDREN

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 13.—"Love of country" and an overpowering desire to bring her children up as Americans and not as Germans or as children without a country, actuated the Baroness Milo Abercrombie von Brincken in suing for divorce, she declared today.

Attempting to continue as wife of the former consulate attache here, who was convicted of neutrality violation, the former American beauty found herself an exile in her own land.

"I have been an exile for two years in my own country," she said. "If I tried to engage a nurse for my children I must have my mother make the arrangement. Nobody cared to work for me. I was held to be a German. There was no place for me. I was listed as a German. Here I was, in my own land, subject to scorn and contempt for being something that I was not."

Before this attitude of her countrymen and all it entailed for the future, the baroness' loyalty to her husband broke down.

"And yet," she said, "I feel that I might have drifted on had it not been for my children. But a mother thinks first of her children. And, in my case, I have discovered that she thinks next of her children's country. It could easily be a tragedy—to bring one's children up without a country."

During the enforced isolation made necessary by the cold shoulder turned to her by the rest of society because she was regarded as "German," the Baroness von Brincken discovered, she said, that if cut off from America, she "could not live."

"My ideals, interests, ambitions, thoughts, all are bound up with America," she said. "I decided that if I continued as the wife of a German—perhaps to be taken back some day to his country—that I could not live. The real me would die."

TWO WOMEN TO STRUGGLE FOR FAREWELL NOTE

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 13.—When the body of Lloyd A. Scott, who killed himself at the foot of the McKinley monument at Baker and Fell streets, is taken to Cypress Lawn cemetery today his widow will not be in the funeral cortege. She explained:

"He had been dead to me for six months—ever since I discovered there was another woman."

But after the funeral Mrs. Scott and the woman who has posed as Mrs. Scott for two years will engage in a battle in the court for Scott's effects, including his farewell note. The widow, who is recovering from influenza, yesterday directed her attorney to begin legal proceedings.

The "other woman," whose name is said to be Nina Thompson, admitted that she had lived with Scott for two years. She said that Mrs. Scott had not held her husband's affections. The two lived in Sacramento, Chico, San Francisco and other places in California for a year and a half before Mrs. Scott discovered it, she says.

When she learned that another woman was using the name of "Mrs. L. A. Scott" in Sacramento, her own home town, Mrs. Scott instituted divorce proceedings.

The suit was pending when Scott shot himself.

TURNED DOWN BY WIFE, MAN TAKES POISON

Because his wife refused to make up with him, John Miller, 1331 Eighteenth street, attempted to commit suicide last night by drinking a quantity of bichloride of mercury. He was taken to the receiving hospital, where prompt measures by the attending physicians saved his life.

Miller, who had been in a despondent mood during the day, went to the home of his wife's mother, 3537 Gray street, last evening and insisted on seeing his wife and persuading her to return to him. She is alleged to have refused to see him or have anything further to do with him. He then turned away and going to his room swallowed the poison.

His cries of pain were heard by other people in the house, the police were called and the suffering man taken to the hospital.

Epidemic Cripples Local Court Action

The influenza epidemic all but suspended the business of the Superior Court today, all but two of the pending cases being continued by reason of the indisposition of attorneys or witnesses.

The care of Mrs. Vera Smith against W. L. Smith, for maintenance, was on trial before Judge T. W. Harris. Smith recently received a decree of annulment of their marriage because Mrs. Smith was found to have another husband living, one Eli Hawkins, whom she had not seen since 1897, when he left for Alaska two days after their marriage. The suit is for maintenance pending the adjustment of property rights.

THE LAST PRISONER.

SAN PEDRO, Cal., Jan. 13.—To be the last man taken prisoner by the Germans before the armistice was signed, was a unique experience for Karl Kolsey, but according to a letter to his mother, who lives here, the novelty of the situation was enhanced when he discovered that his captor before the war was the owner of a large Los Angeles music store.

INFLUENZA IS BELIEVED ON WANE HERE

With Oakland's death rate dropped slightly, and a slight decline noted in the number of cases reported to the city authorities, local physicians are looking forward to a possibility that the influenza epidemic may be beginning to wane.

Since Saturday noon only sixteen deaths have been reported, or an average of eight deaths a day. This is said to be slightly lower than the rate of the past few days. The new cases reported for the same period total 145, which is likewise a drop in numbers. Health officials are not, however, prepared to state that these figures are indicative of true conditions, owing to the failure of medical men to report all cases under their control or observance.

There will be a meeting of the Alameda County Medical Society tonight at which the situation is to be threshed out by the leading medical men of the county.

This report will be taken up by the main body of the society tonight and debated. The final findings of the society will probably be presented to the city council tomorrow as an expression of the sentiments of the medical profession of the Eastbay upon present conditions.

TO OPEN HOSPITAL.

BERKELEY, Jan. 13. — Berkeley's municipal hospital planned to care for influenza patients will be opened tomorrow morning, according to arrangements being made today. It had been expected to open the hospital this evening, but a delay in arrangements has postponed the time for receiving the first patient.

Barracks two and three facing Allston way and north of Oxford street, formerly occupied by the naval unit at the University of California, are being converted into municipal influenza wards. Both are steam-heated and with kitchen facilities for preparing food. Dr. J. J. Benton, city health officer, will be superintendent of the municipal hospital, with H. H. Glessner, principal of the Edison school, as business manager and practically the same corps of assistants as that directing the previous city hospital held at the Edison school.

As a result of the edict of Dr. Benton issued Saturday all church worshipers and visitors at moving picture shows were compelled to wear masks yesterday. The rule was generally heeded and no violations have been reported by the health authorities despite rumored threats of intention to test the edict by failing to heed its provisions.

At tomorrow's meeting of the city council Berkeley's mask ordinance, defeated as an emergency measure last Friday by Councilman Charles D. Heywood, will come up for final passage.

A total of 57 new cases of influenza and 4 deaths were reported to the health authorites up to noon Saturday.

FEWER CASES.

ALAMEDA, Jan. 13. — There were 36 cases of influenza reported this morning as the week-end total, covering from Saturday noon till noon today. This showing is regarded as distinctly encouraging. At the health office it was stated that 18 of the 36 new cases were reported by one physician and covered even further back than Saturday noon.

The week-end death toll from influenza totaled three cases, two Sunday deaths and one this morning. Mrs. Alice Manley Christensen, wife of Harold M. Christensen, died this morning at her home, High and Encinal, following an influenza illness of less than a week. She was at death's door for several days. Saturday it was believed that she was improving, though she was then passing through the crisis. Her husband is in the automobile business in Oakland and Alameda. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Manley of High and Encinal. Manley is connected with the United States custom house in San Francisco. Mrs. Christensen was a well known young matron and was married about 18 months.

Emily Legal, 18-year-old adopted daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Boehm of 2262 Lincoln avenue, died yesterday from pneumonia, following an attack of influenza.

The third death was that of a Greek restaurant man on south Park street.

The citizens' committee, named by Mayor Greene Majors to take such hospital or other special steps as emergency dictates, is ready to act but will probably not take decisive action for the immediate present owing to the generally improved conditions. This committee is composed of School Superintendent C. J. Du Four, Edward Albert, E. K. Taylor, C. E. Hewes, Mrs. W. B. Stephens, Dr. Arthur Hieronymus, Peter Hollings, E. A. Ackiom, G. W. Stewart and Mrs. Thomas H. Judd. C. J. Du-Four heads the committee.

RICHMOND, Jan. 13.—Masks were donned in Richmond today under a general order given Saturday by Health Officer Charles R. Blake. Hitherto they have been worn by school children and teachers, but today the order applies to everybody. To enforce the order Chief of Police Charles H. Walker has added a number of deputies to the police force and will insist that all people in Richmond wear masks.

Arrest and fine will follow refusal to don a mask, according to Health Officer Blake. No ban has yet been placed upon necessary public meetings. Churches met yesterday as usual and lodges are continuing to meet.

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 13.—That the serums used in the battle against influenza are useless was the statement today of Dr. Karl F. Meyer, of the Hooper Institute of Medical Research of the University of California, who is aiding health authorities in combating the local epidemic.

"Serums have not yet been introduced which produce immunity from Spanish influenza," he said. "The serums now employed are of no use whatsoever."

Dr. Meyer believes the only successful way to combat the plague is in strict quarantine and the use of masks.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 13. — Only 241 new cases of influenza were reported here Sunday, and one death from that disease, but as many physicians do not report their activities of Sunday until Monday, health authorities draw no especially hopeful conclusions from these figures.

SAN QUENTIN, Jan. 13.—Although it has 2800 inmates, San Quentin penitentiary has not a single case of influenza.

Warden James Johnston yesterday said that the immunity enjoyed was due to precautions taken.

"We enjoy virtual isolation here," he said, "and in addition to that are very careful not to allow newcomers to get into contact with the inmates. All newly arrived prisoners are kept under observation for several days before they are allowed to mix with the others."

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Threatened with extinction by influenza, the population of the island of Tahiti a French possession in the Society Islands group in the Pacific, has waited in vain word of the sending of relief in response to repeated and urgent wireless appeals sent since early in December. The scourge has run its course, but plans for aid are proceeding while answer to an official query is awaited.

More than one-seventh of Tahiti's population of about 12,000 inhabitants was dead a month ago, and the older generation of natives practically was wiped out.

"Put Idle Children Into Gardens"

Stebbins Calls on Boys and Girls

100,000 in State Now Available

"President Wilson's cable call to Congress for a hundred million dollar appropriation to buy food to be rushed to starving people means that Garden Army work is more essential this year than last. We can promise fifty million dollars production of food by these school and home gardens."

This was the message wired yesterday from Washington by U. S. Garden Army Director General J. H. Francis, to C. A. Stebbins, director for Western States, at his headquarters in the office of the State Council of Defense at the Ferry building.

"The call should aid us," said Director Stebbins, "in enlistment of the army which is set for Enlistment Week, January 25 to February 2, inclusive, by proclamation of Governor Stephens, as he had just phoned to me.

"The continued closing of schools, because of influenza, makes this the very time of all times to interest and benefit boys and girls made idle by the epidemic.

MANY NOW IDLE.

"Probably 100,000 of California's active children in need of occupation and interest are now idle. Generally speaking, the doors of schools are closed. Where are the children going to spend their time? What are they going to do? The state should be concerned. Very much depends on where and how the boys and girls spend the enforced idleness of the next few weeks.

"Ministers from the pulpits, boards of education and superintendents of schools through teachers' meetings and the press, in co-operation with parents should concern themselves in the organization of the idle hours of the boys and girls.

"What an opportunity to demonstrate school-home instruction in such subjects as manual training, domestic science, physical education and food production—home projects for manual training using the rough home tools, actual home kitchen systems for cooking, and physical education in production of food stuffs to practically sustain the home table.

WORK IS UPLIFTING.

"There is no safer, no better place for the boys and girls than in home gardens from the viewpoint of health, morality and spirituality. Besides the cry of starving peoples is heard round the world. Let us go on with a big, new plan to put the thousands of idle children into gardens at home during a part of their hours.

"One hundred thousand home gardens in California would go far to redeem a pledge to President Wilson of $50,000,000 worth of food products by the boys and girls of America.

HOOVER GIVES TRIBUTE.

"That the products of the school garden of other states was an important factor last year, and garden production is looked forward to by the government and the world, is proved conclusively by a letter signed by Herbert Hoover, under date of December 23, addressed to the members of the U. S. Garden Army, as follows:

"'The work that you have done during the past months of war has been no small contribution to the great cause of humanity. The actual food produced in your gardens was of material help by making possible a saving of staple foods available for export to our men abroad and the Allies, thus giving them just that much more of the food so vital to them. The growing of supplies for local use was also of definite assistance in relieving the strain upon our railroads. The example set by you in your undertaking has stimulated and inspired others to produce where they had not produced before. It would be a matter of regret if this work should not go on. America's food obligation to the stricken countries is great and affords no less an opportunity to help than during the past season.'"

INCENDIARY BLAMED FOR NIGHT FIRE

That the disastrous blaze that swept the feeding plant of the Oakland Meat Company at Emeryville early Sunday morning and destroyed 5000 tons of beet pulp, 20,000 bales of hay, 500 head of sheep, and fifty head of cattle, was of incendiary origin is the belief of C. W. Culver, chief of the Emeryville fire department. Chief Culver has called upon the Emeryville police to aid him in an investigation.

Chief Culvor bases his belief in incendiarism on the fact that a fire was discovered in the company's smokehouse ten days ago and that the circumstances surrounding this blaze were of a very suspicious character. The chief also criticises the low water pressure with which the department was forced to fight the fire, saying that the force of the water is entirely inadequate to the city's needs.

CATTLE BURNED.

The fire made a clean sweep of the sheds and corrals. When the flames were discovered and the alarm turned in it was found that the sheep and cattle were huddled in the center of the corrals, completely surrounded by sheets of flame, and it was impossible to do anything toward rescuing them, although the firemen made heroic efforts to release the screaming animals. Many of the animals were burned to a crisp before the eyes of the men attempting to rescue them. Others were smothered by the smoke that rose in dense clouds, completely obscuring the writhing mass of frightened stock as they perished miserably in the sheets of flame that swept over them.

The fire had gained such headway when the department arrived that little or no progress could be made against it. The Berkeley and Oakland departments were appealed to and only after a hard fight, participated in by all three departments, was the fire checked and kept from spreading to surrounding property.

PRESSURE LIGHT.

Chief Elliott Whitehead of the Oakland department, who answered the call for help, this morning stated that he could see no indications of incendiarism, but that his men arrived too late to be able to judge as to the circumstances. "It was a hot fire," said Chief Whitehead. "The Emeryville boys put up a good fight, but the flames had too much of a start when the alarm was sounded to enable them to make an effective fight."

Chief Culver is very emphatic in his denunciation of the poor water pressure condition. "For five years," says the chief, "I have been fighting for better water pressure. There are ten blocks of valuable industrial property in this section that are in constant danger of being wiped out by reason of poor water conditions. If something is not done, this will happen some day, and the department will be helpless to prevent it."

The total loss of the meat company's plant is estimated at $50,000. It is said to be fully insured.

I.W.W. BOMBS CREATED HERE, IS TESTIMONY

That the I. W. W. headquarters at Fifth and Franklin in Oakland, wrecked last August by a squad of 200 soldiers and sailors, was a "factory" where incendiary bombs were made for use in the destruction of tens of thousands of dollars' worth of property in the San Joaquin valley, was revealed today by the testimony of Elbert Coutts, one of the defendants in the I. W. W. conspiracy cases now on trial in Sacramento.

Coutts told of having served a sentence in San Quentin for burglary committed in Alameda county, and of how after his release he acquired the habit of "loafing" around the I. W. W. headquarters in Oakland, and there "aiding in the assembling of incendiary bombs" which he said were later taken to an ark in the San Joaquin river near Stockton for use in the campaign of destruction which was carried on like a reign of terror throughout the interior for months in 1917.

At about the time that Coutts testified he was engaged in manufacturing bombs in the Oakland headquarters of the I. W. W., the Oakland authorities were quoted as saying:

"Nothing has happened to cause any direct belief that the incendiary plot will extend to this city. The I. W. W.'s have not a very strong footing in Oakland, nor anywhere else in Alameda county. However, every precaution is being taken by the police department and the sheriff's office to prevent the least chance of a start in any such conspiracy."

There was talk of "prosecuting" the soldiers and sailors, who laughed at the police "on duty near the I. W. W. headquarters" and wrecked the bomb factory, and the city was fined $50 by a justice of the peace because of the damage done, it being shown to the satisfaction of the judge that the police, "although on duty near the place and present while the raid was going on," did nothing to stop the destruction.

The soldiers and sailors cleaned the place out and built a bonfire of the furniture, including a piano. The raid was in retaliation of the action of members of the I. W. W.'s, who, according to soldiers in the raiding party, had frequently seized soldiers and sailors, escorted them to ferryboats and told them there was no room for men in uniform in Oakland.

One of the bombs made in the Oakland "factory" was discovered at about the time of the incendiary activities in Martinez, underneath a pile of sacks of barley. It was a glass tube containing a mixture of phosphorus and carbon bisulphide. The pile of barley contained fifty thousand tons of grain, the attempted destruction of which was the contribution of these people to the success of American arms.

The bombs made in Oakland were shipped to the ark in the San Joaquin river near Stockton, the headquarters of Robert Connellan, who, according to Federal authorities, has been responsible for the destruction of millions of dollars' worth of crops and property. The fires caused by him in South Dakota, according to Federal reports, destroyed $18,000,000 worth of grain.

When Connelian was arrested and his ark raided, many bombs were found, together with a German bomb manual and other incriminating materials and documents.

Score on "Drink and Driving" Roll Seventeen Released Out of 37

Driving an automobile while intoxicated proved to be a popular out-door sport during the year just past in Oakland. As a result thirty-seven persons were arrested and called upon to appear in the police court to answer to that charge, which is technically known as violating section 17 of the motor vehicle ordinance.

That the police judges do not look upon this sport with favor is revealed by a study of the official records, which shows the following disposition of the cases:

One man was fined $150 and had his license to drive an automobile revoked for six months. Twelve were given fines ranging from $10 to $150. Seven served from 10 to 60 days in the city jail. Two forfeited their bail money. Five were released on probation and twelve were released for lack of sufficient evidence to secure a conviction. These latter are listed as dismissed on stricken from the calendar.

RECORD OF CASES.

BANKER ADMITS THEFT OF FUNDS

Robert Schappi, formerly of Alameda, receiving teller of the Merchants' National Bank of San Francisco, pleaded guilty today before U. S. Commissioner Francis Krull to the embezzlement of $3546.10 in a conspiracy with E. J. Hansen, outside collector. Schappi was held to the grand jury on bonds of $1000. Hansen is under arrest at the Franklin hospital, San Francisco, pending his convalescence from influenza.

The influenza epidemic led to the downfall of both men, according to the bank officials and Assistant U. S. Attorney Ben F. Geis, as during their absence false entries were found by their temropary successors.

Schappi entered the bank's employ as a messenger in 1905.

MONTREAL HAS FIRE.

MONTREAL, Jan. 13.—Fire in the business district here caused a property loss estimated at more than $1,000,000.

FLU TRAGEDY LEADS VICTIM TO END LIFE

When influenza entered his home at 4801 Telegraph avenue a week ago and carried off his wife, Angelo Arata looked at his five children and became despondent. Who would take care of them now while he was away in charge of his Temescal saloon?

Well-founded were his worries. The very next day, before even the funeral could be held, the eldest child came down. And then in rapid succession all five became ill.

Arata obtained a nurse to look after the youngsters while he was absent attending to his business. He would look in on them before going to work and try to cheer them up.

And, of course, she could not keep an eye on them all the time. She could not know, for one thing, that Angelo Arata kept a revolver in a dresser drawer in his room and that his eyes turned longingly to it when she was not around.

Then he put the note on the little bedside table where it would surely be found, set the muzzle of the revolver to his breast just over his heart and pulled the trigger twice.

When the nurse entered a few moments later Arata was dead.

Bay Fog Plays Pranks but It Does No Harm

Fog slipped down and lay like a heavy gray curtain on the whole of the bay region this morning. Aside from playing pranks with time schedules and interurban traffic, it did no serious damage. It was the season's record for fog. Not in several years has the bay been visited with mists so dense and persistent. It descended before daylight and remained well into the mid-morning. Fog horns and bells protected the bay travel and took passengers to San Francisco with no more disaster than late marks. Continuous ringing of bells and blowing of whistles and tooting of horns with an occasional shout, suggesting a public celebration, saved the early morning travelers in the city from injury.

Cross-town cars over-ran street crossings and patrons had difficulty in stopping the cars, headlights not piercing the fog sufficiently for motormen to see them until within fifteen or twenty feet of them. Slippery rails gave trouble to car crews and slippery streets sent fear to the hearts of the autoists. In places gutters could not be distinguished from the car tracks. Those who chose to walk recalled stories of London fogs when people went in circles and stopped at corners to get their bearings.

Richmond reported one accident in which two cars crashed together, demolishing the fronts of each but not injuring any one. Only the car crews were aboard, when they telescoped at the Standard Oil terminal. Slippery rails were responsible for the accident.

SUPERVISORS STILL AWAIT NEW MAN

The temporary reorganization of the Board of Supervisors was continued today for another week, there being no new supervisor named by Governor Stephens to succeed Fred W. Foss, elected county treasurer. The same committees as heretofore were continued, except that the name of Supervisor W. J. Hamilton was substituted for that of Foss on he finance committee

The only item of business outside of routine transacted today was the resolution calling for bids on a stretch of highway from Irvington to Warm Springs, a distance of about four miles, to cost approximately $80,000. The completion of this piece of work will finish the county road to connection with the state highway, and it is the intention of the board to have the work rushed with all possible despatch.

Chairman Pro Tem D. J. Murphy was under the impression that the board would have to proceed today with permanent organization but Deputy District Attorney Ted Witschen advised them that the law does not make permanent organization mandatory and that they can continue with a protempore organization indefinitely.

The Radiantfire

It is a handsome addition to the hearth and a most efficient heat-maker. It does not "pop" in lighting and is absolutely odorless and safe.
